SENATE BEGINS HEARING TODAY UPON TAX BILL

Secretary Mills Will Be First to Appear Before Committee.

PRESIDENT ANSWERS ATTACK ON MEASURE

Urges Merger of Functions; Figures on Saving Draw Fire From McKellar.

By J. B. M'DONNELL.

Launched in a storm of contention over Federal economies, the greatest peace-time tax levy in history will be started on its voyage through the Senate today.

Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills is to be the first witness before the Senate finance committee when Senator Smoot (Republican), of Utah, chairman of the committee, opens hearings on the billion-dollar House tax bill at 10 o'clock this morning.

The President and Congress swapped blows yesterday in the battle over Federal economies—a matter of primary importance to a budget-balancing program because the unprecedented peace-time tax bill is not adequate to balance the budget in the next fiscal year unless Federal expenditures are cut down by $200,000,000 or more.

The President, with unusual fervor, read to newspaper reporters at the White House a statement in reply to congressional criticism aimed at the economy statement he had issued the day before in which he advocated a congressional-executive commission to study ways and means of bringing about governmental economies.

Had Asked Seven Times.

He had, the President said, seven times asked for authority to reorganize the executive branch of the Government. Seven departments had submitted to Congress 85 suggestions for economy if existing laws were changed. His proposal for a special economy commission, the President said, was an effort to bring about "organized, nonpartisan cooperation by all forces to reduce Government expenditures in the national emergency, which insistently demands relief for the taxpayer."

He said that he had saved $369,000,000 by cutting down the Federal budget within the limitations of existing laws, and would welcome further cuts provided they did not destroy necessary functions. The second plank in his economy program involved changes in existing law to permit cessation or reduction in prescribed governmental services. His third plank was a general reorganization of existing executive machinery "so as to eliminate overlap, useless bureaus and commissions and waste."

Senator Kenneth D. McKellar (Democrat), of Tennessee, however, took the floor in the Senate and to the President's claims of economies accomplished what the President had done the day before to the claims of the House. The President said that the $113,000,000 the House claimed to have shaved off the estimates represented a true reduction of only $35,000,000.

Termed as Preposterous.

Senator McKellar said the President's claim that he had saved $369,000,000 in Federal expenditures was preposterous. The claim, the senator said, was based merely on the

2 Armed Men Hold Up College Office of $1,000

Cleveland, April 5 (A.P.).—Two robbers invaded the staid campus of Western Reserve University today and escaped with an estimated $1,000 from the cashier's office.

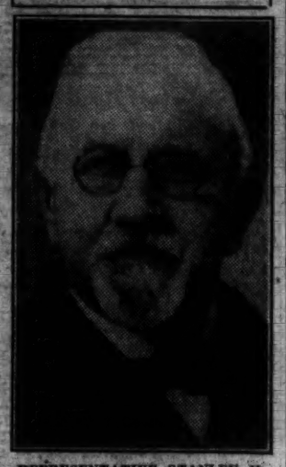
The robbery occurred at noon, when only two women employes were in the office. The two robbers, described as about 27 and swarthy, sauntered into the office. The women, believing the pair to be students, were startled to find themselves staring into the muzzles of two revolvers. One of the men stood guard over the employes while the other ransacked the cash drawers.

Budapest Newspapers Suspended by Walkout

Budapest, Hungary, April 5 (A.P.).—Budapest will be without its usual newspapers tomorrow morning as a result of a printers' strike in protest against the Government's suppression of the official Socialist party organ Veszszava today. The Socialist paper was suppressed for an indefinite period on the ground that it published "articles urging the workers to arm."

To provide the public with official news, the Government tomorrow will publish a Morning News in a loyal printing plant and an Evening News later.

WINS SEAT



REPRESENTATIVE STANLEY H. KUNZ.

HOUSE VOTES KUNZ SEAT FROM ILLINOIS

Granata, Republican, Ousted and Democrat Takes Oath of Office.

(Associated Press.)

The Democratic House majority voted together yesterday to oust a Republican from Illinois, and give his seat to a Democrat.

Except for one of the votes, when five Democrats left their leaders, it was a straight ballot on party lines that finally declared Stanley H Kunz, Democrat, duly elected as representative of the Eighth Illinois District instead of Peter C. Granata, Republican.

The seating of Kunz made the House line up like this:

Democrats, 221.
Republicans, 211.
Farmer-Labor, 1.
Vacancies, 2.

The five Democrats—Representatives Gilbert, of Kentucky; Howard, of Nebraska; Tarver, of Georgia; Chavez, of New Mexico, and Fuller, of Arkansas—voted to delay the case long enough for a House elections committee to count the ballots. The Democratic majority of the committe had declared Kunz elected on a recount made in Chicago.

The vote rejecting this motion was 185 to 177. In rapid order the House then defeated 189 to 170 a resolution to declare Granata elected, and on a viva voce vote declared Kunz should be seated.

As House members began leaving the chamber, Kunz, escorted by Majority Leader Rainey, an Illinois colleague, stood in the well of the House and took the oath of office.

Another election contest will be voted upon by a committee today—that of Charles O'Connor, Republican, against Wesley E. Disney, Democrat, who now represents the First Oklahoma District. Republican members of this committee indicated that if the House seated Kunz they would vote to oust Disney.

Hitler, on Air Tour, Is Hailed by 200,000

Half-Holiday Is Proclaimed in One of Four Districts He Visits in Day.

Koenigsberg, Germany, April 5 (A.P.).—Enthusiastic crowds aggregating 200,000 cheered Adolf Hitler, National Socialist leader, during an airplane tour today, in which he visited Lauenburg, Danzig, Elbing and Koenigsberg in the course of his campaign for the presidency.

Agricultural Lauenburg proclaimed a half-holiday and thousands of farmers from the surrounding district swarmed into a vacant jute factory to hear the Nazi candidate speak.

At Langfuhr Flying Field in Danzig 35,000 persons assembled. Hitler reviewed the local Nazi storm troops, who were in full uniform and stood at attention as he passed by. "And this is what some call a Polish city," he said, as he left.

JAPAN IS READY TO SIGN TREATY ON PHILIPPINES

Would Promise to Let Islands Stay Free for All Time.

DISCREDITS DESIRE TO ANNEX TERRITORY

"Imperialistic Tone" Implied in Recent Stimson Plea Taken With Surprise.

Tokyo, April 5 (A.P.).—Japan would willingly sign a treaty with the United States guaranteeing perpetually the independence of the Philippine Islands in the event they are freed, a Government spokesman said today.

This statement was the official comment on the adoption yesterday by the House of Representatives in Washington of the Hare bill, which would make possible complete independence for the islands by 1940.

The action of the House caused considerable surprise in official circles here and the newspapers treated it as an event of first importance. Many columns were devoted to accounts of the vote. News articles were accompanied by pictures of Secretary of State Stimson, who opposed independence for the Philippines at this time, saying that American withdrawal would be followed by domination "by some foreign power, probably either China or Japan."

No Desire of Acquisition.

Regarding this question, the Japanese government spokesman asserted that Philippine domination "would be as great a liability to Japan as it has been to the United States."

"We have declared for many years past and we reiterate now that Japan has no desire to acquire the Philippines," the spokesman said.

"We are unable to see any advantage to Japan if America grants their independence. We are chiefly interested in the Islands as a profitable market near home, but we doubt whether independence would improve that market. Probably the reverse would happen."

Japan has been unable to "fully digest Formosa," he added, and the Philippines have a much larger area and population, with intricate and numerous racial problems. Formosa, the large island to the north of the Philippines, was ceded by China to Japan after the Sino-Japanese war of 1894.

Tone Brings Surprise.

"I am unable to recall hearing any Japanese, even the most imperialistic, seriously suggest that Japan would ever want the islands," the spokesman concluded.

In some official quarters surprise was expressed at what was described as "an imperialistic tone" in Secretary Stimson's statement. According to this interpretation, the Secretary implied a desire to keep the islands as a base from which American influence might continue to be exerted in the Orient.

"Such an exertion of influence has implications disquieting to Japan."

Democrats Are Victors In Cicero, Ill., Voting

Cicero, Ill., April 5 (A.P.).—The Republican administration which has dominated Cicero, once known as the haunt of "Scarface" Al Capone, for the last sixteen years was overthrown today in a municipal election conducted under the eyes of heavily armed squads of police.

Joseph Z. Klenha, village president, was voted out of office, and Joseph G. Cerny, Democrat, was named to succeed him. The vote was: Klenha, 10,817; Cerny, 16,216. The election was the quietest and most orderly held for many years in this large village bordering Chicago to the west.

Bias Halts Selection Of Fortescue Jurors

"Ought to Be Shot," Prospective Juryman Says of Four Defendants; Honor Slaying Is Likely to Be Plea.

Honolulu, April 5 (A.P.).—Strong fixed opinions of prospective jurors, one of whom expressed the belief the defendants "ought to be shot," impeded selection of a jury today to try Mrs. Granville Fortescue and three Navy men, accused of lynching Joseph Kahahawai, a native.

When the second day of the trial of Mrs. Fortescue, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, her son-in-law, and two enlisted men ended, six Anglo-Saxons, three Chinese, one Japanese, one Hawaiian and one Portuguese had been temporarily accepted for service.

The expression of feeling against Massie, Mrs. Fortescue and their co-defendants, E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, came from William Huihui, Hawaiian. Under questioning by Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer and chief defense counsel, he admitted he had said the four "ought to be shot."

The day also brought forth the indication the defense would plead the killing of Joseph Kahahawai, accused of attacking Mrs. Omalia Massie, was an honor slaying. Mrs. Massie is the wife of the lieutenant and daughter of Mrs. Fortescue, American society matron.

The jury panel was filled during the morning, but only a few of the 24 peremptory challenges alloted each side had been used when court adjourned and a final jury was not in prospect.

Before Huihui's admission, Darrow had vigorously contested the attempt of Barry Ulrich, deputy prosecutor, to impress on prospective jurors not to consider whether the slaying of Kahahawai last January 8 was right or wrong. Kahahawai was once tried for attacking Mrs. Massie last September, but the jury disagreed and he was awaiting another trial when killed.

Ulrich asked Shadford Waterhouse, prospective juror, if he would find the defendants guilty whether or not he believed they "had a right to do what they did."

NORRIS MEN TRAIL IN WISCONSIN VOTE

Delegates Pledged to Roosevelt Lead in Democratic Balloting.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 5 (A.P.).—The La Follette Progressive Republican slate of candidates for election to the national convention at Chicago next June slumped more than 10,000 votes behind the conservative candidates for delegates-at-large as returns came in from 260 precincts out of 2,845 in the State in today's primary election.

The faction of the Democrat party pledged to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York for the presidential nomination, ran far ahead of an opposing slate, unpledged, but favorable to the candidacy of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York. On the basis of present returns, the Roosevelt slate apparently swept the State, running well ahead.

Senator Robert M. La Follette, Progressive candidate, looked upon as one of the leaders of the Independent faction, fell far behind and was running next to low in a field of seven. Senator John J. Blaine was 2,000 above La Follette and was next to the lead among Progressive candidates. George Mead, Neenah manufacturer, led the seven conservative candidates.

The Roosevelt slate was headed by Charles E. Broughton, Sheboygan editor, mentioned as a candidate for governor. John J. Callahan, national

Mayor of Milwaukee, Socialist, Leads Rival

Milwaukee, Wis., April 5 (A.P.).—Daniel W. Hoan, Milwaukee's Socialist mayor for the last sixteen years, was 7,000 votes ahead of Alderman Joseph P. Carney, his nonpartisan opponent in the mayor's race, on the basis of returns from about one-fifth of the city's precincts in today's municipal election.

HOOVER SUPPORTED BY LEGION ON BONUS

Soldier Organization Joins in Opposition to Plan for Veteran Aid.

(Associated Press.)

A pledge of American Legion support for President Hoover in his fight against the enactment of additional soldiers' bonus legislation was announced late yesterday at the White House.

One of the President's secretaries told newspapermen word had been received from Henry L. Stevens, national commander, that "the legion stands solidly behind him on the bonus fight." This statement was not amplified nor was the text of Stevens' communication made public.

The Chief Executive recently declared himself "absolutely opposed" to any new bonus bill, implying he would veto any such legislation placed before him. Aroused by word that informal polls in the House of Representatives showed all but 90 members at that time favored such legislation, he issued a formal statement asserting it would wreck the hopes of securing a balanced budget.

Moves have gone forward steadily on Capitol Hill, nevertheless, to consider a bonus measure estimated to disseminate approximately $2,400,000,000 to veterans. Congressional hearings will begin on Monday.

In his recent statement Mr. Hoover said that since his antibonus ad-

Credit Bank Debentures Are Sold Out in Market

(Associated Press.)

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation announced last night that all Federal intermediate credit bank debentures offered for delivery on April 15 had been sold in the market.

The issue amounted to $18,600,000. The corporation had agreed to take up whatever portion the public did not buy.

Throwing Money Away In Washington

Senate and House Last Year Spent $1,337,261 for Junkets, Investigations, Gifts, Tips, Shaving Soap and Other "Essentials."

For junkets, investigations, gifts, tips, meals, traveling expenses (in addition to regular mileage), guides, fish-bait, mineral water, shaving soap, changing names on shaving mugs and satisfying a general inquisitiveness covering a vast amount of private business, the Senate and House spent during the depression year of 1931 a total of $1,337,261.96. Such is the total appearing on the Treasury's records from which were compiled the budget estimates sent by President Hoover to Congress last December.

This total also included the incidental and regular running expenses of both houses of Congress, but did not include salaries paid members or clerks.

Scores of trained investigators drew fat fees and salaries for turning up private and semipublic information for Senate and House committees. Alone, Senator Nye's committee investigating campaign expenses of candidates before, during and after the 1930 election employed ten experts at $500 a month and expenses, in addition to other workers. Other committees, while not equalling the Nye committee record for generous spendings, did fairly well. Witness the spendings of the special Senate committee investigating the conservation of wild animal life:

Capper and Blaine Demand Traction Merger Changes

Senators Will Oppose Bill Unless Revised System of Valuation and Universal Transfers Are Written Into Measure; Contract Extensions Assailed.

Opposition to the traction merger, unless a new power clause, a revised system of valuation and universal free transfers are written into the Senate bill, was voiced yesterday by Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, and Senator John J. Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin.

In a minority report to the Senate these two assailed provisions of the bill extending for fifteen years contracts under which the Washington Railway & Electric Co. markets at a profit current bought below cost from the Potomac Electric Power Co.

"Is the Senate going to enact legislation which will perpetuate an arrangement which means a loss to the general consumers of energy of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually, which divests the regulatory body created by Congress of its principal function?" the report asked.

Arguing that profits realized by the Washington Railway & Electric Co. on the contracts under the consent decree should go toward reducing electric rates assessed by the Potomac Electric Power Co., the senators proposed a clause that would give the latter concern right to sell power subject only to Public Utilities Commission jurisdiction.

HUGE ARMY DAY PARADE TO PASS BEFORE HOOVER

88 Units, With 20 Bands, Will March Today in Demonstration.

WILL GET UNDER WAY PROMPTLY AT 2 P. M.

Gen. Pershing to Have Place in Reviewing Stand for 2½-Hour Column.

The Army Day parade, which is expected to be the greatest military demonstration in Washington since the World War, will start at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when marchers will parade from Capitol Hill to the White Lot, where they will be reviewed by President Hoover.

The parade will round the Capitol Plaza, where it will be reviewed by members of Congress, and will then turn down the north driveway of the Capitol into Pennsylvania avenue. From Pennsylvania avenue it will turn into Fifteenth street, then south to Constitution avenue, and west past the reviewing stand to Seventeenth street, where it will disband.

Besides marking recognition of Army Day, the event will be in observance of the fifteenth anniversary of this country's entry into the World War, and will be the second big event on the George Washington Bicentennial program. The District and United States Bicentennial Commissions and the Military Order of the World War will be in charge of the demonstration.

Officials to Occupy Stand.

From a reviewing stand on Constitution avenue, opposite the Washington Monument, President Hoover, members of his Cabinet, Gen. John J. Pershing and high officials of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps will view the parade, which is expected to take at least 2½ hours to pass a given point.

The line of march will consist of 88 units and about 20 bands, drum and fife corps. The vanguard will consist of a platoon of Washington police, Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, U. S. A., grand marshal of the parade, and his staff; then members of the two Bicentennial commissions and distinguished guests.

The first division of the marching column will be composed of Army, Navy and Marine Corps Battalions and Squadrons.

The Army, Navy and Marine Bands will also make up a part of this division and it will mark the first time that they have marched together in the same parade, with the exception of inaugurations.

Reserve Corps In March.

National Guard and organized reserves, under command of Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan, will make up the second division. This will be the first time that the Reserve Corps has paraded in units. The division will also include a completely equipped battle pursuit plane.

Congressional Race Is Entered by Darden

Norfolk, Va., April 5 (A.P.).—Colgate W. Darden, jr., member of the House of Delegates from Norfolk, today announced himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Second District, the post now held by Menalcus Lankford, Republican.

Th announcement was not unexpected, since Mr. Darden has been mentioned for more than a year as a prospective candidate for the congressional nomination. He was not prepared today to outline his platform, but stated he would begin his campaign shortly.

PREMIER RESCUED FROM ANGRY MOB IN NEWFOUNDLAND

Underwood & Underwood.
SIR RICHARD A. SQUIRES.

Assembly Is Raided as Protest on "Fraud."

CABINET HELD READY TO QUIT

Prime Minister Is Saved by Priest's Action; Police Helpless.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, April 5 (U.P.).—Thundering a demand for the resignation of Prime Minister Sir Richard A. Squires, a mob of thousands of rioters stormed the Parliament buildings tonight, wrecked government offices and besieged police and cabinet members in the House of Assembly.

The prime minister was roughly handled by rioters when he fled from the building and only the intervention of a priest and a leader of the opposition party saved him from a more serious attack.

With the mob in possession of a large district around the Parliament buildings and threatening further disorders, it was reported that Sir Richard had resigned. But later officials denied the report and said it would be impossible for the cabinet to resign until the prime minister had been received by the governor, Sir John Middleton.

Ministry Barricaded.

Sir William Coaker, minister without portfolio, was reported to have called on the governor and tendered his resignation, advising the governor to ask for Sir Richard's resignation.

Chaotic conditions existed in official circles and it was impossible to confirm reports of governmental action.

The premier and his ministers, together with virtually the entire St. Johns police force, were barricaded inside the wrecked building for hours while the mob demonstrated wildly outside, shouting for the resignation of the cabinet.

About 15,000 persons took part in the demonstration, but the mob dwindled to 4,000 after the attack on the Parliament buildings. The outbreak arose out of demands that the Assembly investigate charges that the prime minister had falsified minutes of the executive council.

Prime Minister Attacked.

Prime Minister Squires narrowly escaped serious injury at the hands of a part of the mob when he was attacked and roughly handled while escaping from the Parliament buildings.

With a bodyguard headed by Superintendent of Police O'Neil, the premier was leaving from a rear exit when a group of rioters attacked him, knocked him down and dragged him in the mud. He was saved by the intervention of a priest, Father Pippy, and Edward Emerson, a member of the opposition.

Father Pippy and Emerson managed to get the prime minister away from the mob and took him to a private house on Colonial street, adjacent to the Assembly. The rioters followed, but Squires was removed under guard by a back street to an undisclosed destination.

Police Are Helpless.

Other members of the cabinet left the Parliament buildings during the rioting, although some were still inside with police. The police were helpless in the hands of the rioters, who smashed windows, tore down doors and battered furniture before they retired from the building.

At sundown the crowd paraded wildly around the grounds, shouting threats against the cabinet members.

LINDBERGH VISITS LONG ISLAND TOWN

Special to The Washington Post.

Norfolk, Va., April 5.—Babylon on Long Island, N. Y., has been the center of negotiations by the Norfolk intermediaries for the return of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby, it was learned here tonight on authentic information following the return to the city of Mrs. John Hughes Curtis, wife of the Norfolk boatbuilder, who originally met a self-asserted agent of the abductors on March 9. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh himself is understood to have joined in a conference at Babylon Sunday.

Mrs. Curtis declined to make any statement regarding her whereabouts since her unannounced departure suddenly last Tuesday evening, following the return of Dean H. Dobson-Peacock, Episcopal clergyman who, with Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage and Mr. Curtis, has taken a prominent part in the negotiations directed from Norfolk. She did say, however, that her husband would be back in Norfolk in 24 hours and have a statement to make.

There had been so many leaks, wire tapping and so much surveillance and publicity from Norfolk that a change of base for contacting the representatives of the kidnapers was essential, the three Norfolk men decided. Mrs. Curtis, according to the information, was drafted for the delicate task and proceeded to her former home at Babylon, where her father, the late

Wet Bloc to Seek Vote on Beer Tax

Will File Petition Next Tuesday to Take Bill From Committee.

(Associated Press.)

The Republican and Democratic wet bloc yesterday decided to file a petition next Tuesday in an effort to force a vote on the O'Connor-Hull bill to legalize 2.75 per cent beer. The measure is now before the ways and means committee, which has declined to report it to the House for action.

One hundred and forty-five petitioners are needed to force a vote on the bill introduced jointly by Representatives O'Connor (Democrat), New York, and Hull (Republican), Illinois.

The vote is on whether the House shall consider the bill which provides a 3 cents a pint tax on beer.

60 Agents Begin Listing Of New York Speakeasies

Order to Compile Directory Preliminary to Drive Came From Washington, Is Report; Good Idea, Bartenders Believe; Police Keep Hands Off.

New York, April 5 (U.P.).—Sixty prohibition agents, armed with large maps and pockets full of red-headed pins, set forth today to compile a speakeasy directory of New York.

Some have said there were 60,000 liquor dispensaries on this island. Others have cut the estimate down to 40,000. Commissioner of Police Edward P. Mulrooney says that "nobody has guessed within 20,000 of the real number." The prohibition department has decided to end all guesswork.

Having compiled the directory of speakeasies, night clubs, saloons and "private clubs"—private to anybody who hasn't got a dollar—the 60 agents will then be in a position to plan a new, intensive and intelligent attack on the vice front, according to Col. Amos W. Woodcock, director of prohibition.

Thus there is every indication of a tightening up all along the prohibition front. It was reported, but without confirmation, that the latest orders came from Washington, and that the higher-ups in the Federal Government are determined to take away from the wets their favorite argu-

REICH BUDGET PLANS IGNORE REPARATIONS

Financing Program Has No Provision for Payments.

HITLER'S REBELLION INTENTIONS BARED

Seized Data Said to Reveal Nazis Ready to Seize Power by Force.

Berlin, April 5 (A.P.).—The German government is going ahead with its financing plans on the theory that there will be no more reparations payments.

The budget for the fiscal year 1932-33, now in preparation, makes no provision whatever for war reparations, it was learned today. It is the first time since the end of the conflict that this item has not bulked large in the Reich's financial plans.

This development in Germany's foreign affairs shared interest today with a domestic political sensation—the publication of documents seized from Adolf Hitler's National Socialist party headquarters which, officials declared, showed the Nazis had been ready to take power by force and to plunge the nation into civil war in the event Hitler was successful in the initial presidential election held March 13.

Government Wires Tapped.

These documents told of tapping government wires and of exact statistics on available arms and trained men, armored trains, fliers and other instruments of warfare.

Throughout the Reich—if the documents are authentic—Hitler followers were under orders to follow up his expected success at the polls by seizing public utilities and such means of communication as the telegraph, the telephone and radio stations. Germany was to become an armed camp and if necessary machine guns and armored trucks and trains were to be used to establish Nazi supremacy.

The seized documents indicated that Prussia had been honeycombed with a Nazi espionage system reminiscent of World War spying organizations.

Fits Bruening's Warning.

The action of the federal government in ignoring reparations requirements in budget plans is in accordance with the declaration of Chancellor Heinrich Bruening last January that continuation of such payments was impossible and any attempt to main them "must lead to disaster not only for Germany but for the whole world."

The whole problem is to be discussed at impending international conferences. As matters stand at present, however, Germany has no authority to forego her payments after the conclusion of the Hoover moratorium this summer.

CHANGES IN TRACTION BILL ARE DEMANDED

They charged that North American Co., holding practically all of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. stock, is even more interested than the traction companies in perpetuating existing contacts.

"The North American Co. gets the entire benefit of this profit, whereas in fact a portion of this profit under the consent decree should be reflected in reduced rates to the public," the report stated.

"The effect of this arrangement has been to increase the receipts of the North American Co. at the expense of the general consumers of energy."

The two senators proposed an amendment which would curtail present valuation powers of the court, restricting them from findings as to fact, on valuations. The Public Utilities Commission would be given exclusive valuation authority. The courts would have only the right to admit new evidence and pass on points of law.

"The Public Utilities law of the District is unique," read the report. "It is unlike utilities laws in all other jurisdictions and has no parallel anywhere. Included in the District law is one of the most incongruous methods of valuation ever conceived."

Senators Capper and Blaine rewrote the provision for termination of franchise one year after action repealing the merger resolution, so that it would not be construed to require "repeal of the entire resolution in order to alter or repeal some right of franchise."

Under suggested amendments, the Public Utilities Commission would be given the right to "order" rather than "authorize" abandonment unremunerative sections of track.

Provisions of the approved bill permitting creations of subsidiaries to the new company were declared "wrong in principal." Proposing an amendment prohibiting subsidiaries, Senators Capper and Blaine said that under the bill as drawn there might be just as many separate units to regulate as exist today, defeating one of the objectives of the merger.

Requesting universal free transfers from bus to bus and from street car to bus, the report stated:

"Free transfers is the sole direct benefit which will accrue to the public under the terms of the proposed legislation."

Text of Hoover Statement On Reduction in Expenses

President Hoover yesterday issued the following statement:

What I asked for in my message yesterday was organized, nonpartisan cooperation by all forces to reduce Government expenses in the national emergency which insistently demands relief for the taxpayer.

There are three general directions in which expenses can be reduced:

First—The direct reduction of appropriations within the authority of existing laws creating and specifying various activities of the Government.

A definite program to this end was placed before Congress in the executive budget proposals, in which there was a reduction of $369,000,000 for the forthcoming year. I welcome and hope for further cuts by the Congress providing such reductions do not destroy essential functions, and that they are genuine and do not merely represent postponed appropriations until deficiency bills next December.

Some Can Not Be Cut.

Second—There are a large number of expenditures within the bureaus and departments which can not be reduced without a change in the laws so that the executive or the appropriations committees can reduce such expenditures.

In this direction the departments' heads have appeared before many different committees in Congress in the last months and have pointed out a multitude of directions which could be considered by these committees for a reduction of expenditures, but most of them require repeal or amendment of the laws which compel expenditures.

Seven departments alone have pointed out more than 85 such different directions for consideration of those committees and which offer a possibility of very large reductions. There are still other areas which could, no doubt, be developed.

Consolidation of Functions.

Third—Those directions of economy which can only be accomplished by reorganization and consolidation of Government functions so as to eliminate overlap, useless bureaus and commissions and waste.

Seven years ago, five years ago, as a member of a Cabinet committee on the subject, and again three years ago, two years ago, five months ago, four months ago, six weeks ago, I recommended authorization to the Executive to make a wholesale reorganization of Government functions so as to eliminate this overlap, abolish useless bureaus and commissions, and do away with waste, but such reorganization in each case to be subject to the approval of Congress. The action recommended has not been taken.

A dominant consideration is that all these items, methods and programs concern a great number of committees in the Congress. They concern a great number of departments and bureaus.

Diffusion of Effort.

If we take the eleven principal spending branches of the Government, each of them working independently with some part of over 30 different congresional committees which are concerned in these ideas and proposals, then, even if we have the very best will in the world, without an atom of partisanship, the mere diffusion of effort seemingly makes effective progress on important items impossible.

What I have asked for is not a commission, but merely that the Senate and the House should each delegate representatives to sit down with representatives from the administration and endeavor to draft a comprehensive, general, national economy bill, covering the second and third areas of possible reduction in expenses.

This one single economy bill, or a few bills, could be presented to the Congress embodying all the measures of economy proposed where change in the laws are necessary. Without such action, I see no way by which there can be a maximum reduction in expenditures.

TAX HEARING TO OPEN TODAY BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE

basis of exorbitant departmental estimates. Then he proceeded to set forth figures to show that far from reducing the Federal budget the recommendations of the President proposed an increased expenditure.

"The President has said that he already has saved $369,000,000 in Federal expenditures. But that estimate of saving was reached only by computing the difference between department estimates and the amount which finally was recommended to Congress for approval.

"I do not say that the President is trying to deceive. I merely say that I believe the President has been imposed upon."

Harrison Takes Floor.

Senator Pat Harrison (Democrat), of Mississippi, who had been sitting on the edge of his chair all afternoon, loaded with another charge against the administration, took the floor after Senator McKellar sat down. Mr. Harrison's speech had been awaited, but it was late in the day and other senators wanted to get various things done and he yielded to one after another, including Senator Copeland (Democrat), of New York.

Senator Harrison said that if Senator Charles L. McNary (Republican), of Oregon, Republican whip, wanted to move a recess it would be agreeable to him. Mr. McNary did, and the stage was set for the opening of the session today with Senator Harrison on the floor, prepared to justify himself as the skinflayer of his party in the Senate.

While this was happening on the floor, Senator Wesley Jones (Republican), of Washington, chairman of the appropriations committee, introduced a resolution to carry out the President's economy commission idea. The Jones resolution provided for a commission of nine members, three to be appointed by the Vice President, three from the House and three to be named by the President. Unless there is a change in the present situation the proposal will not come to fruition.

Garner Asks Definite Plans.

There was an answer in the House, too, to the renewed demand of the President that Congress accede to his proposal to reduce Government expenditures.

Speaker John N. Garner, of Texas, who has sought to brush aside talk of his possible presidential nomination with the statement that he wants "none of this presidential stuff," challenged the President to submit definite recommendations. He promised prompt House action on any such proposal.

Secretary Mills is expected to outline today to the finance committee just what he meant when he said that the billion-dollar House tax bill had serious defects and discriminations. It was Mr. Mills, incidentally, who precipitated the battle over just who was saving what, if anything, in the various economy claims.

Secretary Mills is expected to be followed by Treasury experts in the course of the hearings. It is estimated the hearings will last two weeks. But representatives of every industry or business taxed have descended on the Senate with demands to be heard.

Smoot and Hoover Confer.

So great was the pressure that Senator Smoot went to the White House yesterday afternoon to talk to the President about that and other things incident to the tax bill. After leaving the President he said the President would not object to a proposal he had submitted. This was that each industry or group should select their ablest exponents to present their side of the argument before the committee.

Whitney to Back Mills.

Richard S. Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, will support the expected opposition of Secretary Mills to the House-imposed tax on stock exchange transactions. The House tax is one-quarter of 1 per cent on the sales price, with a minimum of 4 cents a share on each share.

There will be a fight, probably, to reinstate the general manufacturers' sales tax in the bill. Indications are that the fight will be not much more than a gesture. There will be changes made in the House bill in the Senate, but it is not considered likely that they will materially change the complexion of the bill.

The effort to insert the sales tax is expected to prove abortive. The fight against the stock exchange tax is likely to be defeated.

Fight Over Tariff.

There will be a series of minor fights over tariff provisions. Several amendments are going to be proposed to impose embargo tariffs on this or that commodity. On the contrary there will be an effort to strike out of the bill the House embargo-tariff on oil and coal.

Senator James Couzens (Republican), of Michigan, gave warning on the Senate floor on Monday that there would be an effort to increase the taxes on higher incomes. There will be a fight over the surtax rates on higher incomes. The Swing amendment approved by the House was generally interpreted as restoring the war-time rates in large incomes, but it doesn't by a wide and important margin, due to the variance in the assessments levied on incomes from $100,000 up to the maximum of $10,000,000 and above which would be subject to the 65 per cent tax.

Method of Naming Coroner's Jury Hit

Lack of Standardization Is Charged by Committee of Chamber.

Methods of selecting coroner's juries in the District are faulty through lack of standardization and there is a failure to present adequately the law covering various cases before them, the law and legislation committee of the Washington Chamber of Commerce reported to the board of directors last night. The board approved the work of the committee in investigating the system in use.

The public recreation committee approved the proposed bill for a port of authority for Washington, but recommended that seven members make up the governing body, two of them to be men selected from private life.

The board of directors of the Washington Chamber approved the stand of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in its referenda on Federal taxes. The National body states that an attempt to balance the Federal budget is sound, but urges that goal for balancing the budget be made as 1934 rather than attempting to accomplish the financial feat in one year.

Paralytic Slain in His Bed.

Sherbrooke, Quebec, April 5 (A.P.). Alderic Couture, 41, an almost helpless paralytic, was found slain in his bed early today. An examination disclosed that Couture, unable to help himself, had been tied face down to the bed to smother his cries. The body was found by neighbors.

Daughter Is Born To Gloria Swanson

Mother and Child Doing Nicely, Michael Farmer, Husband, Says.

London, April 5 (A.P.).—A daughter was born tonight to Gloria Swanson, the American film actress, and her husband, Michael Farmer, at their new home in the fashionable Mayfair section of London. Mother and child were both "very well," Mr. Farmer said.

He and Miss Swanson, who had been staying at a hotel since they came to London after their marriage in the United States last year, moved into the house on Farm street yesterday, where the baby was born.

The child is the second born to Miss Swanson. Her first, Gloria, now 10 years old, is the daughter of Herbert Sonborn, film executive of Chicago and California, who was Miss Swanson's second husband. She also has a third child, whom she adopted. The actress and Mr. Farmer, wealthy Irish sportsman, were married secretly last August.

Surgeon Off in Plane to Aid Son.

Bogota, Colombia, April 5 (A.P.).—Dr. Antonio Munoz left by airplane today for Quito, Ecuador, to perform an emergency operation on his son-in-law, Col. Mariano Maldonado. The dangerous flight across the Andes requires five or six hours and there are no landing fields on the way. The surgeon was flown by Maj. Benjamin Mendez, and John Todhunter, of Galesburg, Ill., went along as mechanic.

HOOVER TELLS GOAL OF STIMSON ABROAD

Says Advancement of Cause of Disarmament Is Sole Reason for Journey.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

President Hoover yesterday clarified the purpose of the trip of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson to Geneva at this time as a move for "enlarging the scope and application" of the American disarmament thesis.

Definite assurances were made by the President that the Secretary of State would not enter upon any negotiation or discussion of the debt question while abroad.

The Stimson visit to the seat of the general disarmament conference was interpreted, however, in many quarters as an eleventh hour move to prevent the break up of the negotiations. It was conceded, too, in authoritative circles that the State Department considers the moment not so much propitious as it is critical.

The conference now in recess has been endeavoring to reach common ground for the more pressing problems of disarming. The White House statement clearly reflected the scant hopes of success which lie in the conference's eventual outcome.

Modest Results Expected.

The President's own words stress the very modest results which are held out for the present meeting even with the presence there of the American Secretary of State. Thus, the President announced that he had given the American delegation certain ideas for a solution of "some of the problems before the conference."

Further on in his statement he said:

"It is the American desire to produce some concrete and definite results, even though they may not be revolutionary."

Finally, the official announcement stressed the relief that can be expected for "some degree of successful issue."

Secretary Stimson is still making profound study of the problems of the American delegation with the experts of the State Department in anticipation of his appearance before the general conference within the next fortnight.

The conversations which Norman H. Davis has held there with the chief of the Army and Navy, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, and Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, have enabled the Secretary and Mr. Davis to get along much further with the details of the American disarmament proposal already made public by the temporary chairman of the delegation, Ambassador Hugh Gibson, on its opening session.

Personal Factor Involved.

One of the most persuasive factors in the departure of the Secretary at this time for Geneva is his friendly and personal acquaintance with many of the statesmen who will be represented at Geneva. On his previous visits to Europe since he has been in office, Secretary Stimson has gone beyond the mere formalities with such eminent men as Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy. The more personal understanding of Secretary Stimson with these men, and the enormous prestige which attaches to any purely American move where the entire weight of the United States is applied, is counted upon to work to more optimistic results than have obtained heretofore.

Mr. Hoover said:

"Some two months ago I presented to our delegation to the arms conference at Geneva certain ideas which I believed would contribute to a solution of some of the problems before the conference, and which were incorporated in the general program by our delegation to the conference.

"These ideas have been more fully discussed and developed during the visit to Washington of Mr. Norman Davis (one of the American delegates) and in consultation with the Secretary of State and our Army and Naval advisers, with a view of enlarging their scope and application.

"World Needs Relief."

"With the months that pass the economic burden and menace to world peace have if anything increased. The world needs the reduction of Government expenditure and the spirit of peace that can come from some degree of successful issue by the disarmament conference at Geneva.

"I have, therefore, asked the Secretary of State to go to Geneva, in order to explore with our delegates and those of other nations the possibility of taking more definite steps in that direction.

"It is the American desire to produce some concrete and definite results, even though they may not be revolutionary. The world needs, both economically and spiritually, the relief that can come from some degree of successful issue by the disarmament conference.

"This is the sole purpose of the Secretary's visit. There will be no discussion or negotiation by the Secretary on the debt question."

Graf Starts Second Trip To America This Year

Friedrichshafen, Germany, April 5 (A.P.).—The Graf Zeppelin left at 6:32 a. m., central European time, today on her second flight of the year to South America, and at 5 p. m., central European time (11 a. m., eastern standard time), was over the Bay of Biscay, making 78 knots in a cloudy sky.

The Graf was delayed in its take-off for Pernambuco, Brazil, 25 hours because of damage to the hull during the first take-off yesterday. The matter was quickly set aright, but unfavorable weather held the huge dirigible to the ground until this morning. She has eight passengers and 300 pounds of mail and freight aboard.

Cosgrave and His Party Fight De Valera Policies

Dublin, Irish Free State, April 5 (A.P.).—Former President William T. Cosgrave and his Cumann Na Ngaedhael party announced tonight they would vigorously oppose President Eamon de Valera's policies of abolishing the oath of allegiance to the British King and the Irish land annuities in so far as they endangered the Anglo-Irish treaty.

The former president and his party, in power for ten years in the Irish Free State until the success of De Valera and his Republicans in the recent elections, declared they stood by the terms of the treaty. Their statement was made after the party's first meeting since the elections.

Priest, Unaware, Gives His Mother Last Rites

Erie, Pa., April 5 (A.P.).—The Rev. Lawrence Trembley administered the last rites of his church to a woman killed in an automobile accident, unaware that the victim was his mother.

Mrs. Joseph Trembley, 56, of Holyoke, Mass., was killed yesterday by an automobile as she alighted from a street car. She was en route to St. Joseph's Orphanage to visit her son, Father Trembley.

The priest, chaplain at the orphanage, performed the last offices for the woman, and not until afterward did he discover she was his mother.

BILLS TO SET SALES BY FARM BOARD HIT

Plan to Prevent Disposal of Cotton and Wheat in 1932 Meets Opposition.

(Associated Press.)

Bills to provide for disposal of the Farm Board's formidable wheat and cotton stocks yesterday set the long-standing argument about the board and its policies going at a Senate committee hearing.

One of the measures by Senator Gore (Democrat), Oklahoma, would prevent the board from selling any of the approximately 1,300,000 bales of cotton it holds until after January 1, 1933, and then would provide for its disposition in small quantities monthly. The other has similar provisions for wheat.

J. M. Locke, of Muskogee, Okla., representing the American Cotton Shippers Association, urged enactment of the cotton measure and said the cotton trade lived in the shadow of depressed prices cast by the board's huge stock.

Most of his statement was devoted to an attack upon the board and its policies. Carl Williams, Farm Board member for cotton, replied while opposing passage of the Gore bill.

Mr. Williams said the measure would depress the cotton market still further because there would be a rush to sell if it were known that the board would begin selling after January 1. He said the board planned a statement on its cotton stock within the next six weeks.

Senator Gore interposed with frequent criticism of the board. He said it had been a burden to the farmer.

Senator Thomas (Republican), Idaho, however interrupted Mr. Locke during his testimony to assert the witness was unfair to the board in attempting to show it was responsible for the low price of cotton. He pointed out the low price of stocks and bonds and said the board had not interfered with them.

Mr. Locke denied that he blamed the board for "all cotton ills" but said it was responsible for some of them.

He was followed by C. O. Moser, of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, affiliated with the board, who said the entire thing simmered down to a "contest between two systems of marketing—one private for profit and the other operated in the interests of the farmer."

Bank BanditsGet $5,000 And Escape Amid Shots

Toone, Tenn., April 5 (A.P.).—Two bandits robbed the bank of Toone of $5,000 in currency and bonds of undetermined value late today and fled in an automobile after a gun battle with citizens.

Deputy sheriffs said about 30 shots were exchanged, but none of the residents was wounded and it was believed the bandits likewise escaped injury. Reports sent back by possemen trailing the robbers said they fled in the direction of Jackson, Tenn.

Fourth Offender Law Modified in New York

Albany, N. Y., April 5 (A.P.).—New York State's fourth offender law, requiring imposition of a life sentence upon conviction of a fourth felony, today was modified with the signing by Gov. Roosevelt of a legislative bill.

The amended law now provides that a fourth offender is eligible for parole at the end of fifteen years of a maximum sentence of life. The eligibility for release on parole is to be decided by the State board of parole.

HOUSE SPEED ASKED FOR ECONOMY BILLS

Right-of-Way Is Requested for Two Reorganization Measures Ready.

House right-of-way for personnel and public works consolidation bills, already approved by the expenditures committee, was asked of the House rules committee yesterday by Expenditures Chairman John J. Cochran (Democrat), Missouri.

The rule, if granted, will give privileged status to the first two reorganization measures turned out by a House committee, one merging construction activities under one administration, the other consolidating Civil Service, Personnel Classification Board and the Bureau of Efficiency.

While President Luther C. Steward, of the National Federation of Federal Employes, delivered a broadside against "ill-considered and unscientific" consolidation, the House economy committee, which Monday agreed on three minor reorganization measures, continued retrenchment hearings.

Still Studying Pay Cuts.

Emphatic denials that pay cut bills had been "laid aside" by the committee in favor of savings elsewhere, were made by Chairman John McDuffie, Alabama, House Democratic whip, and Representative Cochran. Chairman McDuffie said the step had been "suggested," but not agreed to.

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, who sees nothing to be gained through consolidating the War and Navy Departments into one department of National Defense, aired his opposition to the Army-Navy merger at hearings yesterday afternoon. Representative Cochran has failed three times to report similar legislation out of his expenditures committee. Tomorrow he will make another effort at an executive session of the group.

Stressing "the danger of emasculation of vital Government services" through ill-considered reorganization and pay cuts, Mr. Steward in his statement declared the National Federation of Federal Employes nevertheless "does not oppose intelligent consolidation."

"Scientific and studied unification inevitably will prove a boon to all concerned," he said. "But the American taxpayer errs if he allows hysteria to work havoc with the efficient service machine built up by the Government over a long period of years by a ruthless chopping process, to affect departments and bureaus as well as individual salaries."

Curtailment Opposed.

Exemplifying the types of curtailment that would prove "far more hurtful in actual dollars and cents than the savings effected," Mr. Steward warned against reductions in such agencies as the Public Health Service, the Lighthouse Service, the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Agriculture Department scientific services, the Bureau of Mines and the Indian office.

"We are in favor of any plan which will mean greater progress, better service, and sound economy," he said. "But we do not believe in economy gained at the expense of invaluable services to the American people as a whole.

"To cut Federal salaries, already below standard, would be a backward step not only from the standpoint of justice and fair-dealing, but also in tending to drive from the Federal service many highly trained and experienced men and women who are performing their duties to the public so efficiently and so expertly."

Peary Found Goal 23 Years Ago Today

Negro Servant Only One of Six in Expedition Still Living.

New York, April 5 (U.P.).—Twenty-three years ago tonight, Matt Henson, stalwart Negro servant and companion of Robert E. Peary, slept a few hours at a point marked by geographers as 89 degrees and 57 minutes North.

On the following day, Peary and Henson, accompanied only by four Esquimo dog drivers, covered the remaining three minutes and planted the Stars and Stripes on the North Pole.

"I appreciate your kindness in remembering me today," said Henson who, alone of the six men who first looked at the spot from which every road was South, is still living. Henson, looking not more than 40, instead of his 60-odd years, has been employed at the New York Custom House for nineteen years, and says he hopes to stay there another twenty at least.

World to Be on Its Feet If Course in Hiking Wins

By JOHN J. DALY

BEFORE America became car conscious and upholstery-minded, hiking was the great outdoor diversion. Over the hills and far away was a popular thought. Men hiked, and conquered the continent. Down the dusty trail they went, single file and in battalions. That was before motorists came and ran hikers off the highways into the ditch.

Now come the colleges and universities to glorify the poor old pedestrian. Courses in hiking are being instituted in some of the institutions of higher learning. It is planned to have the Nation back on its feet by the end of this century.

Turn about is fair play. Hikers are getting ready to run frenzied motorists off the highways. The process will be long drawn out, of course, but it has begun; and as soon as the graduate hikers come out with their various degrees of hiking the movement will be off to a flying start.

* * * *

WORN out from trying to park his car in the downtown area, many a man has deserted the vehicle and hiked wearily to his office, swearing never again to bother about changing oil or buying gas. Though he had never seen the interior of a diploma factory, here was a potential hiker. There are enough men of that mind to make an army of hikers.

Even those who still cling to joys of motoring must become hikers at times—hiking after gasoline, mile after mile, when they forget to refill the tank.

In the prospectus being mailed by one college, it is pointed out that hiking will come back into its pristine glory when men and women realize what it means to their health and happiness. Men who walk to office and to work, strenuously, of course, with no loitering, strolling, or window shopping, may develop muscular perfection akin to the beauty of Adonis or Apollo. Women walkers can acquire the figure of Venus.

* * * *

NO more need be said. This pronouncement alone should insure man's first and most wholesome exercise coming into its own. When a man discovers that his feet were made for purposes other than "stepping on the gas" the earmarks of the hiker are upon him. With his knapsack on his shoulder, he may be off to the countryside at any time. And women, when they learn that beauty parlors can not compete with Mother Nature, the old lady who makes hikers into Venuses, look out for the overcrowded pathways.

The back to nature movement has started; and doom descends upon the hitch-hiker, that lazy faker who stands by the roadside waving as cars speed by, their demon drivers bent on getting nowhere in a hurry.

LINDBERGH CONFERS ON BABY KIDNAPING IN LONG ISLAND

Rev. Charles Robertseau, was at one time pastor of a fashionable Baptist church.

Mrs. Curtis reached Long Island Wednesday and a contact was made with the representatives of the kidnapers Thursday night, or Friday, and Mr. Curtis notified. He left Norfolk naval air station in an amphibian plane piloted by Lieut. George L. Richard, early Saturday morning, and his movements, as well as those of the plane, have been so well concealed that no trace of either has been reported.

Mrs. Curtis declared she had not seen her husband or communicated with him since Sunday, but her apparent confidence led interviewers to believe that the return of Mr. Curtis tomorrow would in all probability bring an important announcement regarding the progress of the negotiations, if not their successful conclusion.

The Consolvo yacht Marcon is standing by ready to go to sea on a moment's notice with a full crew on board. It is now docked at the gas boat plant, headed by Mr. Curtis.

Hopewell, N. J., April 5 (A.P.).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's personal efforts to get back his kidnaped son, which appear to be nearing a climax, were forgotten for hours today, while the famous flier helped beat out a brush fire that threatened his hilltop home.

Armed with an evergreen branch and an axe, the colonel joined more than 50 firemen, policemen, neighbors, reporters and photographers in their stubborn fight against the flames, which at one time swirled within 15 feet of the house.

Seen at close range by newspapermen for the first time since the kidnaping on March 1, Col. Lindbergh appeared in excellent health. His cheerfulness as he rested from his labor was interpreted as one more indication he has been making progress in his own recent endeavors to regain his 21-month-old son.

Other indications the climax in the 5-week-old case may be approaching are:

The fact the colonel's private work on the case has reached a point where he apparently wishes not only to direct the activity of those aiding him, but actually to work out the developments himself.

The two mysterious trips he has made away from his estate within the last three days—last night's trip by plane, apparently to Marthas Vineyard, Mass., near where he also was reported seen in a plane during his absence from here Sunday.

The fact that for two nights a light has been burning in the nursery from which the child was stolen and which has remained in darkness until this week.

The prolonged, unexplained absence from his Norfolk (Va.) home of John Hughes Curtis, one of three intermediaries who have held several conferences with Col. Lindbergh.

Meanwhile, there was no report of progress in the police investigation, which has taken one New Jersey State police official to England. Several unusual activities at Marthas Vineyard revived interest in reports that the island is figuring in the negotiations for the return of the kidnaped child.

In London Maj. Charles H. Schoeffel, of the New Jersey State police, spent more than an hour at Scotland Yard and then left for an unannounced destination.

4-POWER SESSIONS WILL START TODAY

MacDonald Hopes for Accord in 36 Hours on Proposals for Danubian Relief.

London, April 5 (A.P.).—The four-power conference, which will embrace the whole range of European problems—including disarmament, debts, reparations and other matters of great importance to the United States—will convene in the foreign office tomorrow, with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald presiding.

It is the hope of Mr. MacDonald that within 36 hours the conferees will have agreed on financial recommendations which will enable the Danubian nations to avert threatening financial crashes.

The groundwork for the meeting was laid Sunday and yesterday, when Premier Andre Tardieu of France held a series of talks here with the prime minister. At that time Mr. MacDonald announced that tomorrow's conference—originally called to consider the financial troubles of Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Roumania—would be extended to take in all the problems now harassing Europe.

Participating in the conference will be Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy. Foreign Minister Dino Grandi will head the Italian delegation, Finance Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin the French, and the chief German delegate will be Dr. B. W. von Buelow, secretary of state in the Berlin foreign office.

In their discussions earlier this week, M. Tardieu and Mr. MacDonald reached what the prime minister called a perfect understanding.

CONGREGATIONALIST CONFERENCE CLOSES

Edmund Chaffee Urges Aid of Churches in Relieving Economic Crisis.

A stirring address last night by Edmund B. Chaffee, of Labor Temple, New York City, on the Protestant Churches' part of the economic crisis, closed the spring meeting of the Washington Association of Congregational Churches at Ingram Memorial Church.

He urged a complete understanding of the causes of present conditions, and said that any change in economic structure must be prejudged, not alone by its promises of supplying the necessities and comforts of life to all, but also by its promise of emotional satisfaction to all.

Churches and individual Christians must bear their part in charity, understand economic problems, and speak out for right and against wrongful phases of economic and industrial life.

Preceding the address the congregation adopted several resolutions—one affirming a desire for world peace and hoping for the success of the arms conference, and another approving the efforts of the churches to be of aid in the present crisis.

The spring meeting, which consumed nearly all of the day, was devoted to discussions of church problems and to round-table conferences headed by the pastors of the various churches. A banquet was held under the auspices of the Women's Guild of Ingram Church. The Rev. Allen Stockdale, moderator, presided at all sessions.

BARING OF STIMSON LETTER CAUSES STIR

How Document Was Made Public Is Subject of Much Speculation.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

How the strongly worded letter of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson on Philippine independence found its way into public print was the subject of considerable speculation at the Capitol yesterday. That there had been a misunderstanding somewhere was evident.

The letter has aroused angry protests in Tokyo. Japanese officials were particularly upset by Stimson's statement that withdrawal of American sovereignty would result in ultimate domination of the Philippines "by some foreign power, probably either China or Japan." As they saw it, Stimson could only mean Japan.

The Tokyo spokesman, according to the Associated Press, said that the Philippines "would be as great a liability to Japan as they have been to the United States," and he expressed the belief that Japan would be glad to enter into a treaty with this country perpetually guaranteeing the neutrality and independence of the island in the event they are given their freedom.

Addressed to Bingham.

The Stimson letter, dated February 15, was addressed to Senator Hiram Bingham (Republican), of Connecticut, chairman of the Senate committee on territories and insular affairs. Its existence remained a secret until Monday when copies of it, printed on a State Department mimeograph, were distributed by a member of the House—Representative Robert L. Bacon (Republican), of New York.

Senator Bingham expressed astonishment when he learned late Monday that the letter had been made public.

Senator Harry B. Hawes (Democrat), of Missouri, a member of the territories committee, said yesterday that it was clearly understood that the letter was not to be made public; that it was an executive document for the sole use of the Senate. This, Hawes said, was explained to Secretary Stimson over the telephone by Senator Bingham several weeks ago.

Stimson Granted Request.

At the State Department, it was said that Secretary Stimson understood that he was at liberty to make the letter public whenever he chose.

Representative Bacon asked for permission to give it to the press Monday, and Secretary Stimson not only granted the request, but saw to it that several copies were run off on a mimeograph machine.

Bacon had hoped that the letter, outlining in vigorous language the perils of Philippine independence would discourage members of the House from voting for the Hare bill, a measure granting independence in eight years.

That the letter had no such effect was demonstrated when the Hare bill was passed by the amazing vote of 306 to 47 and sent to the Senate.

Confident of Passage.

Senator Hawes, who, with Senator Bronson Cutting (Republican), of New Mexico, is author of a bill granting independence to the Philippines in fifteen years, said yesterday that he was confident that an independence measure would go through the Senate by an overwhelming vote.

If the bill that is sent to the White House is anything like the Hare bill or the Hawes-Cutting bill, President Hoover is virtually certain to veto it. The President is not convinced that the Philippines are ready for independence, nor does he think it wise to set an arbitrary date in the future for granting them independence.

Senator Hawes, who gave his version of the history of the Stimson letter in the absence of Chairman Bingham, said that when the Senate territories committee began hearings on the question of Philippine independence, three members of the Cabinet were asked to testify—Secretary of the Navy Adams, Secretary of War Hurley and Secretary of State Stimson.

Precipitated Row.

Adams had nothing to say. Hurley, violently opposed to independence talk at this time, precipitated a row at the hearing. When the time came for Mr. Stimson to appear, he asked permission to incorporate his views in a letter.

"Senator Bingham told Secretary Stimson," Hawes said, "that it would be all right for him to send a letter, but he impressed upon him that it would have to be an executive letter.

"After the letter had arrived and had been read, Senator Bingham called up Secretary Stimson and told him that he did not want it released. Then it pops up in the House."

In any event the letter is now public property, and Secretary Stimson is standing on the views embodied therein.

CONGRESSIONAL 'EXPENSES' COST TAXPAYERS HEAVILY

ing a portion of the committee's investigation of this subject between September 1 and November 11. During that time the secretary of the committee (at $5,000 a year) and the special investigator (at $4,500) as well as members of the committee moved around considerably over the United States. The $231.50 did not include many tips lumped with $1.50 lunches and $2 dinners. The expense account, however, discloses that on October 4, 1930, the Federal Treasury paid tips as designated to the following individuals:

"Joe Allen, $20; Bruce, $15; Pip Crannell, $15; tip to Joe's two wranglers, $10, and tip to Mrs. Brazier (housekeeper) $10." On the following day, on leaving Moran after a 17-day stay of investigation, the party of seven, left behind the following tips: "Jessie the waitress, $20; second waitress, $20; Jimmie, the fire and utility boy, $20; cook, $10; first chambermaid, $10; the second chambermaid, $10." The bill at Teton Lodge, presumably where the party of seven investigated for 17 days was paid by check, $588.99.

One notes other interesting items tucked away in the expense account: October 12, breakfast and lunch, Senator Pittman and self, $8.50; October 18, Pitman's valet, $2; October 19, tips to auto waiting for Senator Pittman, $2; tips to valet for Senator Pittman, $3; tips to service maids and bellboys, $8; October 11, Bear River Duck Club tips—guide, $5; gunman, $5; headman, $5; stenographer, $5; October 31, tip to captain, Louisiana conservation boat, $10; to head engineer, $5; to steward, $5. Also a trip to a convention at Toronto, $529.79.

Funds Spent Freely.

Other committees spent public funds freely. Senator Nye's investigating committee, in addition to its ten $500-a-month-and-expenses experts, employed a super-expert at $40 to $50 a day over considerable periods, and another at $35 a day. The Nye committee's big bill already has been aired, so its further discussion here would be repetition.

Then there was the special committee investigating the Alaska Railroad, which spent part of the heated term in Alaska at a cost to the Treasury of $4,360.

During the Christmas holidays of 1930 another committee went to Florida to investigate the proposed Everglades National Park. This was composed of Senators Nye, Oddie, Glenn, Ashurst, Norbeck and Walsh, of Montana. The bill at the Hotel Pancoast from December 28 to January 3 was $911.17. A couple of houseboats, it appears, were chartered from December 30 to January 3, the cost to the taxpayers being $1,687.50, and a blimp was hired for three days ($75) to aid in the work. Also a stenographer got $151.75 for taking testimony incidental to the project. For this little midwinter jaunt to Florida, the taxpayers received bills totaling $2,825.42. In addition, photographs of the Everglades were purchased at a cost of $166.

Pay Roll of Experts.

The monthly pay roll of experts hired by joint committee of internal revenue to investigate the operation of internal revenue taxes runs to $3,385, the Treasury discloses. And the expenses of the committee investigating the contest between Senator Bankhead (in) and J. Thomas Heflin (out) over the senatorship from Alabama are shown, in part, as follows:

May 15	$2,216
" 29	2,486
June 12	2,744
" 27	3,055

That investigation was still in progress as the fiscal year closed.

Such are fair samples of the Senate's investigating expenses. The House was less active, but its miscellaneous expenses teem with incident. Among the customs of the House is that of allowing each member $125 a year for stationery for his office. The record shows that scores of members early in the session received the allowance in full from the cashier. What stationery they bought, they got for cash; whether it cost $125 or less was nobody's business. Many members bought from $20 to $50 worth of stationery at the beginning of the session and took the balance in cash.

Relatives in Offices.

The record does not show to what extent members of Congress employ relatives in their offices, at public expense, but recently the practice was fairly general. A conservative estimate is that one-fourth of all members have one or more relatives or family connections working in their offices and drawing salary from the Treasury.

Funeral expenses run fairly high, as committees journey at public expense from Washington to the Home of the deceased members. One bill exceeded $3,000; another $2,000. In addition, the custom prevails of paying the widow of a member a gratuity of a full year's salary, or $10,000. Should the widow of a Representative or Senator be named to succeed the deceased member, under this practice she would receive the gratuity of $10,000 from the Treasury and $10,000 a year for her own services while in office.

The custom was not confined to members, but extended to employes, whose widows received gratuities representing six months' salaries.

Money on Speeches.

Another pleasant method of spending public funds involves the distribution of speeches made in the House and Senate. Congress employs a considerable force to fold these gems of eloquence as they come from the printshop. Millions of speeches thus are sent through the mails. For folding expenses alone during the fiscal year 1931, the House spent $13,854 and the Senate $11,149, a total just topping $25,000. Or, rather, the money for doing this work came from the public Treasury.

So great was the volume of material franked out by Congress and Government departments through the mails last year that the postmaster at Washington, handling all this free material, was arbitrarily credited with receipts of about $4,000,000 as an estimate of what it would have cost to pay postage on the matter at regular rates.

88 UNITS TO MARCH IN BIG PARADE TODAY

versity R. O. T. C. members will be seen in the third division. This includes the St. John's College Cadets. Maj. William H. Hobson, of Georgetown University, will be the marshal of this division.

Legion posts, veteran and patriotic organizations, with Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries as marshal, will complete the line of march. In this division the American War Mothers will carry the American service flag for the first time in a parade. The flag is usually flown from the Capitol dome on Armistice Day.

In the reviewing stand with the President and other officials will be Brig. Gen. John Ross Delafield, commander in chief of the Military Order of the World War, and Maj. Edwin S. Bettelheim, who has been in active charge of arrangements.

Traffic will not be permitted on the parade route after 1:45 o'clock. Street car traffic on Pennsylvania avenue between Fifteenth street and the Peace Monument will be suspended after 1:55 o'clock. North and south bound cars will be permitted to cross the Avenue when they will not interfere with the parade. Buses also will be rerouted after 1:50 o'clock.

Five hundred police will be assigned to the parade area. They will be in charge of Assistant Superintendent E. W. Brown, Inspectors O. T. Davis, A. J. Headley and T. R. Bean.

Stands to accommodate 25,000 spectators are being erected on Pennsylvania avenue, Fifteenth street and Constitution avenue. General admission charges will be 50 cents and $1, while reserve sections will be $1 and $2. Children will be admitted to the stands at half price. The District Bicentennial Commission is handling the reservations.

The President will not issue a proclamation making the day a half-holiday, it was announced yesterday, but Government department heads will be given orders to use discretion in dismissing workers if they can be spared.

The city is being gaily bedecked with United States and Bicentennial flags, and all business house proprietors and residents have been asked to display flags. Street cars will carry small American flags.

The Army Day celebration will be concluded with a banquet tonight at the Mayflower Hotel.

FILIPINO FREEDOM FAVORED BY JAPAN

one commentator said. Another asserted it was "hard to believe" the same man was responsible for the Stimson Philippine views and for "the Secretary's recent idealistic letter to Senator Borah."

February 24 Secretary Stimson wrote to Senator Borah a letter in which he said the whole fabric of international understanding in the Far East was threatened by the hostilities between Japan and China. The letter was interpreted as notifying Japan that she was in China in violation of treaties. It affirmed in effect that the United States would not recognize any settlement based on military force.

Lucretia Mott School Observes Bicentennial

The American's Creed Crusaders, of the Lucretia Mott School, last night, incident to the George Washington Bicentennial celebration, conducted patriotic exercises in the school auditorium partcipated in by various classes and school units under direction of Miss Mary E. Shorter, principal, and Miss M. E. Smith, chairman of the program committee.

The principal address was made by William Tyler Page, author of "The American Creed" and former clerk of the House of Representatives. Others who spoke were Garnet C. Wilkinson, first assistant superintendent of schools, and Leon L. Perry, supervising principal.

HouseGroup Backs Mount Vernon Bill

Negotiations for Federal Control of Estate Provided For.

Negotiations with the Mount Vernon Ladies Association, looking to Federal purchase of Mount Vernon, are contemplated in a bill favorably reported yesterday by the House lands committee.

The bill, drawn by Representative Allen T. Treadway (Republican), Massachusetts, instructs the Secretary of the Interior to confer with the Mount Vernon owners, learn the terms of purchase, and whether the women would continue in charge under Federal supervision.

Mrs. Alice H. Richards, regent of the organization, was reported opposed to the legislation. Representative Treadway declared private ownership of George Washington's home "incongruous" with the memorial parkway and the $5,000,000 Federal highway to Mount Vernon.

MORE TOKYO TROOPS DISPATCHED TO ASIA

Total Japanese Strength in Manchuria and Korea Is Put at 50,000.

Tokyo, April 5 (A.P.).—Japan's military strength in Manchuria and Korea was ordered reinforced by the equivalent of one division today to bring her total strength on the northeastern Asiatic Continent to about 50,000 troops.

Among several reasons for the decision as announced by the war office was the "promotion of a firm foundation for the new state of Manchoukuo," which was formed recently under Henry Pu-Yi, former Manchu boy emperor.

The garrisons in Manchuria and Korea will be strengthened by about one brigate each under the proposal of the minister of war, Gen. Sadao Araki, as approved by the cabinet and emperor.

Part of the eighth and tenth Japanese divisions already in Manchuria will be joined by the rest of their outfits, replacing the twentieth division and the thirty-ninth brigade, which will go back to regular posts in Korea.

The headquarters of the eighth division is at Hirosaki, Northern Hondo, under Lieut. Gen. Glichi Nichi, and will embark April 14 for Darien.

The tenth is at Himegi and will embark under Lieut. Gen. Jusuke Hi Rose for Darien on April 15.

Aside from aiding Manchoukuo, as the Pu-Yi regime is called, the purpose of the replacement was given thus by the war office:

"To facilitate command of troops, to suppress banditry over an extensive area; to eradicate the peace disturbing influence of Chang Sueh-Liang, the former controlling war lord of Manchuria; to protect 1,000,000 Japanese subjects in Manchuria; and to ensure the peace of Manchuria's 30,000,000 population."

Meanwhile news dispatches from Manchuria told of fresh engagements between Japanese and Chinese "irregulars" in eastern Kirin Province, bordering on Korea and Soviet Russia.

General Jiro Tamon was reported to have captured Fengcheng in that province, and preparing to make his headquarters there. Only a few days ago the Japanese captured Nungan, nipping one of the serious threats of Pu-Yi.

History of Electricity Traced in Ripley's Talk

Electricity's ever-increasing possibilities were outlined last night before the Kilowatt Club of the Potomac Electric Power Co. by Charles M. Ripley, General Electric Co. lecturer, of Schenectady, N. Y., in the local company's auditorium.

Mr. Ripley traced the history of electricity since its discovery, sketching the evolution of its use for every conceivable kind of task. He predicted that the coming years would see the employment of electricity for purposes not even imagined now.

'Fatty' Arbuckle to Wed Addie McPhail, Actress

Hollywood, April 5 (A.P.).—The engagement of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, former film comedian, and Addie McPhail, screen actress, is announced.

They plan to marry "as soon as it is legally possible." Mrs. McPhail's divorce from Lindsay McPhail, songwriter, becomes final June 12. Arbuckle's former wife, Doris Deane, recently married Elmer S. Hartz, banker of Beverly Hills.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—Philip J. Vogel, vice president and a director of the International Acceptance Bank, Inc., died last night. He was 66. His death was announced today by officials of the bank, of which he had been a senior executive since its formation in 1921 by the late Paul M. Warburg.

He had come to the United States two years earlier, following a merger of the Anglo-Austrian Bank in London, of which he had been manager since 1907. He was born in Frankfort, Germany.

Mr. Vogel was an expert in credits, gold movements and other features of international banking. He was particularly active last summer in working out arrangements with other American banks for dealing with the European financial crisis. His widow, Elizabeth Vogel, survives.

Vagrant, in Jail, Admits He Held Up Fast Train

Los Angeles, April 5 (A.P.).—Police announced today Jesse Clyde Rumsey, 48, serving six months in jail for vagrancy, had confessed he staged a robbery of the Lark, Southern Pacific fast train, just after it left San Francisco for Los Angeles March 26.

"Yes, you've got me," muttered Rumsey after being confronted with the letter he had written to an uncle here. Detectives said it implicated Rumsey in the holdup.

Noted Sculptor's Widow Dies.

LARGE NUMBER TRY POST'S RECORD TEST

Stations, Open Daily, Give Free Auditions in Contest for Valuable Prizes.

Does your voice register well? It's easy to find out by going to any of the "home recording" stations of The Washington Post, where you will be given a free audition on one of the new type records.

Through arrangements with the RCA-Victor Co., 5,000 of these uncanny little discs are available to readers of this newspaper, without the slightest obligation, and in addition they may share in the distribution of $700 worth of valuable prizes.

You simply apply for the record and with the assistance of an expert you talk, sing, or play your favorite musical instrument before a sensitive microphone. Your efforts are recorded on the disc by means of the RCA Radio combination sets, which are equipped for home recording.

Records Given Contestants.

The record will then immediately be played and you will have the indescribable sensation of hearing the faithful reproduction of your own voice speaking to you. Each record will be submitted to a committee of judges and after it is appropriately rated it will be mailed to you for you to keep.

The contest, itself, is divided into a section for amateurs and one for professionals. Each person will compete in his own division for the prizes listed elsewhere on this page.

Recording stations, listed below, are open daily during the regular store hours, until 6 p. m. on Saturday, April 23.

Should your record show unusual merit The Washington Post reserves the right to hold it until the conclusion of the contest. The winners in each class will be picked according to the quality of registry, whether it be of vocal or instrumental nature.

The contest is open to every one. Children, of course, must be accompanied by their parents when applying for records.

Duplicate prizes will be awarded in event of ties and in every case the decision of the judges will be final.

List of Recording Stations.

Free auditions on the "home recording" records will be given at the following stations.

Pallbearers for the funeral will be Thomas P. Bones, J. F. M. Bowie, Charles T. Bassett, W. A. Morgan, Robert Lamberton, F. K. Biggs, T. Lamar Jackson, Col. Lennard Mitchell and Dr. Sterling V. Mead.

Honorary pallbearers will be Angus W. McLean, former governor of North Carolina; Maj. Gen. J. E. Fechet, Charles H. Tompkins, Harry Wardman, William L. Radcliffe and Joseph Hunter.

Group Asks Data On Tax Exemption

Columbia Heights Citizens Also Urge Funds for Free Textbooks.

A resolution requesting Congress to order compilation of a report on all property in the District exempt from taxation was adopted last night at the meeting of the Columbia Heights Citizen's Association, in New Amsterdam Hotel.

The resolution also asked that the laws or charters under which properties were tax free should be included in the report. In another resolution the association asked Congress to provide an appropriation for free textbooks for the 11,000 night school students here.

A motion approving the extension program of public library branches as planned by the library's board of trustees was voted favorably. Guest speaker at the meeting was former Representative Charles I. Stengle, who outlined events which remain on the Bicentennial calendar.

Funeral services for James H. Ellsworth, 80, retired official of the Manhattan Laundry, and once sergeant-at-arms at the Capitol, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Chambers' parlors under the direction of Lafayette Masonic Lodge.

Mr. Ellsworth, whose home was at 3027 Fifteenth street northwest, died Sunday at Sibley Hospital. He was an active official of the Manhattan Laundry until his retirement last fall.

He was born in South Bend, Ind., and was educated at George Washington University and later at Columbia University Law School. He will be buried in Rock Creek Cemetery beside his wife, Mrs. Margaret C. Ellsworth, who died in 1896.

HUGHES AT FUNERAL OF DR. A. P. BRIGHAM

Noted Geologist Was His Schoolmate at Colgate; Cremation Set.

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes yesterday attended funeral services for his schoolmate of the '70s at Colgate University, Dr. Albert Perry Brigham, noted geologist and geographer, who died last Thursday.

The services, held at 2400 Sixteenth street northwest, where Dr. Brigham lived, were conducted by Dr. Henry Phipps Ross, of the Society of Friends, and in addition to the Chief Justice, were attended by a group of fellow faculty members of Dr. Brigham at Colgate, Herbert Putnam, Librarian of Congress, and other associates.

A private service for members of Dr. Brigham's family was held preceding the service attended by the group of Friends and was conducted by the Rev. Ze Barney T. Phillips, chaplain of the Senate.

Brief services were conducted at Fort Lincoln Cemetery by the Rev. Gove G. Johnson, pastor of the National Baptist Memorial Church. The body was placed in a vault, pending cremation. At Dr. Brigham's request, the ashes will be scattered from a mountain top.

Among those attending the services were Dr. Victor S. Clark, of the Carnegie and Brookings Institutes; Gen. John McAuley Palmer; a large delegation from the Library of Congress where Dr. Brigham had been doing research work, Dr. Harold O. Whitnall, of Colgate, heading the delegation from that institution.

Dr. Brigham's home was in Hamilton, N. Y. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Flora W. Brigham, and a daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Roth.

NICHOLAS LUQUER EXPIRES AT HOME

Father of Architect Dies at 95; Funeral Will Be Tomorrow.

Nicholas Luquer, father of Lynch Luquer, socially prominent architect, died at the age of 95 yesterday at the Luquer home, 1701 New Hampshire avenue northwest.

A member of the Metropolitan Club and of the board of trustees of St. John's Episcopal Orphange, Mr. Luquer was well known in social circles several decades ago, but had led a retired life of late years.

Born in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1837, Mr. Luquer was graduated from Columbia University in 1858. Possessed of considerable means, he devoted a great deal of his life to music, of which he was an ardent devotee. Mr. Luquer was one of the founders of the famous Mendelssohn Glee Club.

After a number of years spent in Europe, Mr. Luquer came to Washington during the '90s, and established a permanent residence here. He had been connected with the affairs of St. John's Episcopal Church since his establishment here.

Surviving are his son, Lynch Luquer, of 1701 New Hampshire avenue northwest, and a daughter, Mrs. William Allen Hayes, of the Connecticut Avenue Apartments. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at St. John's at 11 o'clock. The body will then be sent to Brooklyn for burial in Greenwood Cemetery there.

Gay Paree Shut Tight To Protest Play Taxes

Paris, April 5 (U.P.).—A great part of the famous night life of gay Paree closed up tonight in protest against the failure of the government to reduce amusement taxes. The "strike" darkened all theaters, motion picture shows, music halls, cabarets and circuses throughout France.

Of all the gay places in the capital only the two state-supported theaters, the Opera Comique and the Odeon remained open. The others tightly padlocked their doors and some of them made huge padlocks which were nailed to the entrances to attract the attention of the public.

RITES FOR GEN. GODFREY.

Burial in Arlington Yesterday of Custer Massacre Survivor.

A survivor of the Custer Massacre, Brig. Gen. Edward Settle Godfrey, who died Friday at his home in Cookstown, N. J., was buried yesterday afternoon in Arlington Cemetery with full military honors. Services were held in Fort Myer Chapel at 2 o'clock. The following were honorary pallbearers: Maj. Gen. Edward F. McGlachlin, jr., Maj. Gen William J. Snow, Maj. Gen. Charles D. Rhodes, Maj. Gen. George H. Cameron, Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Slavens, and Col. Henry H. Sheen, all retired; Col. C. T. Rizer, Lieut. Col. Robert M. Danford, Capt. Robert G. Carter and Graham H. Powell.

Gen. Godfrey served in both the Civil and the Indian wars. He was decorated with the medal of honor for bravery in leading his command against the hostile Nez Perce tribe in 1877.

COL. GRAHAM FITCH DEAD AT AGE OF 72

Retired Army Officer Had Lived Here Since 1914; Noted as Writer.

Col. Graham Denby Fitch, retired United States Army officer, died yesterday in Walter Reed Hospital. He was 72 years old.

A native of Chicago, Ill., Col. Fitch had been a resident of Washington since 1914. He was educated in Germany and France, and was graduated from the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., in 1882. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Fifth Artillery, and later was transferred to the Engineer Corps.

In 1884 Col. Fitch was appointed a first lieutenat, and, after receiving promotions to various ranks, was made a lieutenant colonel in 1908. He retired at his own request in 1912, after 30 years of service. He was placed on active duty again in 1917 and two years later was promoted to a colonel. He was relieved from duty in 1922.

Col. Fitch was a member of the University Club of New York, the Cosmos Club and the Society of Mayflower Descendants. His son, Graham N. Fitch, a lieutenant, junior grade, in the United States Navy, was killed when the submarine S-4 sank in 1927.

Col. Fitch served throughout the Santiago campaign in Cuba and for a number of years was in charge of river and harbor improvements throughout the country. He served at the Army War College and as chief of the translation section, Military Intelligence.

Prominent in literary circles, Col. Fitch was awarded first honors for his essay on "The Fourth Dimension," published in 1909 in the Scientific American.

Surviving Col. Fitch is his widow, Mrs. Hermione King Fitch, with whom he lived at 2400 Twentieth street northwest.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

WET PLANK WARNING IS ISSUED BY CANNON

Strong Dry Opposition Is Cited to Both Parties; Newspapers Hit.

Newark, N. J., April 5 (A.P.).—Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, tonight warned both political parties that the inclusion of wet planks in their presidential platforms would arouse dry opposition.

Addressing the Newark conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, he called upon President Hoover, as the probable Republican nominee, to demand that his party reject proposals for a wet declaration.

The churchman also accused newspapers of large cities of printing "false and vicious wet propaganda" and said, "Ignorance, bias, prejudice or malice, or all combined, sit enthroned in their editorial chairs."

"In 1920, 1924 and 1928 efforts were made to insert dry and wet planks in the Democratic national platform," he said. "I personally opposed either wet or dry planks—as vigorously as I could, and at all three conventions neither wet nor dry planks, but law enforcement planks, were adopted.

"There is no question but that the effort will again be made to insert a wet plank in the Democratic platform, and I greatly fear that, unless dry Democratic leaders flatly declare that they demand a law enforcement plank, they will not vote for a wet plank, and will carry the fight on that issue to the convention floor, and that they will not support a candidate running on a wet plank, that there will be a wet plank in the Democratic platform and a candidate named by the wet leadership running on that wet plank.

"Should the wet leadership succeed in writing their wet plank into the Democratic platform and dictate the nomination of a wet candidate, then the same group which repudiated the wet Tammany Smith leadership in 1928 will repudiate vigorously and I believe effectively similar leadership in 1932."

BIAS HALTS NAMING OF FORTESCUE JURY

"That isn't the law," Darrow interrupted.

Judge George S. Davis ruled he would settle the question later.

Ulrich also by his questioning brought into the case talk of friction between the United States Navy and residents of Hawaii. He asked prospective jurors if they had close friends in the Navy. The prosecutor also asked if the fact that Mrs. Fortescue was a woman would influence their verdict.

Mrs. Fortescue remained reserved today and spoke only to her sister, Mrs. J. L. Ripley, of New York; her brother, Robert Bell, and her attorneys.

Massie, however, relaxed somewhat from the strain he was under yesterday at the opening of the trial. He stood in the hall during intermissions and smoked cigarettes, as did Jones and Lord.

The prosecution and defense will continue with their peremptory challenges tomorrow.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Wilbur yesterday said that the report of Seth W. Richardson, Assistant Attorney General, on conditions in Hawaii substantiated his opinion "that the affairs of the Hawaiian Islands have been conducted on as satisfactory a basis as they are in most other parts of our country."

The people of Hawaii, he said, average high in law observance and in capacity for self-government.

"The specialized situation needs some special handling," he said, "but the ability and character of the citizens of Hawaii give assurance that a trying situation will be adequately met."

The governor of the Hawaiian Islands is appointed by the President and reports to the Secretary of the Interior.

HOOVER SUPPORTED BY LEGION ON BONUS

dress before the American Legion convention in Detroit, the legion had "consistently supported that position." He added:

"The first duty of every citizen of the United States is to build up and sustain the credit of the United States Government. Such an action would irretrievably undermine it."

Legion officials earlier yesterday made another report to the President, Mark McKee, of Detroit, director of the legion's drive to find employment for 1,000,000 men, said he told the Chief Executive 442,000 jobs had been found and that the campaign would continue.

Earlier, Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, told newspapermen he believed veterans as a group now were in a more favorable economic condition. He said employment among them as a class increased 10 per cent last month, and that requests for hospitalization had decreased except in the larger cities.

Girl Sues Phil Plant For $350,000 Balm

New York, April 5 (U.P.).—Philip Morton Plant, famous for two reasons—because he has $30,000,000 and because he used to be Constance Bennett's husband—was slapped with another $350,000 suit today by Margie Finley, musical comedy actress, who says he jilted her.

Miss Finley, statuesque and redhaired, was in seclusion. Her attorneys set forth that Mr. Plant escorted her "to social functions and night clubs" and finally, in October, 1930, refused to keep his promise to marry her. Plant's lawyers submitted a general denial.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—Hollywood talkies have stimulated the use of American slang in England, Adolphe Menjou said upon his return from Europe today with Mrs. Menjou, the former Katherine Carver.

NORRIS MEN LOSING IN WISCONSIN VOTE

Democratic committeeman, who fostered the unpledged slate, led his candidates with but 6,403 votes, compared with 13,365 for Broughton. The vote in 260 precincts:

Conservatives, 63,612; Progressives, 52,607.

Roosevelt Democrats, 68,169; uninstructed Democrats, 25,008.

The Progressives, steered by Gov. Philip La Follette and his brother, Senator Robert M. La Follette, obtained 9,109 votes for their slate, compared with 8,421 for the conservatives, according to first returns. The vote was scattered but represented both urban and rural sections.

NEW YORK SWAMPS FRANCE CANDIDATES

Mills and Straus Are Elected as Delegates; Roosevelt Men Lead in Buffalo.

Albany, N. Y., April 5 (A.P.).—Hoover delegates to the national Republican convention, among them Secretary Ogden L. Mills of the Treasury, decisively defeated supporters of the presidential candidacy of Joseph I. France, of Maryland, in one of the few primary contests in New York State today.

In the sole Democratic contest in the State, acknowledged, although unpledged supporters of the candidacy of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt set up a three-to-one lead on the basis of early returns from the Forty-first (Buffalo) District. The Republicans were selecting their 97 and Democrats their 94 delegates to the two Chicago conventions.

Simeon J. Beckerman and Dr. Bernard Lazarus, of the France camp, were defeated by approximately ten to one in the Twentieth Congressional District, where they had entered in a fight against Secretary Mills and Herbert M. Straus.

The vote in the Twentieth Congressional District with all voting places tabulated was Lazarus, 105; Beckerman, 102; Mills, 1,883; Straus, 1,866.

The Republican organization slate was without opposition elsewhere in New York State except in Brooklyn, where two regular candidates scored in a wide margin over a pair of Independents. The "regulars" in the Seventh Congressional District (Brooklyn), were George Dagher and Irving Lipkowitz, who opposed Nathan Cohen and P. V. Landi.

In this contest 25 voting places out of 78 gave Dagher 702; Lipkowitz, 646; Cohen, 71; Landi, 57.

Beckerman in a statement charged "gorilla methods" and "corruption."

"The distinguished Secretary of the Treasury," said Beckerman, "was parading through the District with a motorcycle escort urging action."

Virginia Boundary Plan Is Opposed

Low-Water Mark on Potomac Fought by 2 Members of Commission.

New opposition to Representative Howard W. Smith's proposals for fixing the low-water mark of the Potomac as the Virginia-District boundary, developed at hearings yesterday before the House District streets, avenues and traffic subcommittee.

Charles W. Eliot 2d, and T. S. Settle, of the National Park and Planning Commission, asked that the commission proposed under the Smith bill be instructed to fix the high-water mark, before reclamation operations, as the boundary.

AGENTS COMPILING DRINKING DIRECTORY

ment, which begins, "Now, you take New York, f'instance."

Last night there was a sensational raid on the Chimes, one of the most elaborate of the city's luxurious liquor shops. In addition to stripping the club of its furnishings and ornate decorations, the agents fingerprinted the employes. And it was indicated that the Chimes raid was merely the opening gun in a vigorous campaign.

The agents who began their map-making business today, are to report to Woodcock not only the location of the speakeasy, but its characteristics—whether it has a peephole through which customers can be inspected or whether, as thousands of them are, they are as easy of access as the old-time saloon. The agents will also note what class of trade is done, its hours of doing business, and the quality of its patrons.

Neither Director Woodcock nor Prohibition Administrator Andrew McCampbell expect any help from New York's 19,000 policemen. In fact, they have not requested assistance from any of Mulrooney's men.

Woodcock, in New York for a long conference with Campbell and United States Attorney Medalie, said today that he "doesn't believe in drives" because such affairs savor of sensationalism.

In the speakeasies, today, the general comment on the map-making industry seemed to be that it was a good idea.

"Maybe they could sell them maps to strangers," one barkeeper said.

REV. A. J. WILDER, S. T. B., who will be instituted as rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, New Hampshire avenue and V street, by Bishop James E. Freeman at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning. Bishop Freeman will preach and there will be special music.

3 More States Claimed For Roosevelt by Farley

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—Assurances that the South Dakota, Nebraska and Michigan delegates to the Democratic national convention will be for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt have been received by James A. Farley, chairman of the New York Democratic State committee, he announced tonight.

He expressed a belief that the 54 delegates to be picked in Nebraska and Michigan next week will all be instructed for Roosevelt.

Good Clothes

So many women are returning to the idea that superior chic and fine workmanship are the best possible investment.

Good clothes can be worn happily for so much longer. They do so much for one. Are better cut, more flattering, more satisfying in every detail.

Now, especially, they are sound economy, because fine things have come down in price considerably more than those of lesser quality. Erlebacher clothes are 20% to 35% lower than ever before . . . their degree of quiet elegance and distinction as pronounced as it has always been!

Democrats of Roanoke Name Comer and Fox

Roanoke, Va., April 5 (A.P.).—J. W. Comer, incumbent, and Charles D. Fox, former mayor, were chosen by Democratic voters in a primary here today as party nominees for two seats on city council which became vacant on September 1.

Voting was unusually light, with none of the four candidates making an active campaign. Only 2,335 voters went to the polls.

Goeble Balked in Record Effort by Oxygen Failure

Detroit, April 5 (A.P.).—Failure of his oxygen supply at 17,200 feet probably cost Col. Arthur C. Goebel a new altitude record for Diesel-powered airplanes in an attempt made at the National Aircraft Show here this afternoon.

He said lack of oxygen left him so weak that he abandoned further effort to raise the record of 21,300 feet set recently by Ruth Nichols.

AFTER FIFTEEN YEARS.

Fifteen years ago today the United States engaged in the World War. Military organizations will march down Pennsylvania avenue today in recognition of the anniversary. The National Capital, if not the Nation, will be reminded of the United States Army and the part it played in Europe.

Cherishing peace and friendship with all nations, and void of offense toward any, the United States was compelled to defend its rights against aggressors who had become insane because of their deadly struggle in Europe. The rights of the United States were those that appertained to all free peoples, and in this sense the United States fought to make the world safe for democracy.

President Wilson received the wholehearted support of the American people during the war. What he asked for he obtained. He conducted the war with masterly skill and foresight, gradually but surely undermining the morale of the enemy as the allied armies turned his warnings into realities.

The President correctly interpreted the will of the American people when he refused to impose an indemnity upon the beaten enemy and refused to demand a share of the enemy's territory. The allies adopted a different course, which has embroiled them and the United States in difficulties ever since.

Mr. Wilson clung to the belief that it was necessary to set up an international organization capable of preventing war by united action. This praiseworthy ideal could not be realized in full because of the peculiar structure of the United States Government under the Constitution. The President, in pursuing the ideal, convinced himself that the covenant of the League of Nations and the Constitution of the United States could be reconciled; and he even became convinced that if it were necessary to change either in order to reconcile them, the Constitution should yield to the covenant. The people of the United States did not share his views.

No one in any country could foresee the consequences of the war to their full extent. Statesmen are still unable to accomplish this feat. Mutual recriminations, national intrigues, and intrigues by groups of nations have been common, and governments have narrowly escaped the stigma of dishonor in their dealings over reparations, debts, and territorial acquisitions.

The two empires which antagonized the United States have disappeared. Germany survives, but is crippled and in need of aid. Austro-Hungary is one with Nineveh and Tyre. The nationalities which were bound together under the Hapsburgs are now roughly grouped as separate nations, but their economic bonds were destroyed with their political bonds, and the stronger nations of Europe are now striving to work out a plan whereby those nations can cooperate economically for their mutual preservation. Immense losses in all the countries that were at war, and even among neutrals, have brought about a world depression which sorely distresses the United States, in spite of its unimpaired strength and limitless resources. All civilization has been thrown out of gear as a result of the war. The disturbance affects the mental attitude of peoples and makes it extremely difficult to devise and execute plans for recovery. In this blessed land the spirit of cooperation is almost overwhelmed, and throughout the world there is lack of confidence in men and nations. Crime and immorality undermine the virtue of millions who have not possessed the strength of character necessary to pass safely through the period of universal disorder.

President Hoover is doggedly laboring to restore the United States to normal conditions. The problems that confront him are more numerous and more complex than those of any other period in the country's history. He is better qualified to deal with them than any other man in the United States. But he is entitled to the cooperation of all citizens, without regard to party, while he works for the common welfare. His plans are subject, of course, to examination and improvement by all who are called upon to collaborate, but when public opinion fixes its seal of approval upon his plans they should not be obstructed by any man for political, selfish, sectional or personal reasons. Confidence in the President of the United States at this juncture is an indispensable factor in restoring public confidence in the restoration of national prosperity. Americans are not called upon to mend and repair all the havoc of war throughout the world. They can only do their share; and they can best help the world by joining hands with the President in repairing the United States.

WASTING FEDERAL OIL.

Three years ago President Hoover withdrew Government oil lands from exploitation on the ground that private interests were producing more oil than the country could use. His order forbidding the lease of Federal oil lands to prospectors was widely hailed as a move against overproduction and waste. The President was upheld in his conservation policy by the Supreme Court.

Now Secretary Wilbur has come forth with an order throwing 180,000,000 acres of the public domain open to oil prospectors. Any one who will agree to the unit operation method of development may secure a lease and proceed to exploit these valuable resources which are held in trust for the people.

This reversal of policy is astonishing to the whole country. The need for conservation in 1929 was no more acute than it is at present. Since the Federal lands were withdrawn from exploitation vast new reservoirs of oil have been tapped on private property. The shut-in production today is greater than ever before. The industry is still in distress because of overproduction. Why, under these circumstances, should the Government contribute to the chaos by throwing open the public domain to prospectors?

The House of Representatives recently voted to put an embargo on petroleum imports to relieve the domestic producers of foreign competition. Now the Government proposes to enter into competition with the domestic industry. If both of these measures were allowed to stand the Government would be committed to the ridiculous policy of trying to exhaust the American oil supply as soon as possible. It would be difficult to devise a combination of circumstances more conducive to the early ruin of the United States' irreplaceable oil resources.

Oil prices are depressed. The great oil companies continue to hold 369,388,000 barrels of crude petroleum in storage at a high cost. There is no conceivable need for exploitation of the Government's oil lands at this time. Some progress has been made toward stabilization of the industry in recent years, but overproduction is still a grave problem. Independent producers in the Middle West complain that they are entirely shut out of the market by the enormous flow of oil from new fields. Why does the Government complicate this situation by turning on a new flood of oil? The public is entitled to an explanation of this move to dissipate an immensely valuable asset when prices are low and the need for curtailment of oil production is still acute.

MOTOR HIGHWAY VALUES.

Road building has become such a popular modern fetich that any word of criticism is a jarring note. At the present time when the inherent benefits to be derived from more and better highways is supplemented by the urgent need of work for unemployed there appears little excuse for questioning such improvements. Recent intelligent surveys, however, while by no means decrying the many advantages of good roads, have disclosed that some roads simply serve for the most part to replace existing transportation service and that others, while facilitating traffic, actually depreciate instead of increasing the value of adjacent property.

Highways that are improved, as a rule, follow the existing rights of way of the old wagon roads between towns, narrow and often passing through the main streets of villages. A large proportion of the improvements thus made, primarily to facilitate motor traffic, are not well adapted to that purpose. A narrow motor highway today offers all the disadvantages of a railway to those who live along it. The road, with its noise, smells and dangers, is lined with billboards, refreshment stands and gasoline stations, which attract loafers and drive residents away. Real estate values suffer.

How this can be avoided has been amply demonstrated in Westchester County, N. Y. The Westchester parkway system, created and administered by a nonpolitical, nonpaid commission, shows how arteries of travel, flanked by protecting areas, can be made to create and increase values instead of destroying them. Starting with the improvement of marshy, unattractive ground, the Bronx River Parkway has gradually been extended mile after mile northward from New York City to become one of the finest drives in the world. On each side of the highway, built largely from waste land, are parks, foot and bridle paths, wading pools in summer and skating ponds in winter.

Extensive as the Westchester system of roads is, it is paying for itself by adding values to real estate. Not less than $1,000,000,000 has been added to the tax lists through these improvements. By controlling the immediately abutting property and entrances the highways offer attractive settings for residences. The original cost of such work naturally is more than the surfacing of an old wagon road, but instead of becoming an increasing burden it is one that is easily met by property that is appreciating in value.

In contrast to the Westchester plan Walter Prichard Eaton cites the case of Massachusetts, which is building a superhighway from the Boston city line to Worcester. He questions the advantage of spending $100,000 per mile for this four-track road, which will merely develop 50-mile-an-hour truck traffic at the expense of present railroad facilities. He finds that to get free of Boston suburbs the highway will ruin several miles of residential and business property. It creates no new values along its sides, but when lined with the usual highway slums will give rise to dangers and depreciation.

Certainly not all road improvements can be undertaken on a scale to include parking and control of abutting property. But there are many localities where the increased original cost may well be considered a good investment, not only from the standpoint of beautification, but because of the practical and permanent benefits to be derived from the increased values created.

ARMY AND NAVY TRANSPORTS.

Only one economy measure of any importance has been brought forward by the House committee to which was assigned the task of cutting down Federal expenditures. The committee recommends that the Army and Navy transport service be abolished. Savings from this source may run as high as $1,000,000.

The principle involved in this recommendation is more important than the prospective saving. The Government is spending large sums to develop a merchant marine adequate to carry American commerce to all parts of the world and to serve as a second line of defense in case of war. Yet both the War and Navy Departments compete with this merchant fleet by transporting their own supplies.

Maintenance of Army and Navy transport fleets for the single purpose of transporting supplies is a gross waste. That service can be rendered more efficiently and at less cost by the merchant fleet, which is privately owned. The only excuse for preserving these transport fleets is to provide members of Congress with transportation for themselves and families. Junket trips on these Government vessels make pleasant vacations for congressmen, but taxpayers can not afford that luxury in these hard times. By all means let Congress abolish the transport systems and turn the business over to the merchant marine.

Selection of the Democratic keynoter and permanent chairman simply indicates that the Democratic national committee believes in balancing their political budget.

Those brilliant remarks about "reflation" that are heard on Capitol Hill suggest that a few members of Congress have missed their calling in life.

Secretary Stimson will not talk war debts when he goes to Europe. He will let the other fellows do all the talking.

The House celebrated April Fool's Day by passing the tax bill. But every day is a holiday in the Senate.

PRIMITIVE MAN

From the New York Evening Post.

We usually think of primitive man as a creature of glowing vitality. Climbing trees, eating nature's foods, getting vigorous exercise in dodging saber-toothed tigers, with his skin constantly exposed to the sun and the air, how could he help being healthy? "No wonder," says Dr. Logan Clendening in the Forum, "he was a sight for sore eyes." But Dr. Clendening hastens to add, it is well that he was, "because sore eyes were probably about the only kind that gazed on him." How do we know? We judge from the fact that ophthalmia is common among such primitive peoples as exist now, and from the further fact that colonial governments have had to combat trachoma in natives ever since the dawn of history. "There is no reason to suppose the natives did not have to combat it themselves before that dawn."

Nor were the primitive man's teeth a model of beauty. The most ancient skeletons or parts of skeletons which have been found indicate that primitive men suffered from pyorrhea. As for his skin, gloriously free of hampering and smothering garments, it was probably not free of itch mites—"primitive people as seen in side shows of today do a good deal of scratching, as even do the spectators"—and it certainly was not free of ulcerations. Primitive man is invariably depicted as having a luxuriant growth of hair, but mummies, which go back pretty far, are bald. Some of them have wigs.

Primitive man's feet, declares Dr. Clendening, "must have been simple torture to him. Stone bruises, thorns, infections and chilblains combined to put him in the mood to throw rocks at his feet so that they would hurt in a different way." Evidence of this pedal agony is supplied by the circumstance that as soon as sandals were invented they became popular.

Nor was primitive man a stranger to internal pangs. He had rheumatism. The oldest of human remains, the skeleton of Pithecanthropus erectus, which was discovered in Java and is supposed to have belonged to a creature who lived 500,000 years ago, exhibits signs of chronic rheumatism, osteo-arthritis, as do the skeletons in pre-Columbian mounds on our own continent.

So primitive man had his troubles. "But," exclaims Dr. Clendening ironically, "think of the resistances he developed! * * * think how he would shake off an infection, how few colds he would have, how little he would be troubled by the ravages of the microbes." Naturally, as long as men remain isolated, they have few infectious diseases, but when such a disease is introduced into a primitive community, it spreads irresistibly. "The natural life, the outdoor life, the activity and apparent health of the population in no way protect them from the infection, in no way confer on them any immunity."

THE VICIOUS CIRCLE.

Here's the simple lesson which the world today is learning,
The man who keeps from spending keeps another man from earning.

When a man to please his lady, buys a diamond-studded collar,
The men who shape such trinkets get a chance to earn a dollar.

When a woman goes out shopping, though at home her husband rages,
There's another woman somewhere glad to get her husband's wages.

If we practice self-denial 'gainst a dreaded rainy season,
There are children who will suffer for the very self-same reason.

If we've money and won't use it for our needs or our enjoyment,
We're just keeping other people from their regular employment.

We are living in a circle—on each other we're depending,
For each man who isn't earning there's a man who isn't spending.

Is the Bill Easier to Pay if the Lawyer Adds 10 Per Cent for Collecting It?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE man who consumes the goods pays every cent of the taxes. Every last cent.

Fortunately for his peace of mind, he doesn't realize what he is doing. He doesn't know he is paying taxes when he pays rent or buys a shirt or a can of beans or a lamp globe.

The fact that he doesn't realize it is bad for him and bad for the country.

Observe, for example, the result of the present income tax.

The tax was designed to penalize the rich—to break up big fortunes. Instead it makes the rich richer and the poor poorer.

How can it? Well, you are much like other men. Suppose you had a great income. You would think yourself entitled to every cent of it, wouldn't you? You would be full of wrath when the Government took a fourth of it. And you would say to yourself: "They can't make a goat of me. Somebody is going to pay for this."

And you would add the tax to the selling price of your product and thus get it back from the consumer.

That is what happens. Most of the big incomes come from business. And most of those who have big incomes have authority to fix prices.

The worst of it is that a tax added to the cost of a product is always increased. If a manufacturer adds 50 per cent to his production cost to insure himself a nice profit, the tax included in production costs is also made to pay a profit of 50 per cent. Thus the consumer not only pays the rich man's income tax, but also pays an additional 50 per cent penalty.

Figure it any way you will, every tax is added to costs and the consumer finally pays it. The big fellow merely collects it. To say that a few men pay all of the tax is silly. Does the man who passes the collection plate in church pay all of the preacher's salary?

But the few big men think they are supporting the Government and therefore feel entitled to boss it. The few who support the church or the club or the community think it is theirs by right of purchase.

Those who don't pay feel no interest. Where a man's treasure is, there will his heart be also. It isn't man's nature to value a thing unless it costs him something.

Since the consumer must foot the bill in any case, why not let him pay it direct, realize his responsibility and avoid the middleman's profit?

Test of Patriotism.

Kansas City Times.

The answer of the Veterans of Foreign Wars headquarters to President Hoover's warning against the new soldier bonus movement is not an answer at all in the existing circumstances. There is a national crisis. This crisis has forced additional and burdensome taxes. It has forced cuts in governmental costs. It must force rigid restraints in new Government commitments. Taxpayers protest, but they must pay. Government employes protest against cutting out activities, but the cutting must be done. Department heads say they can not further circumscribe their activities, but they must be circumscribed. And when groups demand of congress new and costly commitments they must be told the commitments must not be entered into now.

The merits of the veterans' movement, whatever they may be, can not be permitted to count in the present emergency, especially as the demand contemplates additional Government outlays of more than $2,000,000,000. It would be folly to make heroic sacrifices to balance the budget and then turn around and unbalance it at the demand of a group that professes patriotic loyalty to the country, but is not showing it in its present attitude.

Not Jeffersonian Democrats.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Many of the Democrats in Congress often have declared from the stump their adherence to the principles and sayings credited to Thomas Jefferson. In Congress many of them have not justified themselves to their constituencies in that particular.

For example, Jefferson knew something about taxation. Long ago he said: "To take from one because it is thought that his own industry and that of his fathers has acquired too much, in order to spare to others who or whose fathers have not exercised equal industry and skill, is to violate arbitrarily the first principle of association: the guarantee to every one of a free exercise of his industry and the fruits acquired by it."

In the present confused effort to find revenues Mr. Jefferson's followers have been strangely disregardful of this fundamental philosophy.

Some correspondents at Washington seem to believe there is an actual prospect of a bankrupt government giving the remaining $2,000,000,000 outright to clamoring ex-soldiers. Congress might do that before June, then adjourn for the national conventions and board up the doors and windows of the National Treasury, until it can be sold or leased to somebody who knows how to run it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Former Senator Owen Replies to Article on Congressional Mileage. Says Legislators Make Many Extra Trips at Their Own Expense.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The elaborate recital of the "profit" made by United States Senators out of mileage is doubly unjust, for it puts an undeserved reflection on all members of Congress and can only have for its purpose to show that Congress is selfishly inconsiderate of the rights of those who pay taxes; and the charge is without merit.

Senator Goldsborough is charged with making a few dollars in mileage paid him once to each session of Congress personally made, but he has to pay for many trips back and forth for which he is paid no mileage. So with the Senators from New York and other States, where frequent trips are possible. But Senators from more distant States, while making infrequent trips, more than consume the mileage paid them once a session. Senators from distant States are also compelled to bring their wives, children and dependent members of their families, and meet the added cost of changing domiciles, beside the trips to their States several times per annum for none of which does mileage pay.

It is against the public interest to discredit the members of the Senate or of Congress unless for actual wrongdoing.

ROBERT S. OWEN.

Plain Clothes Traffic Officers Would Have Helped to Prevent Deadly Bus Crash.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Following the deadly bus crash of April 1, there may be some objectors who will argue that the suggestion of plain-clothes officers to regulate traffic is worth giving a trial.

When the two buses met at the crossing the traffic-control lights were not to blame. It was the human element, as we say. Even with the hooded control lights, which I see mentioned, I don't think we can be sure that crossing crashes will not happen. You will still have the human element to deal with.

To regulate the human element in traffic the human element in plain-clothes must be on the job. It applies to reckless speed, stolen cars, hold-ups and everythng else, as well as street-crossing safety.

With a plain-clothes traffic force on the watch, the light crashers would either quit their tactics or be caught.

We would have been spared the fatalities and cripplings of the recent bus accident if our traffic were supervised by policemen in plain clothes.

GEORGE C. AKERS.

Suggestions From Readers Resulting From Bus Crash—Better Regulation Necessary.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I want to thank you for your editorial on the recent bus crash.

I have been driving an automobile for over a score of years, and my experience is that buses and trucks have absolutely no regard for smaller cars.

I do hope that your editorial will wake up the officials to take a stand such as will bring these larger vehicles to a point where they will respect the rights of others.

W. T. C.

Correspondent Discusses Several Subjects of Local and National Interest.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your paper becomes increasingly valuable to me. I find the news ample and accurate, while the editorial page is a constant delight.

Apropos of plain-clothes detectives to watch traffic: Last Saturday evening my wife and I had a difficult time reaching the safety zone at Seventeenth and K streets northwest. A bus took two feet; on the opposite side a woman driver took another foot, and in addition another woman driver cut straight across. All three reduced the safety zone at least one-third. Here is where a plain-clothes man could put in good work and collect some fines for an overburdened city.

I am wondering whether the press helps the police as much as it might. Every possible tip is given the underworld, especially in the Lindbergh baby case. Could not some way be devised whereby, in the public interest, secret moves to apprehend criminals can be withheld from this knowledge?

Speaking of Congress, would it not be better if members showed a disposition to make a little personal sacrifice toward meeting the deficit? Your exposure of overcharging in traveling expenses is in point. Then, nepotism is charged—relatives carried on the rolls who perform no service for the government. It comes with ill grace for men who frank their mail to impose a tax of one cent on every letter sent by ordinary citizens, a tax which works hardship upon the poor and upon business. It is difficult to believe that men who thus oppress others and exempt themselves are actuated by the highest motives of pure patriotism.

POTPOURRI.

More Strict Regulation.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I thank you for your editorial on the bus accident of Friday last. That there was just ground for complaint seems indicated by the fact, as reported, that the executives of the several bus companies have issued orders to their employes to drive with greater care.

Commercial trucks, too, must be brought within the law. They offend quite as much as buses do.

Large vehicles of any kind constitute a special problem. They must be watched with special care by the traffic police. Private citizens should aid the police by reporting ruthless drivers.

TEAR BOMBS USED IN OHIO MINE WAR

Adjutant General of Ohio Goes to Riot Scene After New Disorder.

Columbus, Ohio, April 5 (A.P.).—An outbreak of disorders in the Muskingum County mining district today sent Adjt. Gen. Frank D. Henderson to the area to study the situation.

Gen. Henderson left for Zanesville today, accompanied by Brig. Gen. Harold M. Bush, of Columbus. The adjutant general said he would leave Gen. Bush at Zanesville to act as observer in cooperation with Maj. R. H. Drake and Lieut. Charles Winans.

Muskingum County authorities reported to tear gas bombs today to break up a riot as the disorders spread to this district.

1,000 Strikers Repulsed.

The latest disorders occurred at the Muskingum Coal Mine. Some 1,000 men, said to be striking bituminous miners from the Cannesville and Perry County fields, invaded the property and stoned working miners. One man, Harry Paul, 40, was hit by a stone and suffered a skull fracture. His condition is serious. Sheriff William Curtis and his deputies drove off the invaders.

The first sign of trouble at the Muskingum mine came yesterday when 200 men from the adjoining fields urged the workingmen to strike. They refused, but the invaders returned today with reinforcements and opened a stone bombardment.

Wage Scale Difference.

The Muskingum miners are working at a wage scale much higher than that paid in the fields where strikes have occurred. They receive $4.50 for day work and a 50-cent bonus for loading, as compared with $3.50 and 38 cents, respectively, in the Hocking Valley, Sunday Creek and eastern Ohio fields.

The effect of the April 1 strike call of the United Mine Workers was felt in the Martins Ferry district today. While some mines were reported working with curtailed forces, three mines of the Rail & River Coal Co., at Stewart and Big Run, suspended operations because miners did not report for work. The strike situation in that district was reported quiet.

Pickets succeeded in closing two mines of the U. S. Coal Co. at Bradley, the Wolf Run mine at Bergholz and the Witch Hazel mine at Adena.

Marsh Reclamation Is Inspected by Duce

Rome, April 5 (U.P.).—Thousands of workmen raised their mudstained shovels in an hilarious salute to Premier Benito Mussolini today when the Fascist leader tramped through the pontine marshes which are being transformed into rich farm land after defying reclamation for hundreds of years.

The premier praised the laborers for retrieving valuable agricultural tracts, and voiced a hope that the project would greatly reduce Italy's unemployment. Mussolini pushed a button that started 102 tractors plowing the land from 12 to 20 inches deep.

Sellers, War Aid To Daniels, Dies

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Aeronautics Expert at Irvington, N. Y.

Irvington, N. Y., April 5 (A.P.).—Matthew Bacon Sellers, jr., technical assistant to Secretary of Navy Josephus Daniels in World War time, an outstanding authority on aeronautics and one of the sponsors of the Naval Air Service, died at his home in Ardsley Park today.

He was 63 years old. Death came from a heart attack, when Mr. Sellers was convelescing from pneumonia. The widow and two sons survive. He also leaves a sister, Miss Annabelle Sellers, and a brother, Samuel C. Sellers, both of Baltimore.

Mr. Sellers, during the war, passed on all naval inventions before they were accepted and put in use. He was an authority on aerodynamics and was credited with inventing the lightest plane to fly with the smallest horsepower engine ever developed. He discovered the list and drift on arched surfaces by means of the wind tunnel.

Alexandria Buses Accused by State

Company Must Answer Charge of Accepting Intrastate Fares.

Richmond, Va., April 5 (A.P.).—The State Corporation Commission today issued a rule against the Alexandria-Washington buses, charging the company with unlawfully hauling intrastate passengers.

A hearing has been set for 11 o'clock Monday. Previously a rule had been issued returnable April 19.

H. Lester Hooker, a member of the Corporation Commission, said there have been complaints that the company's buses, which operate under an interstate charter, have been taking on passengers in Alexandria and discharging them before reaching the District of Columbia.

2 WHO SHOT GERMAN GET DEATH IN RUSSIA

Terrorist Plot Charged by Prosecutor at Moscow Involves Poles.

Moscow (Wednesday), April 6 (U.P.).—Judas Stern and Sergei Vasiliev were sentenced to death today for shooting the German embassy counselor, Dr. Frita von Twardowski, in a terrorist plot designed to involve Soviet Russia in difficulties with European nations.

The death sentence for the two alleged anti-Soviet terrorists was demanded by Prosecutor Nicholas Krilenko in a dramatic midnight session of the trial.

The stubby, bullet-headed Krilenko attempted to show in his summary that there was a connection between terrorist acts in Russia beginning with assassinations in 1928 and continuing up to Stern's attack on the German embassy counselor.

The prosecutor also attempted to connect the defendants with anti-Soviet plots attributed to Poles.

NEWFOUNDLAND MOB ATTACKS PREMIER

After darkness set in there were threats to set fire to the building unless the prime minister resigned.

"The government must resign! The government must resign!" the mob shouted, keeping up a terrific din.

The district around the Assembly was still in the hands of the mob at a late hour and near-panic threatened in other parts of the city.

Prominent citizens were attempting to organize emergency volunteer guards, saying that the rioters had raided the liquor stores.

Catholic priests and Protestant clergymen made a dramatic appeal to the crowd. They stood on top of automobiles in the center of the military road and urged the rioters to disperse.

The rioting culminated three weeks of opposition attacks on the government. The opposition had demanded investigation of charges of malfeasance in public office, and misuse of public funds by the prime minister and the secretary of state. The charges had never been formally denied and resolutions were passed by public meetings last night protesting against the alleged blocking of the investigation.

The resolutions were presented to the House today and the rioting started when demonstrators who had taken part in a monster parade became impatient.

Prized Jewels May Be Shown Here.

Mexico City, April 5 (A.P.).—Newspapers here proposed tonight that jewels found in the now famous Mixtecan tomb at Monte Alban be taken to the United States for exhibition as a means of obtaining money to continue excavation in the ruins of the ancient Monte Alban fortress. It was suggested that the treasure be sent to New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington and other cities.

NEW WAY TO TREAT CANCER DISCOVERED

Finding Revealed at Dinner Given in Honor of Dr. Bloodgood.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—Discovery of new method of treating cancer where it is most insidious, in the lymph nodes or internal ducts of the body, was announced here tonight.

The announcement was made at a dinner held as a curtain-raiser for closer cooperation between American and European cancer workers.

The dinner was given by the editorial board of the American Journal of Cancer to Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, of Johns Hopkins University, internationally known cancer surgeon. Its purpose was to summarize American accomplishments in cancer on the eve of his sailing for Europe on a tour to lecture to continental scientists on American progress in this malady.

The lymph node discovery was described by Dr. Leon I. Menville, of New Orleans, X-ray expert. It was developed with the aid of Dr. I. N. Awe, of Tulane University.

They found a method of injecting thorium hypodermically so that for the first time so far as they can learn the lymph nodes become visible in X-rays. It worked so successfully on rats that they now are applying it to human beings.

Thorium is radioactive. In the lymph nodes this substance is expected, Dr. Menville said, to have a double effect. First, there is its own radioactivity; second, is the added radiation which thorium emits when bombarded with X-rays. Some, though not all, types of cancer cells are sensitive to X-rays and radium and can be destroyed with these rays.

Dr. Menville added that it is expected to use this X-ray discovery to see actual cancer cells spreading into the lymph nodes. This, if it proves a success, will be a great service to cancer sufferers, because surgeons must often guess at the lymph node spread and therefore to be on the safe side do extensive blind cutting.

Dr. Bloodgood was credited with saving thousands of persons from mutilation by his cancer discoveries. These were described by Dr. Dean Lewis, chief surgeon of Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Senate Stands Firm On Jonas Rejection

Foes' Chairman Choice Held Mistake by Burke

(Associated Press.)

James Francis Burke, counsel for the Republican national committee, yesterday expressed the opinion the meeting in Chicago on April 16 of the convention arrangements committee would select "a fine slate," but "would not make the mistake the Democrats did of selecting a permanent convention chairman."

Burke said he was "surprised" that the recent meeting of the Democratic arrangements committee had selected a permanent chairman as well as a keynoter, contending this was a violation of customary practice. The committee counsel conferred with President Hoover during the afternoon, saying afterward he had talked over "general political conditions."

Technicality Frees Suspect of Speeding

Because Edward Harriott, colored, was not charged with speeding, Judge Robert E. Mattingly yesterday dismissed in Police Court a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Harriott was stopped at Connecticut avenue and K street for alleged speeding by Policeman Ernest Fillmore, who noticed an empty holster in the tonneau. After lodging his prisoner in the station, Fillmore searched the car and found the pistol. He then dropped the speeding charge and placed only the weapon charge, and Judge Mattingly held that this wiped out the cause for the arrest and he therefore dismissed the case.

FINLANDERS REJOICE AS PROHIBITION ENDS

Crowds Besiege Shops to Buy Liquor After 12 Years of Dry Regime.

Helsingfors, Finland, April 5 (A.P.). Restaurants and cafes were thronged tonight as Finlanders celebrated the end of prohibition. During the five hours the liquor shops were open they were besieged by citizens laying in stocks for home consumption. The shops did not open until 10 a. m., but crowds gathered in front of them as early as 5 o'clock.

At the closing hour there still were long lines of would-be purchasers and a cashier in one establishment said 1,000,000 marks would have been taken in if it had been possible to keep the doors open.

Restaurant operators at a meeting this afternoon decided to accept the alcohol company's prices. They had threatened not to handle any beverages because of the high rates.

The Helsingfors police department promulgated an order that every person found drunk would be arrested.

Finland had prohibition for twelve years. A few months ago a referendum was taken, and in accordance with public sentiment expressed in this vote a liquor law, giving complete control of the trade to the government, was enacted. Today was the first day of the wet regime.

Largest Austrian Plane Catches Fire; None Hurt

Vienna, Austria, April 5 (A.P.).—As Austria's largest airplane, the A-100, approached Aspern, Vienna's airport, this afternoon, one of her motors caught fire, but the pilot succeeded in bringing her down with the two passengers and the members of the crew uninjured.

Cadillac Invites You To RIDE · DRIVE · COMPARE—for the difference between motor cars is greater today than ever

The basic superiority of Cadillac and La Salle has never been so instantly obvious as it is today—for now it is revealed, with unmistakable clearness, in the very first mile at the wheel! No matter what your experience with motor cars may have been—the new Cadillacs and La Salles will open your eyes to performance you have never known before. Their big, powerful motors can scarcely be heard at all. Regardless of what gear you drive in—there is no mechanical sound of any description. You ride with a balanced buoyancy that is most delightful to experience. And you travel the toughest highways as if you were glued to the road. Thousands of people have driven these cars—and their enthusiasm has known no bounds. In fact, approximately two out of every five who have bought cars at or above La Salle's base price, since the first of this year have chosen either Cadillac or La Salle. And in almost every instance, the choice was based on performance—on the sheer superiority that a demonstration revealed. Come drive these cars today. And then—if you care to—drive other cars, and compare. You'll discover the greatest difference since motor car history began!

SEE THE NATIONAL EXHIBIT GENERAL MOTORS PRODUCTS

During the remainder of this week—up to and including Saturday evening—the General Motors Corporation is holding in this city a most unusual exhibit of all its products. Including all General Motors' passenger and commercial cars—all its automotive accessory products—and all its household products and appliances—this Exhibit is one of the most interesting commercial showings ever held. Admission is free—so be sure to see it.

Miss Frances Bosworth Is Wed to Son of Britsh Economist.

Evanston, Ill., April 5 (A.P.).—An international romance culminated today in the marriage of Miss Frances Bosworth, a cousin of former Vice President Charles G. Dawes, and Dr. Trevor Charles Stamp, of London. The bridegroom is the son of Sir Josiah Stamp, noted British economist, and Lady Stamp.

The wedding took place late this afternoon in the home of the socially prominent Charles H. Bosworth, parents of the bride, with numerous members of both families attending. Dr. Paul Wolffe, of the First Presbyterian Church, officiated.

Mrs. Gordon Padley, of London, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Henry M. Dawes, of Washington, D. C., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Beman Dawes, of Columbus, Ohio, was best man.

Chauncey Olcott Leaves Entire Estate to His Wife

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—The late Chauncey Olcott, Irish tenor, was "mindful of the fact that whatever estate I have been able to accumulate is due to the savings of my wife." He bequeathed his entire estate to her.

His will was filed for probate today in surrogates' court. The value of the estate was given as "over $10,000." The will noted the fact that the Olcotts legally adopted Jeanne Angelia L. Olcott on March 5, 1930. The singer died a fortnight ago on the Riviera.

Divorce Granted Son Of Lord Willingdon

London, April 5 (A.P.).—Viscount Ratendone, eldest son of Earl Willingdon, Viceroy of India, today was granted a decree nisi of divorce in an undefended suit. He was married to Maxine Forbes-Robertson, daughter of the distinguished actor, Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, in 1924. They have no children.

The viscount named Frederick George Miles, an aviation instructor, as corespondent. He said his wife met Miles while she was learning to fly in 1930.

Baby, Weighing Pound, Pronounced Normal

Kansas City, April 5 (A.P.).—A cardboard carton warmed by hot water bags, cradles a one-pound baby boy born here yesterday to a young couple. The child was pronounced normal, except in size, by the attending physician, who has high hopes that the infant will live.

The doctor said the young son of Mr. and Mrs. William St. John was undernourished. The father is 18 and the mother 17.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Elsie Pierce.

BELIEVE it or not, men are going in for permanent waves. That news comes from authoritative sources and from hairdressing salons "along the avenue," which means Fifth avenue, one of the most fashionable spots of New York.

Permanents for men are not as radically new as one might suspect. Even ten years ago, the "dandies" and "theatrical men" had their hair waved and set. But today the fad is no longer limited to that small group.

The "depression" has been blamed for more changes than even our eighteenth amendment. The latest link to it is this tendency of the male of the species to have waves rule, where straight hair used to be. How come? Well, the depression, it is said, caused the downfall of many a handful of hair, and men, feeling that baldness is not conducive to bigger and better business, have resorted to the permanent to give more body to what is left of their locks and make a handful look like a headful.

Whether the rest of the male world will follow New York is something to speculate upon. Your guess is as good as mine. But this conservative soul feels that if the fad is to become a fashion the process will be a very slow one.

Men will tell you that a frank acceptance of beauty belongs to the feminine world. But that's what they say. Actually they patronize beauty shops or barber shops quite as much as women and the treatments are by no means limited to the proverbial "shave and haircut." They have facials with creams, mud packs, manicures and what-nots. Nor are they to be blamed for wishing to remain as attractive as possible. It isn't vanity on their part any more than it is vanity on the part of a woman. People often comment he or she "makes a good appearance." That means simply that the person referred to is well groomed. "The accident of birth" is no reason why a man should be reconciled to a blemished skin and do nothing about it, merely because he is a man; dandruff on a man's coat isn't anything to be proud of, and falling hair is linked with carelessness and negligence these days. That is perhaps one reason why baldness has been the victim of so many deprecatory remarks.

I am not recommending the permanent for falling hair, neither for men nor women. Scalp massage and corrective treatments are far better for that person. My reason for writing that the permanent is popular with men is twofold: (1) It will satisfy those who have a nose for beauty news and (2) it indicates that the old prejudices against permanents are on the wane.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

THE MAKING OF A NURSE.

DEAR Frances McDonald: As my father has had serious financial difficulty, I am, therefore, forced against my will to train for my life's work at an earlier age than I had planned.

I have always desired to become a private nurse. I am 18 years and 9 months old. I have completed three years of high-school education.

I am looking for a suitable nursing school in which they take students who have not received their high-school diploma. Do you happen to know of any?

Please help me, as I don't know what to do, and I have no one to turn to.

Ask your own family physician. He may be of great help to you. There are a great many hospitals accepting student with three years of high-school training, but it would make everything much easier for you if your own doctor were interested—or any doctor in your neighborhood. They are all vitally concerned in promoting the interests of the medical profession, and one of its crying needs today is a better grade of women in nurse's uniform. True, the profession has some fine women, but many so unfit that it is a crime to commit the helpless to their care. All doctors have their pet hospitals, and almost any doctor will be glad to advise and help you.

Meanwhile write to some of the big hospital training schools. They will all reply promptly, as they are all seeking good material. The names are in your telephone book. You need only inquire.

And when you are at last at work, and perhaps weary, remember you have chosen the greatest work on earth, and that however monotonous the ground work may seem, it is no more monotonous than the foundation work a doctor must do before he can don that white gown that proclaims him humanity's sorely tried and sorely needed friend.

Much luck and happiness as well as success. And let us know what doctor you consulted and what advice he gave. And be sure to write to the column when you start work and tell us all about it.

Hine School Will Start Public Speaking Course

A public speaking course of eight lessons, which is free to the public, will start tonight in the Hine Junior High School, Seventh and C streets southeast, under the auspices of the Southeast Community Center. The course will be given each Wednesday night for eight weeks. The class will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Hazel Clark Taylor, who will be instructor of the group, is a teacher in the Anne Tillery Renshaw School of Expression. She was also a teacher of public speaking in the University of the Philippine Islands, in Manila.

Program Will Honor Miss Helen Harman

Miss Helen Harman, retiring State regent of the District of Columbia Daughters of the Republic, will be honored tonight at the Peck Memorial Chapel, Twenty-eighth and M streets northwest, where a special program of entertainment will be presented.

The clubs of Sons and Daughters of the Republic are sponsoring the program which will include a play to be given by the Betsy Ross Club, and a musical and patriotic program by the Nathan Hale, Mount Vernon and Georgetown Clubs.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Grege woolen with a black galliac cape that buttons on and a black kid belt make the chic of this Heim model from Paris.

NEW YORK, April 6.—It is an absolute certainty that no one can be lovely without a good complexion. No woman can be even attractive or chic, unless her skin is at least clear, whether it be wrinkled or colorless. Clear, which is clean, and the result of cleanliness.

Now, the natural reaction to a poor complexion is just an instinctive one. And our instinct, as usual, is right. Because our instinct is one of distaste, the distaste that centuries of civilization have taught us to feel for uncleanliness. Yes, inner or outer uncleanliness is responsible for a bad complexion! Fault? Yes, the fault of the owner. Oh, of course everyone with a good complexion is not necessarily to be complimented, because 9 times out of 10 the good complexion is more or less natural. But the tenth complexion is the one we are concerned about today.

The tenth bad complexion that needn't exist. Yes, it may take months of really hard work to make a good complexion out of a bad one, to clean one's blood inside, one's pores outside. But that is just the difference in people—some have what others have to work for. And a truly refined person, a person with any determination whatsoever and any loveliness, will work at a bad complexion until it is lovely, accepting no excuse for its unloveliness.

Nature, the sly minx, has given us natural aids to loveliness and beauty, leaving them right under our very noses. We enhance our beauty by wearing tastefully selected clothes, and nature gives us the means with which to have and to hold this beauty. And the first demand to beauty or any loveliness at all is that of a good skin.

* * * *

The natural aids to beauty are eggs and milk. Yes, I do really believe that with these alone, taken inside and out, one could cure any complexion ills and blood impurities.

Concerning the outside only, eggs are astringent, softening and nourishing to the skin. Milk is bleaching and astringent, sour milk very bleaching, buttermilk astringent and bleaching. The egg is interesting in its effect on the human skin, seeming to renew as it nourishes.

And before I stop this complexion chat, I must tell you that there is a new cream on the market which is made of eggs, containing all of the egg and some other things, which saves one the messiness of handling an actual egg as a facial—something which has kept us many times from having such a facial. Sooner or later I look for a real milk cream, not in name only, but in ingredients, as this egg cream is. And then there will be absolutely no excuse for any lack of complexion loveliness in the whole world.

* * * *

How many hours a day do you spend in your bedroom? A day and night, I mean, of course. Well, let's spend those hours surrounded with all the beauty that our clever fingers can surround us with—for that will mean more than mere dollars could buy. For instance, let's make a glorious counterpane for the bed—one that would cost plenty of dollars on the Rue de la Paix—not to mention those you would spend getting there and back to your little bedroom and flower-heaped bedspread.

And, best of all, we may be able to make it from silk scraps out of the scrapbag, and, at the rate of one or two flowers a day, since each takes about 5 minutes to make, never know how it happened when the lovely new bedspread is completely finished. Send that stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet that tells exactly how to make this bedspread and see for yourself.

* * * *

A street dress from Heim in Paris is sure to be unusual, and have the particular chic which distinguished this house. Just look at the dress illustrated. I love the cut, and the fact that it is made of grege woolen and has a soft black leather belt—which we gather is meant to match the black galliac cape that buttons right to the frock.

Ho, hum—'tis spring. Have you any little suggestions for leaflets today? Send me one, like a dahr-ling, when you send for this week's leaflet.

Au revoir!

What Today Means to You

"ARIES."

IF April 6 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to noon, from 5 p. m. to 6:15 p. m., and from 8:45 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:45 a. m. to 9 a. m., and from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m.

A light-hearted, irresponsible atmosphere will prevail on April 6, and many unexpected and pleasant things are augured to happen, veritable "gifts of the gods." A fertile time in a spiritual and mental way. Attention will wander into unprofitable activities from a material standpoint.

Children born on this April 6 will have a mischievous, happy and an animated nature. Parents should not try to shape their lives according to pattern, but should give them freedom to develop their outstanding abilities. With or without parental consent they will eventually take the bit in their mouth and go their own way.

Born on April 6, you have rather a negative and passive nature, and your personal initiative is very limited. You are always ready to let others do your thinking and to make your decisions for you. You always believe that everybody knows better than you. It is easy for you to carry out orders, but you do not know how to give them. Unless you have a good pilot, you will do a lot of drifting through life. You are not by birthright an inferior being, and if you had a little more spunk and self-confidence, you could take your place with the best of them.

You do not worry much about the material things of life, and through your very indifference, you attract an abundance of good things to you. You are a very generous giver, and to ask is to receive from you. Your house and all that is in it is at the disposal of your friends. You trust people too much, and will be duped many times by some one to whom you have been a helpful friend. These incidents will grieve you very much, but they will not protect you from the next one. You are truly democratic and you sympathize with the lower classes, no matter what your own status may be. You will wear your heart on your sleeve, and will love with all your heart and soul.

Successful people born April 6:

James Mill, historian.
Harry Houdini, magician.
Camille Pierre Dadant, apiarist.
J. Warren Andrews, organist.
William R. King, statesman.
Joseph Medill, journalist.

How to Keep Well

VACCINATING AGAINST COLDS.

WE have recently passed through the customary late winter, early spring epidemic of colds. This wave invariably comes about this season of the year. This year it did very little harm as compared with other years. It is true that a great many people were made uncomfortable and there was some rise in the death rate.

However, measured by the standards of total death rates, and death rates reported as due to the pneumonias and influenza, January and February, 1932, were healthful months as compared with the same months in other years. They were not the lowest ever, but they were far lower than was the same period in 1931, and they were even below the average.

Some health departments became alarmed when the wave of colds struck us and let out the frequently heard wolf wail—influenza! However, the people kept cool and the train stayed on the tracks. We must find some way to prevent these waves of colds, some of which are trivial, but none of which are sources of joy. The yearn in this direction is shown by the number of experimenters who are working with vaccines for colds.

A recent experiment was conducted in Cincinnati by Dr. W. E. Brown. He vaccinated a considerable number of persons with vaccines that he made by methods which had much to commend them. A course consisted of twelve injections. He did laboratory tests to measure the immunity produced and how long it lasted. Another method of checking results was to keep track of the number of colds, their severity and length of fever and other outstanding symptoms.

The number under experiment was checked by an equal number who were not vaccinated but who were kept under the same kind of observation.

The results were not satisfying to Dr. Brown. He found some evidence of protection, but not enough to make him a strong advocate of the method. In one field he estimated the gain as high as 25 per cent. In other instances he was of the opinion that he might have obtained better results had he used a larger dosage, or more doses.

Of course, the persons vaccinated were somewhat enthusiastic. But evidence of that kind needs to be discounted in a scientific experiment, though it is of great value to physicians practicing curative medicine, and to their sick patients.

So far as I can judge most people who have worked with vaccines for colds are in substantial accord with Dr. Brown. They think they have some value, but they feel that something more potent must be found before they can be pushed hard. However, there are some who disagree with this conclusion.

CAUSES OF HIVES.

A reader writes: Can you tell me the cause and how to treat hives?

REPLY:

There is a long list of causes of hives. Among them are certain foods, say forty. Exposure to animals and objects is also a cause. There are others. The best method of prevention is to find the cause and avoid it.

To relieve an attack, take a laxative. Apply something soothing locally.

CAUSES OF BUNIONS.

M. P. writes:

1. What is the cause of bunions?
2. Have you any special remedy for them?

REPLY:

1. Wearing shoes that do not fit. Narrowness is the most important fault, though shortness and tightness contribute.
2. Wear broad, full shoes. Mild cases may be cured by wearing proper shoes and using pads to keep the toes straight. More severe cases require operation.

NEITHER IS WELL DEFINED.

Mrs. L. I. M. writes: Does acidosis mean the same as hyperacidity? If not, will you explain the difference?

REPLY.

Neither term has a well-defined meaning. Most people say "hyperacidity" when they refer to a sensation of too much acid in the stomach, and "acidosis" when they mean too little alkali in a tissue, or in the body as a whole.

CURING WINTER ITCH.

M. M. writes: Just a word about winter itch. I was away for six months, near a lake, and in a cool climate when the itch started on my back, arms, abdomen and legs. I tried Epsom salt baths which relieved me somewhat. I then mixed 3 parts of olive oil with 1 part of glycerin, and proceeded to rub myself with it. It must have cured me for the itch has gone.

PATERNITY TEST FAILS.

A Wife and Mother writes: Is it possible to determine paternity by blood tests or any other means, and if so, where could I go to obtain the benefits of such knowledge?

REPLY.

There is no laboratory test by which the paternity of a child can be established. The blood grouping test is valueless in such cases. At most, in certain cases, it indicates that a person might or might not have been the parent of certain children. In most cases it is of even less value.

The Homemaker

By NANCY CAREY

OUR old standby recipe for Norwegian meat balls as a suggestion for tomorrow's dinner recalls another recipe, and this one straight from Scandinavian shores, as its ingredients will acclaim. I think I'll give you both recipes today, offering you a choice, but if the dish with herring be used, substitute a salad of beets for the corn-and-tomato dish, and for the frozen salad substitute something inclined to tartness, as is a fresh rhubarb pie.

Now about this receipe from the far land of Norway—it would contain a bit of fish as well as meat, of course—and an hour's time is required to prepare these "combination balls." We want ½ pound smoked herring.

2 cupfuls cooked veal or beef
4 generous-size potatoes, already boiled
Salt to taste
A fleck of pepper.
5 teaspoonfuls potato flour.

We soak the herring for a half hour in temperate water, then skin them, bone them and mince them fine. Grind the cooked meat and mash it together with potatoes and flour. Knead in the herring and seasoning and form into small balls, which are then to be fried to crispness in nothing less than butter, and then served surrounded by a ring of beet salad, a beet salad made only with French dressing as its flavoring condiment.

Now our "regular" menu, and then recipes.

THURSDAY'S DINNER.
Norwegian Meat Balls
Mashed Potatoes
Baked Corn and Tomatoes
Le Roi Frozen Salad
Saltines
Coffee

Norwegian Meat Balls.

1 pound round steak, ground
1 pound pork, lean and fat, ground
1 teaspoonful ginger
½ teaspoonful cinnamon
2 eggs
1 large onion, minced
2 tablespoonfuls milk
Salt and pepper to taste

Mix all thoroughly together and let stand two and one-half hours before cooking. Shape into balls or cakes and fry in hot fat. Cover while frying.

Baked Corn and Tomatoes.

2 cupfuls corn, cooked
2 cupfuls tomatoes
1 cupful breadcrumbs
2 tablespoonfuls fat
1 teaspoonful sugar
1 teaspoonful salt
Dash of pepper

Mix salt, pepper and sugar with the corn and tomatoes and pour them into a greased baking dish. Spread the crumbs over the top, dot with fat and bake in a 350-degree oven for 30 minutes.

Le Roi Frozen Salad.

1 tablespoonful lemon gelatin, granulated
½ cupful pineapple juice
1 cupful mayonnaise
2 tablespoonfuls sugar
2 cupfuls gelatin cubes
1 cupful cream, whipped
½ cupful almonds, chopped
½ teaspoonful salt

Soak gelatin in pineapple juice and dissolve over boiling water. Cool slightly. Beat mayonnaise into the whipped cream and add dissolved gelatin and sugar. Fold in gelatin cubes and chopped nuts. Turn into trays of refrigerator for several hours. If in mold, seal tightly and pack in equal parts of ice and salt for three hours.

Gelatin Cubes.

1 package cherry gelatin
1 package lime gelatin
3 cupfuls boiling water

Dissolve cherry gelatin in one and one-half cupfuls of boiling water and lime gelatin in remaining water. Pour into shallow pans and allow to set. Cut into cubes and add to the above mixture.

Answers to Readers.

Dear Miss Carey: I am a constant reader of your column and seem to enjoy it. I am 13 years of age, 5 feet 2 inches tall and weigh 108 pounds. What is my correct weight and height? ALICE.

Do you really "seem" to enjoy our column, Alice? And how can you tell? Well, at any rate, I am very glad you do and hope you continue to enjoy it for a long time. You will be happy to know that your weight and height are both average for your age. You might even be considered quite tall and for that reason could very easily weigh more than the average without its being noticeable. The taller we are, the more flesh we need to cover our frames and the more we will weigh. That's quite clear, isn't it?

Thank you for your nice letter, Alice, and write again some time.

Dear Miss Carey: Is brown sugar as fattening as white sugar? Mrs. C.

There is such very little difference between the two that it is not necessary to count it, especially since brown sugar is less sweet than white and more is required for sweetening purposes. In themselves three tablespoonfuls of brown sugar contain 100 calories while two tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar contain 100 calories.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

THE CHARM OF A TRELLIS.

HAVE you ever thought about the decorative value of trellises? They have been growing in popularity the last few years and architects are more and more realizing their charm. They are lovely when attached to the side walls of a low, white stucco house, or even a white clapboard one.

A trellis is well placed when attached to the wall on either side of a colonial doorway. Here it forms a parallel line with the glass side panels of the door, and is a reproduction of a decoration that was very popular, especially in the South, in the days just previous to the Civil War. We often see remnants of these lovely old trellises, occasionally in good condition, in the beautiful and stately gardens of Charleston, N. C., covered with the lovely Marshal Neal roses.

To attain their full beauty, trellises must stand on the southern or eastern side of the house. There is only one use to which we can put a trellis on a northern or western exposure, and that is to make it support an English ivy, which loves such an exposure and is about the only vine which will endure severe winds. On the other hand, when our trellis faces the south or east, we can adorn it with either flowering vines or ivy.

The trellis is also beautiful when used as a support for one of the worthwhile varieties of rambler roses. A pink daily that clambers up a trellis and peeps into a second-story window is very appealing. We have been overlooking this old-fashioned daily rose of late and it seems a pity.

However, we do not have to confine our choice to roses when we are selecting a vine to adorn our trellis. The common honeysuckle is always at its best when grown on a trellis. The coral variety is most attractive when trained against a white wall.

The clematis, either the purple or red Jackmanii type, is at its best in June, and the clamatis paniculata is just the thing for later in the season. The latter is both showy and fragrant and is very lovely when in blossom.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

SACRIFICE BIDDING.

ANY first game at Contract is worth about 400 points. It therefore follows that the side which incurs a penalty of 400 points (three tricks doubled and not vulnerable), to save the game, incurs no extra loss. The rubber game is worth about 600 points. It is, therefore, true that to incur a penalty of 600 points, to prevent your opponents from scoring that game, is not a losing proposition. This penalty, so far as Rubber Bridge is concerned, is intangible and does not appear on the visible score, but it is nevertheless there. In Duplicate Contract, however, the value arbitrarily accorded to scoring a game is fixed and definite, so that, as a matter of mathematics, it can be demonstrated that it pays to accept a penalty of 600 points rather than permit vulnerable opponents to score a game, as the lowest score vulnerable players may make, if they bid and make a game at Duplicate, is 600 points, which may be slightly more, depending upon the declaration.

In a recent team-of-four match between The Bridge World team and another strong team in New York, Mrs. Culbertson and Mr. Waldemar von Zedwitz played East and West cards in the hand shown below:

North—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.
East and West not vulnerable.

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

North	East	South	West
1♠	1◇(1)	1♠(2)	2♡(3)
4♠(4)	5♡(5)	Pass	Pass
Dbl.	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—A sound Overcall.
2—South holds 3 honor-tricks, but decides against a Forcing Takeout, as five clubs might be an impossible contract and he is not sure that his partner holds strength in spades.
3—Also a sound, though weak, Defensive bid.
4—North figures the combined hands as probably containing three losers a heart and two diamonds. The game bid is therefore sound.
5—Wisely preferred the lesser of two evils.

In the play, the contract was defeated 3 tricks. North and South winning two spades, one club, one heart and one diamond, and scoring 400 points for defeating the contract.

In the other room, where the other four players of the contesting teams played the same hand, South played the hand at four spades and made six, due to the fact that a heart was opened and South was able to discard a losing diamond on the long club in the Dummy. Thus East and West in one room lost 400 points on the hand. In the other room, where they failed to make the Defensive bid of five, East and West lost 720 points, a gain for those who accepted the penalty, rather than to permit the scoring of the gain of 320 points.

TODAY'S POINTER.

Sacrifice bidding is an important feature of successful Contract. When opponents have the strong hands, the score they can make should be weighed against the penalty they may inflict upon you.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow.

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
North and South—40.
East and West—60.

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

AWFUL TO WASH!

handkerchiefs used during Colds, Flu, Grippe!

No washing, no self-infection when you use KLEENEX Disposable Tissues

THE worst job on earth! That's what any woman will tell you about washing handkerchiefs that have been used during colds.

And not only that. It's dangerous. Germs contaminate other clothing during washing. Endanger the person who must dip her hands in that dangerous, germ-filled water.

Why inflict this repulsive job on yourself, or anyone else?

Use Kleenex, as so many other people are doing.

Kleenex is a soft tissue, of rayon-cellulose. It's disposable, just like tissue. And costs so little that you may destroy it after a single use.

No self-infection during colds, as with handkerchiefs that must be used over and over again.

Regular 50c size now 35c

Buy Kleenex at any drug, dry goods or department store.

U. S. COURT UPHOLDS FILM BLOCK BOOKING

Judge Manton States Plan Does Not Hamper Free Competition.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—The right of motion picture producers and distributors to continue the system of "block booking," whereby exhibitors are required to lease a group of films in order to get a desired one, was upheld today by the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals.

Judge Martin T. Manton by returning this decision in effect reversed an order of the Federal Trade Commission calling on four defendants to "cease and desist from practices found by the commission to constitute unfair methods of competion in violation of the Federal Trade Commission act."

The Circuit Court had been asked to enforce the order in the case of the Paramount Corporation, the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, Adolph Zukor and Jesse L. Lasky. The matter has been in litigation for several years.

Judge Manton ruled that available data "demonstrated that there is free competition among producers and distributors for the distributing and marketing of their pictures," and that there is "not only lack of monopolization but lack of ability to achieve a monopoly."

"It is impossible to say on the evidence," he continued, "that the effect of block booking as practiced by the respondent or its accumulative effect as practiced independently by the respondent and others has unfairly affected competition.

"On the other hand, it may fairly be said that all persons engaged in the production of pictures have been able successfully to distribute their product. This indicates fair competition in the industry."

Capper Holds Congress Deceived by Rail Loan

(Associated Press.)

A charge that Congress has been "deceived" and the country "betrayed" by "powerful banking interests working through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation" was made yesterday by Senator Capper (Republican), Kansas.

In a radio speech, Capper said the $12,800,000 loan to the Missouri Pacific Railroad was "unjustified, contrary to public policy, and a moral violation of the terms of the act." He tempered his criticism, however, by saying the corporation had "done some great work" through helping credit conditions.

House Asked to Probe Vare-Railroads "Link"

(Associated Press.)

A demand for an investigation of the relationship between the Pennsylvania and Reading Railroads and William S. Vare, Republican party leader in Philadelphia, was laid before the House yesterday by Representative Golder (Republican), Pennsylvania.

Golder charged the railroads paid large fees for franchises to prominent politicians and that contractors exacted large sums illegally from the railroads. The resolution would empower the Interstate Commerce Commission to institute the investigation.

Garner Balks at Having Hat Sung Into Ring

(Associated Press.)

Speaker Garner declined yesterday to allow a singer to throw his hat into the presidential ring.

Representative Boylan (Democrat), New York, calling to present Johnnie Griffin, here with a theatrical troupe, suggested to the Speaker that he allow Griffin to sing a song and throw the Texan's hat into the ring while photographers recorded the action.

"None of that presidential stuff for me," Garner said. "I'm glad to meet you, Mr. Griffin. Good-by."

Bratton Not Candidate For Democratic Post

(Associated Press.)

Senator Sam G. Bratton, in a formal statement yesterday, said he did not desire the post of Democratic national committeeman from New Mexico, for which a number of State leaders are urging him.

The State's Democrats will select their national committeemen at the party convention May 16, with one faction lined up behind R. H. Hanna, of Albuquerque, the present committeeman, and another behind Gov. Seligman.

King George's Crown Back From Cleaner's

London, April 5 (A.P.).—The imperial crown which King George wears on state occasions, came back from the cleaner's today an inch higher than when it was sent away.

Since it was made for Queen Victoria in 1839 it had sunk and become so insecure that it might not have retained its shape if worn much longer. In the reblocking process each of the 3,000 jewels was taken out and polished and some new gold was added so that it would not sink again.

FILM TIME TABLES

Feature pictures are presented on the following schedules at the theaters named:

Palace—"The Beast of the City," at 11 a. m., 1:40, 4:30, 7:15 and 10 p. m. Stage shows with Jean Harlow in person, at 12:35, 3:20, 6:05 and 8:50 p. m.

Fox—"Disorderly Conduct," at 11:10 a. m., 1:35, 4:20, 7:05 and 9:50 p. m. Stage shows at 1, 3:45, 6:30 and 9:15 p. m.

About The Showshops

With NELSON B. BELL

EVER since the attempted Loew-Fox merger several seasons ago, rumors have persisted of the consolidation of these companies' competitive interests in Washington. Some have insisted that Fox management would take over the operation of the Palace and Columbia; others that the Loew interests would assume control of the Fox. Nothing, heretofore, has ever come of either contention.

Now, in a comparatively obscure item in the lower left-hand corner of page 6 of Mr. Sime Silverman's April 5 issue of Variety, out yesterday, there appears the statement that Loew will take over the operation of the Fox here on or about June 1 under the terms of a 20-year lease that is reputed already to have been signed, sealed and delivered.

Failing in local confirmation of the arrangement, it has been relayed to this desk with reasonable directness from one who professes to have seen the signed agreement that this time it is really going through.

Assuming this to be the fact, the Washington amusement skyline will be appreciably altered. As I understand it, the Palace policy, both pictorial and stage, will be transferred to the Fox and the Columbia's straight picture policy will be moved up F street to the Palace. Each policy, by this device, will gain approximately 1,000 in seating capacity.

There is still enough to speculate about to keep the guessers busy. For instance, what disposition will be made of the Columbia? There have been numerous reports that the house would be closed for remodeling, but as what? A theater or business establishments, as was done with Crandall's old Joy Theater at Ninth and E?

And where will the Fanchon & Marco "Ideas" learn to shoot, since a part of the reputed upheaval embraces their cancellation from the Fox programs on eight weeks' notice, already given? Formerly they were routed from the National Capital direct to Atlanta, Ga. Now, they go first to Pittsburgh for a week and then to Atlanta. If the interests playing the F. & M. units in Pittsburgh deem it to their advantage to take them over in this city also that will make another story another day. At the moment it seems highly probable.

With the Columbia policy moved intact to the Palace, it seems not beyond the range of possibility that the Musicians' Local, come June 1, will find itself confronted with further reduction in the number of employment opportunities, since the Fox alone will survive as what is still known as a "presentation" house.

As this department has remarked times without number, for a giant industry constantly in flux, the motion picture business cops the biscuit! If it ever jelled in any definite form or contour, I presume it would cease to be the MOTION picture industry.

A considerable number of Washingtonians yesterday began to think they were getting a bit jittery and seeing things that weren't really there. Several wide-eyed cazes of the heebie-jeebies dashed into the office yesterday afternoon for confirmation of the suspicion that they had just seen Charlie Murray, the noted stage and screen comedian, promenading F street with a beautiful young woman.

We were, happily, able to set their minds at rest. They HAD seen Charlie Murray on F street with a beautiful young woman—Maxine Doyle, the mellifluous mistress of ceremonies at the Earle, whom Mr. and Mrs. Murray had stopped off en route from Florida to Boston especially to see. You will recall, of course, that Maxine was once teamed with the jovial Celtic comic in a vaudeville act. They have been fast friends ever since and have kept up a regular correspondence, amusing parts of which, from time to time, have been disclosed surreptitiously to this desk.

After "The Cohens and Kellys in Hollywood," recently shown at the Rialto, had been completed, Mr. and Mrs. Murray availed themselves of the between-pictures respite to visit Mr. Murray's daughter in Florida, and are now on their way to visit Mrs. Murray's relatives in Boston. They arrived in Washington yesterday morning at 11:45 and stopped over until the same hour this morning, when they proceeded northward on the same train.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray were backstage visitors with Miss Doyle at the Earle last evening, where Mr. Murray held court and was afforded a little tangible evidence of the popularity he enjoys with the theatergoers of this city.

Happy landings, good people, all the way back to the Coast.

It is difficult, indeed, to recognize in Walter Connolly, the splendid character actor portraying the role of Dr. Sporum with Helen Hayes in "The Good Fairy," the Ferenc Molnar hit currently at the National, the impeccably groomed and debonair leading man who appeared opposite Irene Bordoni in James Fagan's "The Improper Duchess," which was presented at the Belasco by Maurice Browne at the opposite extremity of the present season.

Mr. Connolly was not the only one, however, for whom Mr. Fagan's little piece stifled opportunity! But don't let this Dr. Sporum get away.

Afterthoughts on two delightful visits with Jean Harlow, appearing in person at the Palace: Both Miss Harlow's mother and her stepfather, Count Marino Bello, always speak of her, and to her, as "Baby" . . . She comes by her blondness naturally, Mrs. Bello being one, also . . . Her favorite pet is a big harlequin Great Dane named Bleak; Mrs. Bello's a blue Persian cat with amber eyes . . . The two are inseparable pals—meaning Bleak and the Persian . . . Despite a severe indisposition that continued all Saturday night and Sunday, this heroic young platinum blonde was the most vivacious of all the guests who attended the Sabbath morning breakfast in her honor at the Mayflower and went through her four performances at the theater without a bobble . . . Yeah, the show must go on . . . Malarkey! When you're sick, you're sick . . . Or do you say "ill"? . . . After 15 weeks of touring, there is a split week in New York, then a week in Canada and then a week of much needed respite at some restful spa . . . Between shows, the dressing-room typewriter is tapping out a novel over which its charming author is quite excited . . . So, you see, she did write that Monday interview, just as I told you she did!

Omigosh! How did it ever get THAT late—and me having used up all my dinnertime excuses!

Steiwer Will Run Again for Senate

Oregonian Urges Farm and Jobless Relief; Favors Vote on Liquor.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Steiwer (Republican), Oregon, announced his candidacy for reelection yesterday on a platform calling for farm and unemployment relief and resubmission of the eighteenth amendment.

Senator Steiwer outlined his platform in a 500-word statement, not once mentioning President Hoover or the Republican administration.

On prohibition Steiwer said:

"I believe in the objects sought to be obtained by the eighteenth amendment. For many years I have supported the efforts to suppress the traffic in intoxicating liquor. I am for enforcement of all laws, including the eighteenth amendment, and supporting statutes. A large and increasing number of citizens demand that the amendment be referred by Congress for reconsideration. As a consistent advocate of popular government, I stand for the right of the people to vote on any question and I will not deny them the right to vote on this question.

"There is no other principle so fundamental to free government as the right of the people to decide vital public issues at the polls. I will vote to resubmit the eighteenth amendment for revision in accordance with constitutional procedure."

Hoover Is Told Legion Found Jobs for 432,460

(Associated Press.)

Mark T. McKee, of Detroit, director of the American Legion drive for veteran employment, told President Hoover yesterday the efforts of his organization had placed 432,460 men in work in 2,185 communities. He said the President had expressed great pleasure at the success and said he hoped they would reach the 1,000,000 mark by May 1.

McKee was accompanied to the White House by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, who supplemented the legion official's information with a statement that his records showed a 10 per cent increase in veterans' employment during March.

Academy to Study World Economics

Distinguished Group to Attend Opening Session Tonight at Brookings.

The first meeting of the only organization of its kind in the United States will take place tonight at 8 o'clock, when the Academy of World Economics gathers at Brookings Institution, 722 Jackson place. An audience of several hundred diplomats, scholars and Government officials, presided over by Marc Peter, minister from Switzerland, is expected at the meeting.

Dr. E. M. Patterson, president of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, Philadelphia, will be the principal speaker. "World Economics" has been announced as the topic of his address.

Immediately following the meeting will be an informal reception given in honor of the distinguished guests present. A group of prominent men, including five college presidents, will act as patrons at the meeting.

Pinchot Opposes Change In Forest Land Methods

(Associated Press.)

Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania yesterday objected vigorously before the Senate public lands committee to changing the present method of adding land to or taking it from national forests.

The Pennsylvanian, long identified with development of the forest system, appeared before the committee in its hearings on the White House plan to transfer public lands to the Western States. He opposed specifically the plan to set up joint State-Federal boards of five members to decide within a year what acreage should be added to or excluded from existing forests.

PHAR LAP, GREAT AUSTRALIAN HORSE, DIES SUDDENLY; NATS WIN HOME RUN FRAY FROM KNOXVILLE CLUB, 10-7

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Knoxville, Tenn., April 5.

MANAGER WALTER JOHNSON of the Washington Baseball Club was the chief object of curiosity of Tennessee fans today in the lobby as the Nats whiled away the hours before the ball game.

Walter was kept busy shaking hands with his admirers, but one old graybeard stunned him. "I saw you pitch 35 years ago," he told Walter benignly. Johnson smiled in reply as he checked up mentally and discovered that 35 years ago he was only 7 years old.

The incident reminds this column of the time when President Clark Griffith a few years ago invited as his guests to a game in Washington all fans who had seen Johnson pitch his first big league game against Detroit in 1907. Fifteen hundred saw that game 25 years ago, but approximately 5,000 accepted Griffith's invitation.

This correspondent wandered into a Knoxville cigar store today and the following conversation took place:

Clerk: "I see the Washington Ball Team is in town."

This correspondent: "Yeah."

Clerk: "I see Billy Smith is here with the team."

This correspondent: "Yeah, he's the assistant secretary of the club. A fine fellow."

Clerk: "Sure, you know we all know Billy. He's an old Knoxville boy."

This correspondent (in surprise): "Is that so?"

Clerk: "Yeah, Billy used to tend bar down here, you know."

Editor's note—It was before the prohibition law.

The boys were discussing a certain well-known umpire who frankly admits to all who listen, that he is a great umpire. He's about as modest as September Morn, and no audience leaves him unaware of the fact that he has a great regard for himself.

"Yeah, he's all right," said one of the veterans of the club today, "but he's from the Three-Eye League. You know what I mean—I this, I that, I am, &c."

They paid the ball players off today. That is, the club gave 'em four days' eating money until the team reaches Washington. Fred Marberry, who still claims to be the best hitting pitcher on the club, Marberry hit a homer in the Brooklyn game last week. "Crowder did his hitting off minor league pitching," said Fred. "I hit in the big leagues."

Little Johnny Kerr answers to the name of "Schnozzle" among the ball players. He is not fond of it, but he still answers to the name.

Prof. Montie Weaver doesn't give the umpires any trouble even when they call the close ones wrong. But against Chattanooga the other day he was visibly perturbed when the ump called one of his curves a ball with the count three and two. Montie took a hitch in his belt, started toward the umpire and some choice epithets appeared imminent. Montie looked the umpire full in the face with a glint in his eye and determination in his posture and said, "Shucks!"

CRONAN NAMED SECRETARY.

Louisville, April 5 (A.P.).—Charles J. Cronan, jr., of Louisville, was chosen today as secretary of the American Saddle Horse Breeders Association to succeed the late Roger H. Lillard, of Lawrenceburg, Ky., at the association's annual meeting here.

Claude M. Thomas, of Paris, Ky., was reelected president. Other officers chosen included A. G. Jones, of North Middletown, Ky.

Pinch Hitter Kuhel Slams 5th Homer

Berg, Bluege Account for Other Circuit Clouts of Game.

Weaver Pounded But Brown Stops Minor Leaguers.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 5.—Monte Weaver, Carl Reynolds and a couple of other Nationals in there against Knoxville Smokies today seemed in a fair way toward making liars out of the correspondents who have been sending glowing tales of their prowess, but the accusation was deferred in the light of later developments and when the Nationals mustered enough base hits to win the game, 10 to 7.

The Nationals needed most of their hits to win because the Smokies were holding their own in the home-run battle that developed, until Joe Kuhel came along in the guise of a pinch hitter in the sixth and rapped one over the right-field wall, the fifth homer of the day.

Knoxville's first two hits off Weaver's delivery were home runs to deep center field of the band-box park, and the home-run score stood two to one in favor of Knoxville, for Moe Berg had also clouted one over the left-field fence in the second inning, then Ossie Bluege came along in the third and drew a bead on the short fence in left field to send the ball over it and deadlock the home-run honors.

Kuhel's Clout Wins.

Kuhel's clout in the sixth definitely won the home-run battle for the Nationals, because the only exaggerated kind of a hit that the Knoxville boys could get off Lloyd Brown was a double in the last inning.

While Weaver was permitting the Knoxville boys five hits and four runs in the first three innings, the Nats were rustling six hits and seven runs off Pat Burns' delivery to take a comfortable lead which endured them in the light of Weaver's steadiness. He left the game in favor of Brown in the sixth inning after permitting only six men to face him in the fourth and fifth.

Carl Reynolds was batting with his mashie niblick most of the afternoon, popping up to the infield twice and striking out once. His name didn't appear among the makers of the Nats' 13 hits. Of these, Sammy West collected three and Joe Kuhel showed signs of emerging from his batting lethargy with his homer and double in two appearances. Buddy Myer and Joe Judge inserted triples into the proceedings to claim a share of the honors.

Weaver got two out in the first inning before Freigau, who had seen big league service with the Phillies and Robins, slammed the ball over the center field fence. But the Nats already had three runs, as a result of passes to Myer and West, Kerr's single and Joe Judge's liner that went for a triple.

First Baseman Jones contributed the Smokies' second homer in the

Griffith, Cronin Bemoan Lack of Pitchers by Nats

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

THE Nationals' destiny in the coming American League race lies in the collective arms of the pitchers, according to two important cogs of the Washington Baseball Club—President Clark Griffith and Joe Cronin, sensational young shortstop, both of whom deserted the team in Chattanooga Monday and arrived here yesterday morning. The former is here to help complete arrangements for next Monday's opening game with the Boston Red Sox, while the player came with him to be treated for sinus trouble.

"I like our team," said Griffith, "outside of our pitchers, and, if Lloyd Brown and Bob Burke were in good shape, I wouldn't worry at all. We'll hit like sin, with Carl Reynolds giving us added power. Buddy Myer looks better than ever, Sammy West is in great shape, Joe Cronin is in top form, Ossie Bluege is as good as he ever was and Heinie Manush is going better than he has any previous spring that I know of and figures to have a great year."

Cronin Praises Judge.

Cronin's summing up of the team's chances was just about the same as Griffith's. In addition to bemoaning the lack of capable pitchers, and generally agreeing with the Nat head, the young shortstop was quite enthusiastic over the form being shown by Joe Judge. "He looks as good as I've ever seen him," said Joe, "and is hitting the ball particularly well." Two young pitchers also have caught Cronin's eye—Monte Weaver and Bob Friedrich. "Weaver is a finished product right now," he said, "while Friedrich is a mighty promising youngster. I look for him to go somewhere in our league."

Fans do not have to take the word of Griffith and Cronin, however, for they will have an opportunity tomorrow of judging for themselves just how the Nats stack up when the Boston Braves will be met in Griffith Stadium in an exhibition.

Cronin himself is not likely to play tomorrow, although there's hardly a chance but what he will be O K for the opener. In addition to a sinus attack and badly inflamed tonsils, he was ordered to bed yesterday because he was showing symptoms of grippe. This means that Johnny Kerr, obtained from the White Sox in a winter trade, probably will make his debut in Washington livery tomorrow. All of the rest of the regulars will be doing business at their old stands.

Shires, Zachary With Braves.

The showing of the Braves here should prove particularly interesting in view of the fact that it will bring two former Nats here. One is the colorful, happy-go-lucky Arthur (The Great) Shires, who cavorts at first

Barry Beats Gallagher On Points

2,000 Watch Mohawk Fighter Win Over Old Rival.

By JACK ESPEY.

PUMPING punches from every conceivable angle and with more zip than he ever before mustered, Reds Barry, pride of Southeast, balanced the scales of victory and defeat with Marty Gallagher, his local heavyweight rival, by winning the decision in eight fast rounds last night in Portner Arena. The verdict of Referee Charley Short was received popularly by a crowd of about 2,000, which fell short of expectations for this second battle of the Potomac.

Barry more than made up for the loss Marty dealt him last October at Fort Washington. The 17-year-old Redhead, outweighed, 203 to 191, and conceding 3 inches in height, not to mention considerable in reach, outfought and outgamed his rival most of the way. He traded blow for blow at close range, whipped over long rights to the head with telling effect, and stabbed Marty times without number with a disconcerting left that drew blood from Gallagher's mouth.

Knockout Punch Lacking.

While neither fighter had a kayo punch, and both remained vertical throughout, the bigger man was the one who gave the more ground in a furiously fought bout. There was never a let-up, although each tried to tie the other up in the infighting, at which Gallagher had an edge, and in the final two rounds they slugged it out to bring the crowd to its feet.

Barry proved there was some truth in preflght reports of his new and harder punch, for he rocked the Foggy Bottom Irishman several times with looping rights from long range. He also caught Marty with a couple of uppercuts while pulling away from clinches that did Gallagher little good.

Even in defeat, however, Gallagher

U. S. Netmen To Play Here Selected

Vines, Shields, Van Ryn and Allison Players Named.

NEW YORK, April 5 (A.P.).—H. Ellsworth Vines, jr., the national champion; Francis X. Shields, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison today were named by the Davis Cup committee to carry the United States standard against Canada in the first round of international tennis play.

The team originally selected by the committee included George M. Lott, jr., of Chicago, runner-up to Vines in the national singles last year, with Allison as alternate, but Lott yesterday announced his retirement from Davis Cup play "for business reasons."

All but Vines, the lanky California youngster, played for America in Davis Cup matches last year. Van Ryn and Allison also were the American doubles combination in 1929 and 1930. Allison played only against Mexico last year, Lott taking his place as Van Ryn's doubles partner in the interzone final against England. Allison and Van Ryn are the present national doubles and former Wimbledon title holders.

Three Ranking Singles Players Named.

The team includes three of the first four ranking players in singles—Vines, Shields and Van Ryn—and the No. 1 doubles combination—Van Ryn and Allison. Allison was ranked ninth in singles.

In announcing the membership of the team, Bernon S. Prentice, chairman of the committee, made it plain the lists still were open if the United States should defeat Canada.

"Should we be fortunate enough to win the tie against Canada," he said, "other players may be given consideration for future ties based on their previous records and this season's play."

Prentice pointed out that because of the early dates of the matches, requiring that the team be named by April 18, only last year's records were considered in selecting the players.

This procedure automatically eliminated Gregory S. Mangin, national indoor champion, from consideration. Mangin won no important tournaments outdoors last year and although impressive in his indoor play still must prove he can carry his indoor form to the outdoor courts.

BLAZING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

Macon, Ga., April 5 (A.P.).—Roy Humphries, 19-year-old Hartford outfielder, broke his right leg in the ninth inning of today's game between the Brooklyn Dodgers and their Eastern League farm team. The Dodgers won the game 7 to 5.

The accident, the second in as many days to a Hartford outfielder, occurred in the midst of a rally in which the Eastern League Club loaded the bases and threatened to beat the Dodgers. Charley Sheerin, a Fordham University product, broke his right leg yesterday also, sliding into second base.

Kansas City, April 5. (A.P.).—Kansas City made a clean sweep of the four-game exhibition baseball series with Detroit by taming the Tigers today, 10 to 2.

The American Leaguers were limited to 3 hits and no runs during the six innings they faced "Hobo" Carson, formerly with San Antonio, of the Texas League. They got their 2 runs in the eighth off Larson.

Whitehill was touched for 11 hits and 9 runs by the Blues in six innings. Herring finished for Detroit. Kelly, Blue outfielder, and last year with Denver, of the Western League, made four hits in five times at bat.

British to Turn to Youths In Walker Golf Invasion

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, April 5 (A.P.).—Unable to win a Walker Cup series in six attempts with its old guard, the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews today named a youthful and little known array to go to the United States this summer in pursuit of the elusive international golfing trophy.

The team is headed by T. A. Torrance, veteran of three previous campaigns. It includes Rex Hartley and J. A. Stout, of the 1930 squad, and these newcomers: Lister Hartley, Eric McRuvie, J. T. Bookless, John Burke and Leonard Crawley. Two more players remain to be selected.

In breaking away from the old favorites, the Royal and Ancient left off such well-known players as Roger Wethered, former amateur title holder; Cyril Tolley, now living in the States, but eligible for the team; Eric Martin Smith, the present champion, Young John Forest, runner-up in the last amateur; E. W. E. Holderness, Maj. C. O. Hazlet, and the Hon. W. Brownlow, of other Walker Cup teams.

Smith and Tolley are believed to be in line for the other two places, but the rest have practically been eliminated from consideration.

"They are the best amateur golfers in Great Britain," said Torrance, the tall Scot who probably will be named to captain the youngsters. "Its a fine young team of players."

Burke is a former Irish champion, McGuire is the present Irish title holder, Bookless is a former Scottish amateur champion, Lister Hartley is a brother of Rex and was the first British amateur in the 1926 and 1930 British opens, Crawley, admittedly the weakest selection, is a former Cambridge player on an English team against both Ireland and Scotland last year.

The United States Team, unnamed as yet except for Francis Ouimet as captain also is expected to lean strongly upon youth, although of the 1930 team Don Moe, "Jimmy" Johnston, George Voigt and Dr. O. F. Willing will be eligible.

Among the youngsters who may be considered for places, however, are:

U. S. Pre-Olympic Invasion By Nurmi Is Off Due to Ban

NEW YORK, April 5 (A.P.).—Although Finnish athletic circles, here and abroad, apparently feel confident Paavo Nurmi will be restored to good standing with a "clean bill" in time for the Olympic games, the great runner's temporary suspension abroad has had the immediate effect of canceling his plans for an early competitive campaign in the United States.

Less than three weeks before the International Amateur Athletic Federation at Berlin decided on disciplinary measures pending further investigation of Nurmi's European expeditions, Paavo cabled that circumstances prevented him from arranging to leave now for this country.

His cablegram came to Hugo Quist, of New York, who has been prominent for years in Finnish athletic organizations and piloted Nurmi's first American tour in 1925. It was Quist's idea that Nurmi, by coming over early, could serve the double purpose of acclimating himself in preparation for the Olympic marathon at Los Angeles and helping the Olympic funds of two countries, Finland and the United States, by appearing in a few outstanding track meets.

"I feel sure Nurmi will be cleared of any act or intent of wrongdoing," Quist today told the Associated Press. "I have followed affairs in Europe closely and believe an attempt is being made to make Paavo the 'goat' in connection with the conduct of several athletic meets last year in Poland and Italy. The charges that Nurmi failed to fulfill promises to appear or that he obtained money by misrepresentation or improperly do not agree with information I have from Finland.

"I have known Nurmi personally for the better part of ten years and I have never known him to fail to keep a promise made to anyone or to be a party to any agreements that would jeopardize his amateur standing."

American athletic officials feel that considerable undue mystery surrounds the Nurmi case.

So far as the facts can be placed together, it appears that the Polish runner Pietkiewicz and some asso-

COLIC ATTACK KILLS HORSE THAT WON 37 RACES AND $322,750

Death Ends Plan for Eastern Invasion; Won $50,000 Agua Caliente Handicap in Lone North American Start.

Autopsy Disproves Rumors of Foul Play; Growths Munched in Nearby Field Blamed; First Sold for $800.

MENLO PARK, Calif., April 5 (A.P.).—With the suddenness of the lightning from which he took his name, the career of Phar Lap—in Senegalese, "Wink of the Sky"—ended here today when the wonder horse of Australia died of colic. The big red gelding, who traveled nearly 10,000 miles from Australia to win the $50,000 Agua Caliente Handicap without a preliminary race, captured the admiration of lovers of horseflesh throughout America.

The illness developed under the watchful eye of Tommy Woodcock, faithful trainer who has scarcely been out of arm's reach of his charge since the arrival of the famous horse in San Francisco last January 15.

Four of Phar Lap's closest followers were in attendance from early morning, when the horse's distress was first noticed, until the end. They were Dr. Walter Neilsen, veterinarian; Jack Martin, exercise boy; Woodcock and William Elliott, jockey.

Trainers said the horse was permitted occasionally to nibble at a tuft of grass while exercising in an adjoining field and veterinarians expressed belief that a foxtail or bit of alfalfa or barley sodden with dew brought on the colic that finished the life Davis said he valued at $500,000.

Autopsy Shows No Poison.

An autopsy was performed by two veterinarians after rumors Phar Lap was poisoned had gained wide circulation. The examination showed the stomach in a highly inflamed condition and, the veterinarians said, the irritation was caused by food. Phar Lap's diet since his coming to the United States had been carefully regulated and based on fodder brought from Australia.

When rumors continued to circulate that the horse's death was not due to natural causes, attendants pointed out that the "Red Terror" was under constant guard and his trainer slept in his stall. Phar Lap was "ailing" at 6 a. m. when Woodcock awoke to prepare him for the morning exercise. Woodcock summoned Dr. William Nielsen, veterinarian, who administered medicine, and the horse was exercised. All efforts failed and the horse died this afternoon.

Two days ago the 6-year-old racer was operated on for a sore hoof and a portion of it was shaved off, but Owner Davis had announced it was not serious and a return to perfect condition within a few days was expected.

Phar Lap's easy triumph in the biggest annual West Coast racing event brought his total winnings to $322,750, well up in the list of all-time winnings.

Owner Notified of Misfortune.

Davis' first intimation of the misfortune which had befallen his stables was a telegram from an attache.

The "Red Terror," as he was known "down under" while winning $282,000, was purchased as a yearling by Harry Telford, coowner with Davis, for $800. The deal was made on the recommendation of a friend of Telford's almost "sight unseen" by virtue of Phar Lap's pedigree.

After the many sensational performances of the New Zealand-born racer in Australia he was brought to America across wintry seas on a ship in which a special cabin had been built for him on the afterdeck. Food to which he was accustomed was brought along and he was kept heavily blanketed and closely guarded.

With scarcely any conventional conditioning workouts he was moved in an automobile van the several hundred miles from San Francisco to the border racing plant. There some 15,000 enthusiastic track fans saw Jockey Elliott bring him home a winner over the best Western speedsters. The odds had shortened to 7 to 5 by the time the barrier was sprung, with Spanish Play, shipped from New Orleans especially for the classic, rated at 2 to 1.

Son of English Horse.

Phar Lap was the son of Night Hald, imported English horse, out of Entreaty, a New Zealand mare. His phenominal winnings in Australia included races at all distances from 8 furlongs to 2 miles. In winning the Craven Stakes last September he set a new Australian record of 2:02¼ for the mile and a quarter.

Races Lost 'Babe Ruth', Says Turf President

Chicago, April 5 (A.P.).—Col. Matt Winn, president of the American Turf Association, termed the death of Phar Lap, Australia's "wonder horse," as a great blow to American racing.

"It's simply horrible," Col Winn said. "He was at his peak and had just given racing on this side one of its greatest thrills in years. He was like a Babe Ruth to the turf. We had planned to get him for a big international stake race here this summer."

Shikat in Draw Again; This Time With Stein

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—Dick Shikat, 216, Philadelphia, drew with Sammy Stein, 200, Newark, in their heavyweight wrestling bout at the New York Coliseum tonight. The bout was stopped after 54 minutes of action by the 11 o'clock closing law.

Leo Pinetzki, 282, Poland, threw Alex Aberg, 210, Russia, 12:42; Sandor Szabo, 205, Hungary, drew with Renato Gardini, 200, Italy; Fritz Kley, 212, Germany, drew with George Hagen, 212, New York; Lelo Nardi, 210, Italy, threw Gene Bruce, 200, Finland, 15:48.

Maryland Nine Plays At Virginia U. Today

Bill McIlwee, Maryland University's diminutive but effective southpaw pitcher, is slated to make his 1932 debut today at Charlottesville, Va., where the Old Liners will engage Virginia's Cavaliers, barring inclement weather.

McIlwee won fame last year by holding Virginia to one hit in his first game as a varsity hurler.

Spencer Chase, elongated first baseman, probably will not play for Maryland today as a result of an injury sustained in batting practice yesterday when he was struck on the right thumb by a pitched ball. With Chase on the bench, Hymie Gorman, last year's regular first sacker, will take the doorway post, moving in from the outfield, while Cronin or Benner will go to Gorman's garden position.

Baltimore Mermen Bow to Ambassadors

The Ambassador Swimming Club, District A. A. U. team champions, wound up the most successful season ever enjoyed by the organization last night when the Baltimore Y. M. C. A., South Atlantic A. A. U. champions, were beaten 40 to 35.

A new pool record of 1:37 4-5 was established by the Ambassador relay team for the 200-yard distance. Gomez, Rote Alvarado and Bateson performed well for the winners.

50-YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Bateson (A.); second, Gomez (A.); third, Sandrock (B.). Time, 0:24 1-5.

100-YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Rote (A.); second, Kinsley (B.); third, Clarkson (B.). Time, 0:54.

220-YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Kleas (B.); second, Vandenberg (B.); third, Polkinhorn (A.). Time, 2:38.

100-YARD BACK STROKE—Won by Vandenberg (B.); second, Dodd (B.); third, Lavin (A.). Time, 1:06.

100-YARD BREAST STROKE—Won by Alvarado (A.); second, High (B.); third, Kinsler (A.). Time, 1:12.

150-YARD MEDLEY RELAY—Won by Ambassador (Rote, Alvarado and Bateson). Time, 1:22.

200-YARD RELAY—Won by Ambassador (Gomez, Smith, Rote, Bateson). Time, 1:37 4-5 (new pool record).

FANCY DIVING—Won by Gomez (A.), 71.1; second, Anchikiatus (B.), 63.2; third, Smith (A.), 61.2.

President's Arm Ready To Toss Out First Ball

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover will drop the cares of his office next Monday afternoon, at least long enough to toss out the first ball in the season's opening game here between the Washington Nationals and the Boston Red Sox.

Smiling broadly, the President told the newspapermen gathered around his desk yesterday that he had been asked if he could attend the game. He added, still smiling, that he was "glad" to say that he could, and then proceeded with the reading of two statements on weighty national and international affairs.

Mr. Hoover's throwing arm has been trained during the winter at his daily medicine ball game with a 4-pound ball.

PHANTOM LEGION EXTENDED TO TAKE FEATURE AT BOWIE

Ziegler Entry Wins by a Nose

Regula Baddun Fails to Catch Leader in Challenge.

Era, Paying $118, Is High Mutual Record for Meet.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

DERBY and Preakness candidates supplied the high point on yesterday's program at Bowie and Phantom Legion, in the purple and red silks of the William Ziegler, jr., string, took chief honors, the Ona Munson Trophy and paid off at the rate of $7.40 in the important money transactions that went into the race.

Had that thin black line across from the judges stands been a few feet to the right the number of Regula Baddun would have been at the top. This High Time juvenile was breaking the 100-yard dash record at the finish and lacked a nose of winning. Three lengths behind this pair came Arrow from the J. E. Davis holdings.

Eddie Watters did the riding on Phantom Legion with Hank Mills, Florida star, booting Regula Baddun.

Phantom Legion Takes Lead Entering Stretch.

Jib Boom, the Greentree Stable's Derby hope, broke in front as the field left the gate with 5½ furlongs ahead. Phantom Legion was running with Jib Boom, with Arrow third. Phantom Legion raced Jib Boom off his feet and went on with Regula Baddun the chief contender. Brave and Bold, the favorite, appeared menacing at this point, sliding through on the inside in fourth position as the field swung into the stretch. There was no change in the leaders thereafter.

The crowd continued to attend in big numbers, more than 10,000 turning out.

The Valor, listed as the fifth race, brought a good field of five older horses to the stall gate for action over the mile and 70 yards route. The winner was Impish, colorbearer of the Wheatley Stable. This time Hank Mills did not have to worry about the nose end of it. However he was forced to do some clever riding to draw the son of Peter Pan out of the pack coming around the stretch turn. It was a victory in which the boy and the horse divided the honors.

Impish Moves Up From Far Back.

Colossal, a Trojan veteran, was second after a rough trip, with John F. third. Colossal and Gay Bird went around the clubhouse turn in front, with Impish last under a tight grip. There was little change in the relative positions until the far turn, where Impish began to move up and gained command before the field turned for home. Colossal came again to furnish the chief battle and Mills was forced to shake up the ultimate winner.

Era provided the day's financial historia when he popped down the stretch to beat Wrackell by a neck and pay off at odds of $118.40 for $2 in the sixth. War Saint was five lengths behind the leading pair, Jockey Meade kept Era close to War Saint until the swing at the far turn, where the veteran gelding slid through on the rail to assume command. Wrackell challenged the long-shot when the field straightened out in the stretch. The pair ran as a team for the wire, but Era outgamed his well-played rival to pay the longest price of the meeting.

Keggy, coupled with Nimble Player, as the Lipscomb-Clark entry, accounted for the opening dash for 2-year-olds, with Sonny Workman in the saddle. Bolilee, from the Belair Stud, was second, ahead of Blazing Crimp, owned by P. H. Faulconer.

Workman Hard Put to Put Keggy Over.

Keggy, gelded son of Strolling Player, the property of R. S. Clark, displayed high speed from start to finish of the 4-furlong sprint. Away winging, he was given some early fight for the lead by All Play, and then drew out ahead of the field rounding the stretch turn. Workman had to work on the youngster at the end to stave off a rush by Bolilee. Blazing Crimp was a far back third. The entry paid $24.70.

Don Romiro proved as good as his backers believed him to be in the second event, winning handily over a group of twelve platers. Vishnu, with Workman trying for a second victory, was the place horse, with Common third. Workman broke Vishnu in front, and Gilbert had Common laying right up by Vishnu's bridle. This pair ran like a team, with Don Romiro third, until the stretch was reached. Jockey Mel Lewis, on Don Romiro, then made his move, and, in the last furlong, the Pagan Fan gelding drew away from its opposition.

Garlic and Jockey Gilbert, the Havana sensation, made it two straight as a Bowie combination in the third. B. B. Allen's colt made it a double for favorite players. Keith set the early pace, followed by Trauffey and Martinelli, with Garlic far back, as the field took the clubhouse turn.

Garlic Moves Up With A Rush.

Over by the chute, Garlic began to move up with a rush, and midway of the stretch had a good advantage. Garlic sailed away from the field in the stretch and Gilbert had only to sit still. Judge Caverly and Genial Host had quite a battle for second money.

Gully Jumper, at 14 to 1, beat Nealon Kay a length in the last, with Brass Monkey the same distance behind for third. Brass Monkey got off to a poor start and closed to make up a lot of ground. Meade also had this mount, to make it two in a row.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—KEGGY (W. H. Lipscomb entry), $24.70, $8.90, $5.80; BOLILEE, $11.20, $9.00; BLAZING CRIMP, $14.40.

KEGGY, displaying high early speed, took command directly after the break, went into a clear lead when straightened into the home stretch, but was forced to a severe drive in the closing furlong to stall off BOLILEE. Latter improved his position on the outside and closed full of run and was wearing the winner down steadily. BLAZING CRIMP suffered wide swing on turn. Rushed gamely when straightened into the home stretch. ALL PLAY met with interference rounding the turn, but held on well. DROMBO broke fast and clear, but raced greenly. LA CONTESSA was unable to threaten the leaders. STROLL ALONG was blocked following the break and could not enter contention. SISKO raced very green.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:31. Off at 2:33. Winner, J. Keene's bk. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DON ROMIRO, $6.10, $4.20, $2.60; VISHNU, $6.60, $4.20; COMMON, $3.30.

DON ROMIRO, rated close to the leaders and racing on the inside, gained stoutly to reach the pacemakers when entering the home stretch, took command inside the closing furlong and came away without effort. VISHNU, hurried to the front, withstood keen contention from COMMON, but could not withstand the winner's rush. COMMON forced a good early pace, lost ground when forced out at the stretch turn, and weakened in the final drive. PREDICT, rushed hard all the way, was going gamely at the end. LAMPOON, slow to get going, came through on the inside in the final stages and finished stoutly. AMERICANA raced wide for the entire journey. TRICYCLE was forced back rounding the turn. He finished gamely when securing racing room. MEDICINE BOW stopped.

THIRD RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:59. Off at 3:00. Winner, R. Ballen's b. c. (4), by Pot au Feu—Miss Palatine. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:42 2-5, 1:56.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GARLIC, $5.00, $3.50, $2.50; JUDGE CAVVERLY, $6.90, $4.10; GENIAL HOST, $3.50.

GARLIC, sent into a prominent position when settled on the back stretch after losing ground at the first turn, raced KEITH into submission, saved much ground when in command and, going into a safe lead, finished with speed to spare. JUDGE CAVERLY, close up and racing gamely, held the others safe. GENIAL HOST, sluggish in reaching full stride, responded when placed to punishment and closed stoutly in the final half mile. PLAYBILL came with good courage in the late stages. KEITH weakened badly when challenged. MARTINELLI had no mishaps. BLUE DARTER was weakly ridden.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,400; allowances. One Munson Trophy. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates for all but War Plane. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 3:30. Off at 3:34½. Winner, W. Zeigler's ch. g. (3), by Our General—Phantom Fairy. Trained by C. Phillips. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 3-5, 1:06 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PHANTOM LEGION, $7.40, $4.50, $3.50; REGULA BADDUN, $8.70, $6.50; ARROW, $6.20.

PHANTOM LEGION, racing JIB BOOM into submission, assumed a brief lead when midway of the turn, saved ground thereafter and, holding on resolutely, outstayed REGULA BADDUN. Latter, rolling in his best, followed close to the leaders, swung to the outside entering the home stretch and, finishing strong, would have been winner in a few more strides. ARROW, forced to race on the outside from the start, held on well when placed to punishment. BRAVE AND BOLD, in tight quarters in the first furlong, was unable to get up in time when making his challenge, but was not good enough. MY FERGUS broke well, but was unable to stay with the pacemakers. BIG BEAU closed with a rush on the outside. JIB BOOM tired badly. WAR PLANE was away poorly.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,400; allowances. The Valor. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start poor from gates. Won, ridden out; place, driving. Went to post at 4:04. Off at 4:07. Winner, Wheatley Stable's ch. c. (4), by Peter Pan—Stirma. Trained by G. Tappen. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:49 1-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:41, 1:45 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—IMPISH, $9.70, $3.50, $2.90; COLOSSAL, $4.00, $3.10; JOHN F, $4.00.

IMPISH, allowed to trail his field for the first six furlongs, went to the leaders with good speed and, assuming command midway of the final turn, held COLOSSAL safe under pressure. Latter broke in motion and took early command under sufferance. He came again after challenge back and was going gamely at the end. JOHN F., racing fairly close up, weakened during the stretch drive. ROYAL RUFFIN was in tight quarters leaving the back stretch and fell back. GAY BIRD was used up forcing the early pace and quit when kept in the softer footing next the inner rail.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:34. Off at 4:41½. Winner, H. A. Catalano's b. g. (6), by Audacious—Notime. Trained by P. T. Catalano. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:42, 1:55 3-5.

LADY BIENVILLE	107	1	8	10	10	10	10	10	Prain	54.10

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ERA, $118.40, $45.50, $16.90; WRACKELL, $5.80, $3.80; WAR SAINT, $3.40.

ERA, hustled into a forward position, took command rounding the far turn, responded gamely to punishment after losing the lead nearing the final furlong pole and, coming again inside, held safe second. WRACKELL, after a brief brush with the leaders, went into a slight lead in the final furlong, but weakened approaching the finish. WAR SAINT, under restraint while setting the early pace, could not keep pace with the first two when challenged. BO BALLOT raced evenly. STAR LASSIE hung back the real test came. FETISH met with early interference. SILVERY was crowded back going to the first turn. EASTER BOY tired.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start bad from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:09. Off at 5:12. Winner, A. Snyder's ch. g. (4), by Spanish Prince II—Great Dolly. Trained by C. C. Hastings. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 3-5, 1:16 2-5, 1:42 3-5, 1:56 1-5.

GOLDEN PLAY	105	4	4	3hd	8hd	8hd	9	Wylie	24.70

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GULLY JUMPER, $29.40, $10.00, $5.90; NEALON KAY, $5.20, $3.30; BRASS MONKEY, $2.90.

GULLY JUMPER, going in suddenly improved form, moved up fast in the final half mile, came through on the inside of ROAN ANTELOPE and NEALON KAY during the stretch run and, finishing fast, was up in the last sixteenth mile. NEALON KAY, rated off the early pace, swung wide into the home stretch, but closed with good energy. BRASS MONKEY, away poorly and far back for seven furlongs, made up ground rapidly in the final three-sixteenths. EARL OF WARWICK began quickest, but was used up racing with ROAN ANTELOPE. Latter raced EARL OF WARWICK into defeat, went into a good lead, but swerved out badly at the stretch turn and tired. BRIGHT DAY was weakly handled throughout. GUNTHER quit. SHANETTE had no chance with the start.

D. C. Powerboat Body To Make Plans Tonight

The annual meeting of the Chesapeake and Potomac Power Boat Association will be held tonight at 7 o'clock at the Press Club, where plans will be promulgated for the various regattas to be held during the Bicentennial year, including the famous President's Cup regatta.

NATION-WIDE FACES TWO GAMES

Lee-Jackson Nine Is Foe Today; Hamilton Leads Carters.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., April 5.—Two games of baseball have been scheduled by Theodore Beach, manager of the Nation-Wide nine for this week. The Storemen will oppose the Lee-Jackson High School outfit tomorrow afternoon at Lee-Jackson at 4 o'clock, while on Saturday they will engage the Fraters in a practice tussle at Baggett's stadium.

James Simpson or Finny Gardner will hurl for the Storemen while K. Lewis will pitch for Lee-Jackson in tomorrow's encounter.

Manager Ralph Scrivener, of Fraters, announced today he had scheduled East Radford tossers for a game on May 20, at East Radford, Va.

Doggie Hamilton has been elected as coach of the Carter Motor Co. nine. His first act was to call a drill for Wednesday evening at 5:15 o'clock on Haydon's Field. The following players have been requested to report: H. Robinson, Darley, Lynch, Foote, Cabell, Haywood, Scott, J. Beck, Painter, T. Beck, S. Dreifus, Billie Travers, L. Barnett and Billie Padgett.

The Fordmen will perform in the proposed commercial loop besides playing a number of independent games.

A reorganization meeting of the Colonial A. C. has been called for Thursday evening at the home of Mr. Dolph, on Alexander avenue, at 7:30 o'clock. John Minnigh, local umpire, will coach the Colonials. It was announced the team will play all games on Guckert's Field.

NATIONALS DEFEAT KNOXVILLE, 10 TO 7

second inning, and the third hit off Weaver was Taylor's double which went for naught. Jones' homer offset Berg's similar blow in the Nats' second inning.

Ossie Bluege accounted for all three of the Nats' runs in the third with his clout over the left-field wall after West and Kerr had singled, but the Smokies attacked Weaver for two more runs in their half, a pass to Freigau and doubles by Bigelow and Jones accounting for the trio.

At this point an accounting shows that the five hits permitted by Weaver in the first three innings consisted of two home runs and three doubles, and if Weaver can rustle a compliment out of that he's a magician.

Scoring then ceased until the Nats made their final cluster of three runs in the sixth, he result of a pass to Maple, Kuhel's homer and Myer's triple.

Lloyd Brown, sore arm and all, took up the hurling burden in the sixth and set the Smokies down in order. But he was reached for four singles and two runs in the seventh, which were abetted by a wild pitch.

In the ninth, both Kuhel and Myer attempted to kick the Nats' four-run advantage away with errors on ground balls, but Brownie held the damage to one run following Stuffy Stewart's double, which Sam West and Carl Reynolds permitted to drop safely under the spell of the Alphonse-Gaston act.

The Nats have now won fifteen of the sixteen exhibition games this spring, the best showing among the teams in the South.

Knoxville will be the opposition again tomorrow, with Bob Friedrich and Mike Delaney due to hurl for the Nats.

Montie Weaver left for his home at Lansing, N. C., tonight to visit the home folks, and Lloyd Brown went back to Chattanooga for treatment to his pitching arm.

The Nats' heavy artillery was shooting for the nearby fences all afternoon, but neither West, Reynolds nor Manush could come close to the barriers, a feat which the lightweights in the batting order found comparatively easy.

LEGION MEETING OFF.

Because of Army Day, the regular meeting of the American Legion athletic officers will not be held tonight, but has been transferred to April 14, at legion headquarters in the Transportation Building.

AT THE POST with Bill Bennings

Bowie Race Track.

Dear Al,

Did you have Era? Neither did I. But we were in on the long-shot parade even if it did come by the side door. Nimble Player, of the Lipscomb-Clark entry, didn't do it but Keggy did, and $24.70 is a price in any language. I still think Nimble Player is a capable youngster. So much for At The Post mortems.

As Blondie Johnson sings through his cardboard megaphone as the crowd is leaving, "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life, at Last I've Found You-o-o." Here's some more:

Adding a sort of Bicentennial touch to the program today, Racing Secretary McLennan has lined up The Maratha Washington, a five and one-half furlong dash for three-year-olds and upwards. Personally, I lean to VACILLATE, having used my magnifying glass to assure myself that there is no Jaz Age hidden in the entries. That was a neat effort VACILLATE turned in opening day and may better that effort a little today. Was sharp at Havana and appears to be sharper now. Robertson is likely to ride again. TRED AVON was a classy juvenile when tucked away for the winter and will come out with a lot of ability today. Should make it hot for the top one but the old "needs racing" hazard may spoil her chances. Like MODERN QUEEN for third ahead of ON TAP.

FIRST RACE—ZODE, favored by a good post position, showed flashes of form last year and has filled out during the winter. Said to be a strong colt and has that Audley Farm prestige behind it. SULTRY has had more racing than anything in this maiden race and has been close up consistently. Tough one to pick so high. STEP LIZ had early speed last year and is expected to be up there today as far as she goes.

SECOND RACE—WISE KID, son of Wise Counsellor, may win at the first asking. Has worked impressively and does not have whole lot to beat. Not much real class among those in this field that have started before, but SONSY must be considered on Florida race. SONSY is far down the list and may not get in the race. SCOTCH BELLE for third if for no other reason than the breeding.

THIRD RACE—TWISTED THREADS has a good chance in this field. Meeting older horses, but was a fair 2-year-old last season and worked through the winter, accounting for the long end of a purse. DADDY NELSON, which figured prominently hereabouts last year, may press TWISTED THREADS. NEALON KAY may not be sent back, and, then again, will have to be moved up out of the also eligibles to have a chance.

FOURTH RACE—SUN MEMORY disappointed an army of backers the last time but I expect this Sun Briar gelding to make amends. A different track should help. DUNLIN'S LAD will have to hot-foot it a little faster than last time to defeat these animals. Workman may get a little more mileage but I doubt it. EVERYTIME for third off races of last season.

SIXTH RACE—OPEN HEARTH had speed enough to circle his field the other day and then fight it out to a nose finish with Jolly Pilot. A better start today and this race is in the bag. PENDING was right up there in that field and I expect him to be a contender today. TRIPLE THREAT was better than average at the fall meeting and may make trouble here.

SEVENTH RACE—MEANDER ran an even race last time and gets call in this field. May bounce right up to that good 1931 form and punch the clock. LUCK PIECE shivered at New Orleans while we were golfing and won a race. SQUEEZE PLAY, from the South, for third.

NATS' FLAG FATE LIES WITH HURLERS

base for the Beaneaters, while the other is none other than our old friend, Tom Zachary, a pitching star here for many years, who still ranks among the topnotchers.

Zachary has been showing such good form in training that Manager Bill McKechnie has intimated that he will start the veteran southpaw in the opening game and, if he plans to do this, he likely will use him against the Nats tomorrow as a final preseason prep. But, whether or not Zachary hurls, with Shires chattering away at first and, with a fast team behind him, an interesting afternoon is promised Washington fans.

Several changes will be noted in Griffith Stadium, the most popular being the new concrete from the gates to the stands. This was done to keep the cash customers from getting wet and muddy feet immediately after rains. Groundkeeper Eamil Haesman has the diamond looking like a billiard table, the outfield as good as it ever was, and the rails and seats have been freshly painted.

All in all, it looks as though tomorrow's clash with the Braves—only the Nats' second against major league competition this spring—should prove to be a good appetizer for the regular menu to be offered next week.

BUSINESS DEFEATS GONZAGA

Stenogs Slug Out 17 to 5 Victory

Fraydin Leads With Four Hits, Including a Triple.

Business Packs Away Verdict With Big Rally in 4th.

THE big bats of Business High whacked out their second victory in two starts yesterday afternoon at Rosedale Playground when the Stenog sluggers downed Gonzaga, 17-5, in a walkaway victory. The batting hero of a batting game was Jakie Fraydin, who cracked out four safeties in five trips to the platter, including a triple.

Gonzaga was never in the running, as Business took a 2-0 advantage in the first inning and broadened it to 6-0 in the second. Gonzaga, on the work of Dunan and Grace, rallied a bit in the third inning, but Business put the game in the record books in the fourth when a typical high school hitting orgy gave them seven runs and a 13-1 lead.

The Business nine once more showed tremendous strength at the plate, even though Biff Flynn, its hardest batter, was absent from the line-up. Gonzaga, feeling keenly the loss of Francis Cleary, its star pitcher of last season, could send no one out on the mound who could stop the flow of Business bingles. Jimmy Garner, ace Business hurler, allowed Gonzaga only two hits during his four-inning stay on the slab.

Fraydin also registered seven put-outs and stole three bases.

One Upset Marks Women's Golf Play

Sedgefield Country Club, Greensboro, N. C., April 5 (A.P.).—The unexpected defeat of Bea Gottlieb, of New York, by Mrs. Ashby Taylor, of Atlanta, featured first-round match play in the Sedgefield Country Club's Dogwood golf tournament today.

Miss Gottlieb, who was favored to reach the semifinals, fell before the steady stroking of the Atlanta entry, 4 and 2. All the other matches followed form and left four Southern players, two from the East and two from the Middle West in the quarter-finals tomorrow.

Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, the medalist and defending title holder, turned back Deane Van Landingham, of Charlotte, former Carolinas champion, 5 and 3.

SAINTS HOLD WESTERN TO TIE

String Is Knotted at 2-All in Extra-Inning Game.

THE slim line of St. Alban's School baseball players stopped Western High yesterday and held the favored public high nine to a 2-to-2 decision in a game called after ten innings. Ray Patton, who hurled the entire ten innings for St. Alban's, held Western to four hits and struck out six men.

Payne Turns in Good Mound Shift.

Bill Payne, Western's big speedball artist, worked the last six innings and held St. Alban's to one hit, striking out eight of the Saints. It was an auspicious start of the season for a youth who is expected to figure largely in the coming high school series.

Both teams had chances to break the tie after St. Alban's had led 2 to 1 up until the seventh inning. St. Alban's had men on second and third in the eighth and ninth chapters, while Western had a man on second, with one out, in the tenth.

70 Amateur Matmen In D. C. Title Tourney

A field of more than 70 amateur wrestlers is expected to participate in the second annual District A. A. U. grappling championship, whose entries close Friday. The tournament will be run off next Monday and Friday, at the Boys Club.

Unprecedented interest has been shown in amateur rassling this year in Washington. The Y. M. C. A. is expected to enter the largest number of grapplers, closely followed by the Jewish Community Center.

HEIGHTSMEN MEET.

The Congress Heights A. C. members are scheduled to meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Baptist Portable. Buts Beagle is booking games for the club at Lincoln 1470-M between 5 and 7 p. m.

Hitting —The— Head Pin

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON

THE last major bowling exhibition of the year for Washingtonians will be staged tonight and tomorrow at Convention Hall with the Connecticut Blue Ribbons and District All-Stars as opponents. There will be no matches rolled this afternoon.

Tonight will see such stars as Nick Tronsky, Jack White, Bill Tato, Mike Bogino, Max Rosenberg, Paul Harrison, Earl McPhilomy, Ollie Pacini, Reds Megaw, Astor Clarke and Brad Mandley in action.

Thursday the New Englanders stack up against Northeast Temple on the latter's drives in the afternoon, and at night will be represented in a four-cornered doubles match at Convention Hall. The following pairs will roll: Ray Barnes and Wesley Askew, Baltimore; Archie Capisto and Jim O'Lindy, Boston; Nick Tronsky and Bill Tato, Connecticut; Ollie Pacini and "Reds" Megaw, a couple of local youngsters.

Spectators will be taxed the insignificant sum of 50 cents for the privilege of viewing the matches, which will be pooled for a prize fund.

Ray Barnes seems to be just as good at picking winners as he is at the duckpin game. Waiting for the horses to leave the barrier in the sixth yesterday he remarked that "I think Era is going to win this one." It did, and paid $118. No, neither of us had him.

Don't forget the second annual Washington Suburban tournament which opens Monday, April 18, at the Mount Rainier and Hyattsville alleys. Entrants will be classified in four groups: A, 108 and over; B, 104 to 107; C, 100 to 103; D, 99 and under. The doubles and teams will be classified in a like manner.

Cool's Drinks went out on top of the crack Columbia Heights Bowling League last night and stayed there, for it was the last night of play. It was a Garrison finish. For two weeks Cool's and Swan's have been tied. Last night, over the Arcadia drives, Cool's came through by beating Ford Electric, 3—0, while Swan's was dropping a game to Liondale Shirts.

It was the first time the Cool's outfit has gotten its head above water in this league. Last year they finished fifth. On the club are Paul and Ouncie Harrison, Red Rhodes, Perce Wolfe and Charlie Bernhardt. Bernhardt's 147 game and Paul Harrison's 377 set aided Cool's considerably. The winning club had a game total of 639 and a set mark of 1,779.

An all-time record of 150 wooden bottles for one game was established last night in the Internal Revenue Ladies League when Mrs. Lynette Payne, of the Administrative team, levelled that many, breaking the 147 mark established last year. Her set total was 341, which was equaled oy Mrs. Pitts, of Statistical.

Administrative had a 1,500 set and 532 game.

The Beeques, Whalen and Goodall were the outstanding figures in the Washington Ladies League, at Columbia. The Beeques had a 1,532 set total, a mark they shared with the Shamrocks, and a 529 game, a mark they shared with no one.

Wendell Moyer's 139 game and 391 set topped the north Washington Church League rolling, also at Columbia. Gunton Temple ran away with team honors by busting 587 and 1,662.

HIGHLIGHTS AT LUCKY.

Supervising Architect's League—Brody's 149, Story's 382, Imperials' 577 and Victorians' 1,623.

Eastern Star Ladies—Hughs' 116, Dorsey's 323, Mount Pleasant's 516 and Milans' 1,430.

Insurance League—O'Connell's 132, Lewis' 363 and Aetna's 878 and 1,595.

MISS ORCUTT OFF GAME WITH 84

Finds Too Many Hazards in Match at Chevy Chase.

MISS MAUREEN ORCUTT, who holds at least three golf championship titles—Canadian, Florida State and North and South—returned to her home in New York yesterday afternoon, after a two days' visit to the National Capital. Her final round of golf before her departure was played yesterday morning on the course of the Chevy Chase Club.

Her game yesterday was not as spectacular as the round which she negotiated on the Columbia course Monday afternoon, when her card totaled 74 strokes. On the contrary, she started out yesterday morning by making acquaintance with bunkers on the first five holes.

Finds Traps First Five Holes.

On the first hole she was in the trap on the right of the green; on the second her ball carried into a trap from the tee; and in succession she found the left-hand traps on the third, fourth and fifth holes, so that her score showed an average of 5 for each hole. Out in 43, she three-putted the tenth green and instead of carrying the ditch which guards the eleventh green, her ball hit the top of the bank and dropped back, necessitating a penalty stroke. She finished with 82, as follows:

Out .....5 6 5 4 5 5 4 5 4—43
In .....4 6 4 4 4 4 4 4 5—39—82

Miss Orcutt was paired with McCook Dunlop against Mrs. Emery Smith and Robt. T. Barnett, the club professional. The latter were one down on the eighteenth tee, but on the final hole Barnett was the only player to get home with his second stroke and easily holed out with two putts for a par 4 and a win, squaring the match. A gallery of interested spectators followed the match.

GALLAGHER VICTIM OF BARRY'S ATTACK

appeared in better form than when he last appeared at Portner's against Natie Brown. Dan Carroll's protege for once showed some aggressiveness in the early rounds. In the third round Marty had Barry completely on the defensive, driving in with rights to the face and causing Reds to dance away for safety, and in the fifth and sixth Gallagher hurt his foe in the midsection with machine-like blows from both fists.

Fight Is Fairly Even.

Until the beginning of the seventh the advantage was a matter of doubt, but Gallagher's sixth-round attack goaded Barry into a winning state of mind, the last two rounds finding the youngster beating Marty to the punch and landing clean blows two for one. In the midst of his rally Barry absorbed two terrific body clouts but weathered them in fine style and was tossing gloves at the final bell.

Sammy Braunstein, Navy Yard Marine, walloped Whitey Saylor, Birmingham (Ala.) welterweight, to earn the decision in six rounds of the best preliminary bout. Sammy whipped over a couple of deadly rights to the beard to score knockdowns in the fifth and final stanzas.

Henry Irving, hard-hitting but unscientific local middleweight, was given a neat pasting by Sam Pinazzo, of Baltimore, in the main preliminary of six rounds. Roddy Davis, Capital lightweight, upset George Esrick in four, while in other melees of the same duration Young Groves, local feather, outpointed Humpty Decola, a home-town rival, and Jack Quigley, Washington junior welter, shaded Bob Golsby, of Fort Howard.

WARD PLAN BACKED IN ALEXANDRIA VOTE

Primary Balloting Is Heavy as Democrats Nominate Six Councilmen.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

An unexpectedly heavy vote was cast in five of the six wards of Alexandria yesterday in the Democratic primary for the selection of candidates for the city council, the result being conceded as equivalent to election. The one exception was the fifth ward, in which Henry O'Bannon Cooper was unopposed. In the recent election to determine whether the ward plan or at large plan of city government should be adopted, this ward cast 524 votes, while only 101 were polled yesterday.

In the first ward, J. Edward Shinn defeated William J. McCaffrey; in the second, Judge Louis C. Barley defeated J. Harvey Robinson and Frank C. Pullin; in the third, Michael T. Dwyer, the only incumbent, defeated Dr. Roy Case; in the fourth, Nicholas J. Lawler, former member of the council under the old plan, defeated George K. Bender; in the fifth, Henry O'Bannon Cooper, unopposed, was nominated, and in the sixth, E. C. Davison defeated Arthur F. Campbell.

The vote by wards follows:

First—Shinn, 277; McCaffery, 135; void 2, total 414. Second—Barley, 226; Pullin, 75; Robinson, 42; void 3, total 346. Third—Dwyer, 283; Case, 73; void 8; total 364. Fourth—Lawler, 282; Bender, 137; void 1, total 420. Fifth—Cooper, 101. Sixth—Davison, 327; Campbell, 124; total 451.

These nominees will come up for election June 14, when the general election will be held.

This election, together with the one last Tuesday, will mean that the form of city government will be changed, the present council being composed of five councilmen, all elected at large, while under the newly adopted form there will be three elected at large and one from each of the six wards, or nine councilmen in all.

Brig. Gen. Oscar Westover, assistant chief of the United States Air Corps, was the speaker at the dinner-meeting of the George Washington Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association, last night in the George Mason Hotel. This chapter will follow the policy of having a representative of some branch of the service speak at each meeting.

Dan S. Hollenga, chairman of the committee arranging the annual Army Day dinner of Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion, will present Col. P. Pillon, Military Attache of the French Embassy, as the guest of honor at the dinner this evening, at 6:30 o'clock, in the George Mason Hotel.

Police Capt. John S. Arnold yesterday issued a statement calling motorists' attention to the stop signs placed on Cameron street, at Washington street, by direction of city council. All vehicles must come to a full stop before crossing Washington street, and parking within 25 feet of the signs is prohibited.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Margaret Bivens, 60, died Monday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Richard E. Stuart, 306 North Columbus street. Besides her daughter, Mrs. Stuart, she is survived by a son, W. O. Bivins, of Martinsburg, W. Va. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning in Martinsburg.

Arlington Kiwanians Fete Two Clubs Here

The Arlington County Kiwanis Club was host last night to members of the Washington and Alexandria clubs at an oyster supper at the Auth meat packing plant on D street southwest.

Amos C. Crounse, president of the Arlington Club, greeted the guests. John F. Webster was program chairman. The Arlington Club will have an Army Day program at a luncheon today at the Windsor Arms Tea House. Col. S. Gordon Green, of Fort Myer, will be in charge, and Maj. R. L. Maxwell, of the ordnance department, will be the speaker.

Beltsville Grade Change Postponed

County Board Will Study Further Rail Plan for Flashing Lights.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad wants to substitute flashing lights for the gates at the Beltsville, Md., grade crossing, but the Prince Georges Board of County Commissioners yesterday decided not to grant permission for the change until it has received further study.

The railroad says there is some sentiment in the vicinity in favor of the change, and that it will give 24-hour warning service. At present the watchman who operates the gates is on duty only 12 hours.

The board at its meeting yesterday also received a letter from the Cheverly Citizens Association, supporting the commissioners in their refusal to grant permits for boxing bouts in the county. E. S. Aldridge was appointed forest warden in Riverdale, but appointment of Toivo V. Lehto to a similar post in Takoma Park was held up while the board investigates Lehto.

Eastern Star Picks Officers at Clifton

Mrs. Pyles Is Elected as Worthy Matron by Virginia Chapter.

The Clifton Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, at Clifton Station, Va., has elected Mrs. Ruth Pyles worthy matron; Howard J. West, worthy patron; Mrs. Fannie Hart, associate matron, and Randolph Buckely, associate patron.

Other officers elected were: Secretary, Mrs. Grace Mathers; treasurer, Robert Buckley; chaplain, Mrs. Addie Weaver; marshal, Mrs. Louise Merchant; organist, Mrs. Helen Buckley; conductress, Mrs. Annie Adair; associate conductress, Mrs. Maude Taylor; warden, Mrs. Pauline Clinton, and sentinel, Clyde Mathers.

The five star points appointed by the new matron were: Adah, Mrs. Julia Riordan; Ruth, Mrs. Mamie Johnson; Esther, Mrs. Alice Woodyard; Martha, Mrs. Maude West, and Electa, Mrs. Hattie Kidwell.

Brentwood Nursery Scored In Health Officer's Report

The Brentwood Nursery, in Brentwood, Md., is "operated with great laxity and without due consideration for sanitation and general welfare" of the children in it, the Prince Georges County health officer has reported to the Maryland State Department of Health.

A. B. Hooton, the health officer, inspected the home on request of Dr. R. H. Riley, commissioner of the State department. Dr. Riley is said to have received an anonymous letter from Washington regarding the state of the nursery. It is operated by Mrs. Emma Lund.

According to Dr. Hooton's report, there is a "foul odor" in the babies' ward, and all the babies in it had chickenpox at the time of his visit. These cases had not been reported to his office, he said. The place is in a "generally untidy condition," his report says, and there is "practically no ventilation" in parts of the house. Sixteen children are at the home all the time, and ten more are kept during the daytime. Several of these are wards of the county.

MONTGOMERY BOND BIDS ARE DECLINED

County Board Decides to Wait for Expected Rise in Securities Market.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Bids for the $1,000,000 1932 road and school bonds of Montgomery County yesterday having been too low, in the opinion of the county commissioners, that body exercised its prerogative and declined to sell. The issue was withdrawn to await more favorable market conditions.

The Montgomery County National Bank, Farmers Banking & Trust Co., Bank of Bethesda, Silver Spring National Bank and Takoma Park Bank, all county banks, combined to offer 96 for $400,000 of the issue while the following firms bid 90.8 for $500,000 of the issue: Mercantile Trust Co., of Baltimore; Chase, Harris, Forbes Co.; Union Trust Co.; Baker, Watts & Co.; Strother, Brogden & Co.; Maryland Trust Co.; Stein Brothers & Boyce; Mackubin, Goodrich & Co., and Y. E. Booker & Co.

The commissioners issued a statement in which they said that "in view of the fact that all financial dispatches from New York describe yesterday's stock and bond market as the lowest since the bottom levels were reached in the 1920-21 depression, the county commissioners are encouraged by today's bids for the bonds." The commissioners further stated, however, that although it will mean postponement of major road and school projects, they believe the people of the couny would prefer to face crowding of some of the schools in the fall and postponement of certain road improvements to next year rather than take the $100,000 loss of the large discounts. It further stated that the commissioners believe bond market conditions will improve when the Federal tax bill is passed.

The commissioners received a letter from Sister Mary Carmelita, R. S. M., mother general of the Sisters of Mercy of the Union, who own the Villa Mercy, containing about 1,000 acres, as a mother house for the order at Kentsdale, protesting rezoning of the property of Fulton R. Gordon on Bradley boulevard for use for mausoleum purposes. Sister Carmelita said that "as property holders in Montgomery County we look to our county commissioners to protect our interests." The Villa Mercy is adjacent to the Gordon property, the letter says.

A petition signed by 157 residents of the Colesville-White Oak section protesting against the proposed location of the high school for that section at Fairland, which they claim is on the edge of the county, and asking that it be built in their section. The commissioners also received a letter asking approval of a change in the building regulations for section 4, Chevy Chase, which would make it possible to build on lots having less than 60-foot frontage if in the sound discretion of the citizens committee topography or other existing conditions make the law an undue hardship. The Glenmont Center Citizens Association objected to encroachment by the State roads commission patrolmen on private property to obtain dirt for road maintenance, in a letter signed by Donald Bowie, jr.

The following additional election officials were named yesterday by the supervisors of election of the county, according to an announcement by John Jones, clerk to the body, at Rockville, Md.:

Republican—Rockville, First Precinct, John H. Dawson, registration officer in place of Harry A. Dawson, jr.; Second Precinct, Claiborne H. Manner, registration officer; Third Precinct, Buell Gardner, registration officer; Andrew Freedburger, judge, and John I. Lambert, clerk.

Darnestown—M. Spencer Ward, registration officer; Paul R. Merrill, clerk, and Thomas H. Athey, doorkeeper. Bethesda, First Precinct, A to J—James L. Martin, registration officer; Mrs. Amelia A. Henry, judge, and Mrs. Annabelle D. McFarland, clerk. K to Z—Wilton T. Allen, registration officer; Roy C. Corderman, judge; David W. Fox, clerk, and William H. Broadhurst and J. C. Newell, doorkeepers. Third Precinct, K to Z, Hewitt G. Robertson, registration officer. Fourth Precinct, A to J—Robert L. Hughes, registration officer; Mrs. A. Montague Ferry, judge, and Edward L. Stock, jr., clerk. K to Z—Henry Latterner, registration officer; John M. McCannon, judge, and William Tyler Page, jr., clerk. Wheaton, Second Precinct—George Hall and Hugh L. Phillips, doorkeepers. Sixth Precinct, A to J—John W. Coffman, jr., registration officer.

OFFICERS APPROVED FOR ROAD DISTRICTS

Prince Georges Board Acts on List of Men Elected by County Groups.

The Prince Georges county commissioners yesterday confirmed the following officers elected by the road committees in the various election districts in the county. Except where otherwise stated, the first named is chairman, the second vice chairman, the third secretary, and the fourth supervisor.

Vansville District—B. J. Gallant, Harry Jones, Robert Houston, John D. Smith. Bladensburg—M. Magruder Rea, Frank H. Fierstein, William E. Gasson, John B. Alsop. Nottingham—Dr. William H. Gibbons, Walter Cross, Marvin R. Naylor, Nelson Perrie. Piscataway—Gus A. Smith, Rudolph Adler, William F. Taylor, Ben Underwood.

Queen Anne—W. Seaton Belt, John W. Bowie, Earl W. Heathcote, W. W. Brady. Aquasco—Henry B. Contee, Boykin E. Watson, George F. Adams, C. Henry McPherson. Laurel—R. B. Aitcheson, G. T. Sellers, W. L. Allen, William Fiester. Brandywine—Frank A. Robinson, James A. Beane, Willie Baden, Frank Baden. Oxon Hill—R. W. Brooke, Hartwell Tucker, Owen Thorne, R. W. Brooke. Kent—W. B. Bowie, Percy Wilson, Roy Suit, Conick Brady. Mellwood—Alexander Moore, chairman; William Hill; secretary; Dewey Groves, supervisor.

Riverdale, Henry A. Friday, chairman and supervisor; William Maske Albert D. Rust; Lanham, A. Harry Coles, Charles L. Howser, Everett E. Pennifield, Joseph Cipriano; Berwyn, W. F. Mulligan, Mark Kernan, R. S. Washburn, and George Rousillon. In Surratts the same officers have been reelected, except that Walter Caswell is secretary in place of his brother, George. No meetings of the road commissioners have been held in Marlboro, Spalding, Bowie, Hyattsville, Chillum and Seat Pleasant districts.

Machinist's Mate Dies Suddenly at Navy Yard

George F. Darney, 56, a first-class machinist's mate, died suddenly of a heart attack yesterday at the Navy Yard, where he had worked for the last 20 years. He was apparently in good health when he arrived for work yesterday, but suddenly collasped and was pronounced dead on arrival at the Navy Yard's dispensary.

He lived at 4323 Halliday street, Brentwood, Md.

Prince Georges Ticket For Conclave Approved

The Republican State central committee, of Prince Georges County, has approved seven candidates for election as delegates to the State convention. They are Adrian Fisher, Charles Hawkins, William H. Brooke, Edward L. Carter, Howard Proctor, Frank Small, jr., and Wilson H. Spicknail.

These seven names were suggested by a special committee of 23 of the Republican leaders in the county, and they were then indorsed by the central committee.

Post Article in Error In Title of Magazine

Through an error The Post yesterday stated that the United Democratic Women's Clubs of Maryland will conduct a subscription drive for The Maryland Clubwoman, of which Mrs. Frank M. Hoadley, of Chevy Chase, is editor.

The drive will be for the Maryland Woman, of which Mrs. Mary H. Duvall, of Baltimore, Md., is editor. The Post regrets the error.

Lesh and Fitts Renamed By Chevy Chase Citizens

Karl R. Lesh and Harrison F. Fitts were reelected members of the citizens committee of section 4, Chevy Chase, Md., for two-year terms at the annual meeting last night in the Social hall of the First M. E. Church. James E. Harper, chairman of the committee, presided.

The citizens voted to continue the present special taxing area tax rate of 30 cents on the $100 for the upkeep of the taxing area.

Democrats: Bethesda, Third Precinct, A to J—Mercer Duvall, registration officer; E. L. Shoemaker, judge, and Mrs. Fannie T. Orndorff, clerk. Damascus—Ritchie E. Haney, registration officer. Other officials probably will be appointed within a week.

T. N. Magruder Nominated Prince Georges Treasurer

Thomas N. Magruder, of Marlboro, was yesterday nominated by the Prince Georges County Democratic State central committee for treasurer of the county to succeed Brice Bowie, appointed clerk of the circuit court.

The recommendation of the State central committee was forwarded to Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, who will appoint Bowie's successor. It had not been acted on last night, but the new treasurer is expected to be appointed today.

Mr. Bowie was appointed by the judges of the circuit court to fill the unexpired term of Summerfield D. Hall, who died Monday morning. He will hold office until the regular elections in 1932.

Mr. Magruder is a brother of M. Hampton Magruder, attorney to the board of county commissioners. He has lived in the county all his life. His father was clerk of the Court of Appeals for many years, and Thomas Magruder served as deputy under him for thirteen years. He is now operating a farm near Marlboro.

Mr. Bowie was clerk to the county commissioners until elected treasurer in 1930. He was also formerly a member of the school board. He lives in Riverdale. The order for his appointment, which was signed by Judges W. Mitchell Digges, Joseph C. Mattingly and William M. Loker, pointed out that it was necessary to appoint a new clerk at once as the grand jury will reconvene Thursday.

The grand jury met Monday, but its sessions were postponed for three days out of respect for Mr. Hall, who had been clerk of the court for eighteen years. Funeral services for him will be held today at 2:30 at his home in Beltsville.

ARLINGTON LEADERS MAKE ROAD SURVEY

Proposed Right-of-Way From Memorial to Key Span Is Studied.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

With the view of establishing a direct highway from the Arlington Memorial Bridge to Key Bridge in Rosslyn, a study of the proposed right of way was made yesterday by members of the Arlington County Board, County Manager Roy S. Braden, County Engineer C. L. Kinnier and private property owners who are interested in the movement.

The proposed 80-foot right of way goes over the abandoned right of way of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Mount Vernon Railway in a direct line to the west end of the Memorial Bridge.

The rights of way which will make it possible for a direct connection between the two bridges, a distance of approximately 1½ miles, will, it is understood, be free to the county.

Harry A. Fellows, chairman of the county board, says that this highway in no way will interfere with the plans now going forward for the construction of a direct highway to the new bridge to serve the residents of Arlington County and points beyond.

It is understood that until the financial matters of the county which are now being studied by a corps of State auditors have been cleared up it is doubtful if anything can be done toward the construction of a direct approach to the bridge.

Before a capacity audience numbering more than 500 persons, the Edward Douglas White Council, Knights of Columbus, gave its eighth annual minstrel show last night in the auditorium of St. Charles School at Clarendon.

The cast included Eugene Shreve, George J. Stewart, J. R. Raeburn, and Paul Widemayer as endmen; A. A. Moore, Paul C. King, and J. F. Feeney, soloists; J. R. Mulligan, interlocutor; Steve J. Garrity, musical director; and B. F. Toullote, stage director.

The chorus included W. J. Cavanaugh, B. J. Touliotte, J. R. Sherwood, V. F. Mullen, J. R. Chavoen, R. E. James, G. F. James, Al Young, E. O'Brien, P. Schwedler, T. W. Delahanty and B. F. Toullote.

Feature numbers were given by Theresa Childs, William Lynch, S. A. Porlins, N. L. Gonyea, H. G. Gonyea and B. J. Clarkson.

Following the show dancing was enjoyed until midnight. Refreshments were served.

The proceeds will be used in completing improvements to the council's new home on Garrison road.

The preschool dental clinic will be held at the Virginia Highlands Health Center today from 9 to 12 noon and from 1 to 4 o'clock, according to Dr. P. M. Chichester, Arlington County health officer.

Dr. Chichester urges all parents to bring their children to these clinics, as much preventative work can be accomplished, saving the child trouble later in life. There is no fee for this service.

At a largely attended meeting held last night in the Rucker Building at Clarendon, the League of Republican Women of Arlington County formulated tentative plans for a vigorous campaign leading up to the election in November.

Mrs. C. W. Harris announced the appointment of the following special committee, which will make a study of the constitution with the view of a general revision of it. The committee will make its report at the May meeting. Those on the committee are Miss Ann F. Hedrick, chairman; Mrs. Eva Fay Pumphrey, Mrs. Wilda McNemar, Mrs. Sophie C. Baker, and Mrs.

DEFLATED GLOBE TROTTING.

OCEAN steamship lines are slashing rates again, ocean travel now being so cheap that it is practically a form of economy.

* * * *

Rates are at a level where seasickness is brought within the reach of all. A man can go to Europe for less money than it cost him to get a steamer rug four years ago.

* * * *

First-class cabins are down to what the steerage rates used to be, and steerage tickets are so cheap they may be handled through 5 and 10-cent stores.

* * * *

One of the luxurious American liners will take you across the pond first-class for $192. A few years ago that wouldn't keep you in tea and lemons half-way over.

* * * *

The royal suites, three or four rooms and private bath on some of the finest liners, can be had for $520, which in the boom days was the price of an airless, airtight cabin next to the engine room.

* * * *

One company will take you on a round trip from New York to Bremen, third class, for $125, which by all past standards makes you to all intents and purposes a guest of the line.

* * * *

Not very long ago people who went abroad were supposed to have money. Today, mile for mile, it's cheaper than subway or taxicab travel.

* * * *

In those days people boasted about their trip abroad. Today it is the same as telling your friends you are going for a lovely dinner at a nickel-in-the-slot cafeteria.

* * * *

New tourist slogan: See the Seven Seas for Seven Dollars!

* * * *

Or: Open Baby's Bank and Tour the World!

* * * *

THE steamship men have not turned philanthropic. They had to do it. Some of those big ocean liners were sailing so empty that they had to equip the ships with deck mirrors so a traveler would think he had company.

* * * *

On a recent trip a queen of the seas was compelled to sound the to-the-lifeboats alarm in order to locate a fourth for contract bridge.

* * * *

And on another vessel a feature of the ship concert was a solitaire player.

* * * *

By the new bargain rates the companies hope to make the public travel-conscious again. If it doesn't work, there is no reason for abandoning hope. They can still try coaxing the public by throwing in an extra pair of pants with each ticket.

WINNIE, I WANT YOU TO MEET MR. GIBBERISH, OUR CHIEF COMMERCIAL ANNOUNCER!!
HOW DO
OH YES, I'VE HEARD YOUR VOICE OFTEN ON THE RADIO!
ME ME ME ME
OH, I SUPPOSE RADIO WORK IS INTERESTING ENOUGH, BUT IT'S SURPRISING HOW LITTLE SOME OF THESE STAGE AND SCREEN STARS REALLY KNOW!! AND I'VE EVEN HAD TO PERSONALLY CORRECT MANY OF THE CHILDISH SPEECHES OF SOME OF OUR MOST PROMINENT CITIZENS!!
BUT I TELL YA - I GOT AN APPOINTMENT
AUDITIONS
OF COURSE, I DON'T EXPECT THEM TO REACH MY PAR IN RADIO TECHNIQUE, BUT IT'S REALLY TOO BAD HOW IGNORANT SOME OF OUR COLLEGE PROFESSORS AND WRITERS CAN BE!!
WELL, WINNIE, WHAT DID YOU THINK OF MR. GIBBERISH, OUR CHIEF ANNOUNCER?
I'D RATHER LISTEN TO HIM ON THE RADIO, BECAUSE THEN I CAN SHUT HIM OFF!!!

INSURANCE CONCERN REELECTS OFFICERS

Corcoran Fire Company Also Selects Same Directors; Banking Debate Set.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Reelection of all officers and directors of Corcoran Fire Insurance Co. was announced yesterday, following the annual meeting. They are: Frank McClelland, president; Robert D. Weaver, vice president; F. H. Ridgway, secretary; J. Clarence Welch, assistant secretary; Albert T. Coumbe, Watson F. Clark, B. Lowndes Jackson, Charles E. Marsh, William L. Miller, Walter S. Pratt, jr., F. H. Ridgway, Robert D. Weaver, Frank McClelland, directors.

The debating team of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, which defeated the team of Baltimore Chapter earlier in the year, will meet the debating group of Richmond Chapter Saturday evening in the clubroom of the American Security Building at Fifteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

Subject for Contest.

The subject for this contest, which opens at 8:15 o'clock, is: "Resolved, That the Federal Government Should Own and Operate the Principal Sources of Hydro-Electric Power in the United States."

The team of the local chapter which will argue for the affirmative side of this question will be composed of Arthur E. Meade, Departmental Bank; Miss Constance D. Fogle, Riggs National Bank, and A. W. Sherman, American Security & Trust Co., with George R. Flemer, National Metropolitan Bank, alternate.

The Richmond speakers defending the negative side will be Earnest L. Martin, American Bank & Trust Co.; Moncure Patterson, State-Planters Bank & Trust Co.; Franklin Foy, Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond. Archie Berkely, Morris Plan Bank of Virginia, will be the alternate.

Rules Governing Debate.

Rules governing the debate permit three direct speeches a side, 12 minutes being allowed the opening speakers and ten minutes for the second and third. An intermission of eight minutes is allowed for preparation of rebuttal and the first and second rebuttal speeches will be five minutes each, the third being six. The debate will be opened and closed by the affirmative side.

In accordance with regulations governing the judges, Judge Jesse C. Adkins, associate justice, Supreme Court of the District of Columbia; President Maurice D. Rosenberg, Bank of Commerce & Savings, and Henry C. Roberts, assistant professor of public speaking, George Washington University, have been selected.

Bowery Savings Bank Sets Deposits Record

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—Deposits of the Bowery Savings Bank of New York as of March 31 totaled $502,000,000, which stand as the largest for a single savings bank in the history of the country.

Deposits increased to the above record total from about $486,000,000 on January 1 last. Its depositors number 378,000, an increase of 16,073 this year.

Freight Loadings Drop 23,516 Cars

Decreases During Week Shown in Shipments of Leading Company.

(Associated Press.)

Revenue freight loadings for the week ending March 26 were announced today by the American Railway Association as totaling 561,118 cars.

This was a decrease of 23,516 cars below the preceding week and 177,762 cars below the corresponding week in 1931.

Coal loading totaled 117,122 cars, a decrease of 9,109 from the same week last year; miscellaneous freight, 186,842, decrease, 99,163; merchandise less than car lot, 185,343, decrease, 37,014; grain and grain products, 27,107, decrease, 9,806; forest products, 20,307, decrease, 14,487; ore, 2,981, decrease, 3,208; coke, 5,221, decrease, 1,771; live stock, 16,195, decrease, 3,207.

German Steel to Russia.

Berlin, April 5 (A.P.).—Financial arrangements have been made to ship 100,000 tons of steel to Soviet Russia on a 21 months' credit at 2 per cent over the Reichsbank rate, it was announced today.

SANTA FE'S DIVIDEND CUT IS MADE TO $1

Company Blames Reduction in Earnings; Stock Yield Paid Since 1901.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—A dividend of $1 a share was declared today by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Co.

The company paid $1.50 three months ago, and before that at the rate of $10 share annually.

The dividend is payable June 1 to stock of record May 6.

The company issued the following statement in connection with the dividend reduction: "The earnings statement shows a continuing decline. The continuance of dividends on the common stock must depend upon an improvement in the corporation's earnings."

Before the reduction to a $6 annual rate in January, Santa Fe had paid $2.50 quarterly since June, 1928. In 1927 and 1928, $10 a share was paid, partly in extra disbursements.

The company has been paying common dividends since 1901 in varying amounts with $3.50 as the minimum for any year.

Last year Santa Fe's net income fell to $21,841,865 from $37,348,800 in 1930, or to $6.97 a share on the common from $12.86. This downward trend in earnings continued through the first two months of this year with gross revenues off about $7,500,000 from the same period of 1931, and net operating income at $795,405 in contrast with $2,603,340.

Business failures as reported to Bradstreet's for the week ended March 31 numbered 580, a gain of 1 per cent over the previous week against a normal expected decrease of 11.3 per cent in the corresponding week of 1931. There were 449 bankruptcies.

Rock Island to Meet Bus Rate Competition

Chicago, April 5 (A.P.).—The Rock Island Lines, bidding for the passenger traffic won by bus lines, will offer weekly round trip excursion rates of one fare plus 25 cents throughout its system where one way fare is $10 or less.

The week-end excursion tickets will be sold Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and good for return up to midnight Monday every week beginning April 8.

Kreuger Listed Assets Not Found, Auditors Say

Stockholm, Sweden, April 5 (A.P.).—Auditors who have been checking the accounts of the Kreuger & Toll Co. since the suicide in Paris recently of Ivar Kreuger, noted Swedist industrialist, said today that assets were set down in the company's books for 1930 which did not exist in reality.

The price of tin has fallen back to the record low level of last week, 19.60 cents a pound for spot straights, and consumers continue to buy with marked conservatism.

CUTS ON FEES ASKED IN COTTON EXCHANGE

Petition Urges Members to Meet and Study Lower Commission Rates.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—A group of members of the New York Cotton Exchange has started a movement for a reduction of the exchange's commission rates, it was learned today.

A petition is being circulated requesting the president and board of managers to call a meeting of members to discuss the question of commissions now in force on the exchange.

Members who are backing the petition are said to be convinced that the present commission of $30 in and out on 100 bales is out of line with present cotton values and tend to discourage speculative operations by the smaller traders.

The petition fails to disclose to what extent the members wish the commissions revised, and officials of the exchange said they understood the proposed meeting was only for the purpose of a general discussion concerning commissions.

Curb Suspends Member.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—The New York Curb Exchange today suspended from associate membership the firm of King, Boug, Stodgell & Co., of Windsor, Ont., for failure to meet its engagements.

Members of the firm are S. J. Stodgell, W. L. King, G. C. Boug, Maj. W. Grant Thomson, Joseph Larselere and Clinton Tobey.

Montgomery Ward Sales.

Chicago, April 5 (A.P.).—Montgomery Ward & Co. today announced March sales of $14,083,973 compared with $17,601,123 the same month in 1931, a decline of 20.15 per cent.

Stocks Drop to New Lows For Fifth Consecutive Day

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Tues.	Mon.
Number of advances	75	120
Number of declines	464	385
Stocks unchanged	156	200
Totals issues traded	695	705

Stocks.

A new low average for 90 stocks was registered yesterday for the fifth consecutive day. The market opened under pressure and there was no recovery power in the day's news. A. T. & T. sold at the lowest since 1921.

Bonds.

New selling of the rails was inspired by the reduction of the Santa Fe dividend. The 60-bond average closed half a point down at a new low for the year.

Curb.

Curb stocks and bonds followed the big exchange, with the utilities leading on the dips.

Wheat.

Yesterday's spectacular advance was more than lost on predictions of rain in the Southwest drought belt—despite a sharp decrease in the world visible supply and bullish reports of acreage abandoned in the West.

Cotton.

Trade buying was light and the close was 10 to 16 points lower, principally in sympathy with the weakness in stocks and wheat.

Prices Decline Sharply Despite Small Sales; Steel Lower.

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—For the fifth successive session the stock market stubbornly persisted in its penetration of new low territory for recent years today.

Rather than providing any sustained forward impetus, yesterday's late covering movement appeared merely to have weakened the market's technical position, and prices dropped rather precipitantly under comparatively light selling pressure.

The market steadied a little after announcement of the Santa Fe dividend, but failed to develop much recuperative power. Santa Fe tumbled 7¾ points to 53¾, the lowest since 1901, then rebounded more than 2. Union Pacific and Norfolk & Western skidded 6 and 7 points before meeting support. American Telephone approximated its bear market low with a 3-point drop. Rails and utilities were again the notably weak groups, with Peoples Gas a soft spot in the latter, tumbling more than 8 points. Losses of 2 to 4 points appeared in such issues as U. S. Steel, American Can, American Tobacco "B," Allied Chemical, DuPont, Drug, Consolidated Gas, Standard Gas, American Water Works, North American and New York Central. Losses of a point or so were numerous.

Brokers Gloomy.

Brokerage comment remained gloomy. In fact, gloom has grown so deep in Wall street that at least one group of investment trusts has started to do a little cautious buying on the theory that pessimism has reached an unjustified extreme which would eventually necessitate a reaction.

Bonds and commodities were also affected by the prevailing mood, although trading in all directions was quiet.

Whatever cheer had been generated by Monday's late rally was quickly dissipated when it became evident that the covering responsible for that rally had taken care of shorts' immediate needs and that shares lacked other sources of support. In an absence of nearby bids, leaders made a steady procession into new low ground, dragging down some stocks which had previously been able to hold above their February minimums.

Brokers found it hard to attribute the decline to fresh sources of concern in the day's news. Perhaps the lack of any development to which the market could cling hopefully was largely responsible, for Wall street pessimism has a habit of feeding on itself and almost always needs outside help to divert it.

American Telephone held above the old low, 107¾, until late afternoon, and then yielded to 106¾, the lowest since 1921, when it sold at 95¾. The final price was 107¼, down 3½.

United States Steel, whose dividend has now been consigned to the casualty list, came within a fraction of the bear market minimum, showing a net loss of 2½. The preferred met a very thin market and was off approximately 5 points. American Can, Eastman Kodak, Allied Chemical, Case, Du Pont, Consolidated Gas, American Tobacco "D" and National Biscuit finished roughly 2 to 3 under the previous close.

The volume of trade decreased to 1,483,410 shares.

Liquidation on Curb.

A steady backwash of liquidation which was not heavy at any time continued in the Curb Market and washed away prices of most leading issues from fractions to 2 points or more. A total of 270,000 shares changed hands in the day's trading, against 260,000 yesterday. While light, the volume was nevertheless the greatest for any one day since March 18.

Selling centered largely in the public utility group, with special weakness appearing in Electric Bond & Share issues. Inquiry indicated that some selling of utility securities had resulted from the recent downward trend reported in electric power production figures.

BOND MARKET SINKS AGAIN TO NEW LOWS

Heaviness of Rails Blamed for Unsettling Prices as Trading Slows Down.

By VICTOR EUBANK.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—Heaviness of railway issues again unsettled the bond market today and prices of various securities descended to new low 1932 levels.

Reduction of the Atchison dividend had a depressing effect on the carriers. Atchison convertible 4½s, in sympathy with the stock, dropped 4 points while the company's general 4s reflected approval of the dividend cut by gaining 2½ points.

Most of the transportation mortgages opened firm after their rally of yesterday following reports that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had announced it would not permit any major receiverships. There was nothing said about "minor" failures, however, and secondary liens quickly began to topple.

The majority of the rails closed at their lowest of the day, with losses running from 1 to around 6 or more points. Chief casualties included some liens of Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake Corporation, Chicago Great Western, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Hudson & Manhattan, Illinois Central, M-K-T, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Pere Marquette, Frisco, St. Louis Southwestern, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Texas & Pacific, Union Pacific and Wabash.

The utilities also exhibited weakness, outside of issues of American Telephone and Consolidated Gas which held steady. Various power and light company lines, with International Telephone, Western Union, Postal Telegraph and New York tractions bonds, contributing to the decline of this group.

The industrials were relatively steady and some of the oils were in demand.

That domestic bonds are not altogether friendless was shown by the consolidated statement of weekly reporting Federal Reserve Banks, which recorded the purchase during the week of some $25,000,000 of loans other than those of the Government.

Federal obligations maintained a firmness throughout the session, most of them closing fractionally higher.

Trading slowed down with the day's decline, sales totaling but $8,304,000, par value, against $10,121,000 yesterday.

RAIN PROSPECTS AID GRAIN MARKET DROP

Weakness of Stocks Blamed Also for Decline; Wheat Closes Nervous.

Chicago, April 5 (A.P.).—Rain clouds in the Southwest drought region, together with notable weakness of the stock market, led to a downward swing in grain values today. The decline in wheat was in the face of Kansas and Nebraska reports forecasting much greater abandonment of acreage than normal, Nebraska the largest since 1917, when only 16 per cent was left standing. Traders also virtually ignored a decrease of 8,856,000 bushels in the world's wheat available supply, the largest reduction in many weeks, leaving the total only 9,000,000 bushels more than a year ago.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅞ to 1⅜ cents under yesterday's finish, corn ⅜ to ⅝ cent down, oats ¼ off to ¼ up, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents lower. The day's lowest prices were reached in the final transactions.

In some quarters, significance was attached to statements that Argentina was again getting into line for competition abroad, owing to sharp advances in the United States prices since crop scares began last week.

Some observers asserted that the wheat market gave evidence of having been temporarily overbought, bulges in the last few days having carried the market up 6 cents above last week's low point.

Liverpool was relatively weak.

Considerable buying support for wheat prices here, however, developed on the declines, crop news from the Southwest and West continuing decidedly apprehensive with some reports telling of wheat being plowed up and the ground replanted in corn.

COTTON GAINS LOST ON LIGHTER TRADING

May Contracts 15 Points Lower, at 6.16; Export, 46,182 Bales.

New York, April 5 (A.P.).—A good part of yesterday's advance in cotton was lost today under comparatively small offerings promoted by the easier tone of the stock and wheat markets and talk of a weakened technical position. May contracts sold off to 6.14 or 15 points net lower and closed at 6.16, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 10 to 16 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 6 to 8 points in response to easier Liverpool cables. There was some trade buying to fix prices which appeared to come partly through houses with Liverpool and continental connections, but the demand from shorts was much less active than yesterday, and prices soon turned easier under realizing or liquidation.

Trade buying on scale-down orders created points of resistance from time to time during the day, but the demand was quite readily supplied on slight bulges with active months selling 13 to 18 points net lower in the late trading, October declining to 6.54. Closing quotations were slightly up from the lowest on some positions, as a result of covering.

Reports of fairly favorable weather in the South, and further reports of increased domestic mill curtailment may have been contributing factors on the decline.

According to the New York Cotton Exchange service sales of fertilizer tags in six cotton growing States for the four months, December to March inclusive, totaled only 483,000 tons against 1,059,000 last year.

Exports today were 46,182 bales making 7,016,191 bales so far this season.

AUCTION SALES

THOMAS J. OWEN & SONS, Auctioneers, 1431 Eye Street Northwest. Washington, D. C.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF THE VALUABLE EIGHT-STORY AND BASEMENT BRICK AND LIMESTONE APARTMENT-HOTEL PROPERTY KNOWN AS "THE NEW AMSTERDAM" LOCATED AT THE NORTHEAST CORNER OF FOURTEENTH AND FAIRMONT STREETS NORTHWEST.

Because of default in the terms and condition of and by virtue of a certain deed of trust executed by New Amsterdam Company, a Delaware Corporation, dated September 1, 1928, recorded among the land records of the District of Columbia in Liber 6223 at folio 477 et seq., and at the request of over twenty-five per centum of the holders of the bonds secured thereby, the undersigned substituted trustee, by appointment of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, in Equity Cause No. 51386, will offer for sale at public auction, in front of the premises, on THURSDAY, THE 31ST DAY OF MARCH, A. D. 1932, AT FOUR O'CLOCK P. M., the following described land and premises, situate in the District of Columbia:

Part of lot 9 in Block 32, in John Sherman, Trustee's, Subdivision of land now known as "Columbia Heights," as per plat recorded in Liber Governor Shepherd folio 137 of the Records of the office of the Surveyor of the District of Columbia; said part of lot being the south 40 feet front on 14th street, running back between parallel lines along the south line of the lot, the full depth of the lot:

Also Lots 21, 22 and 23 in Cyrus Manns' Subdivision of part of Block 32, in said "Columbia Heights," as per plat recorded in Liber County No. 8, folio 129 of the aforesaid surveyor's office records.

Said lots and part of lot being subject to the covenants that when a building is erected upon any of said lots, it shall not be within 30 feet of the street line, nor shall it be used for manufacturing for mechanical purposes, nor shall spirituous liquors be sold therein; together with the improvements, consisting of "The New Amsterdam" and all furnishings and fittings and chattels therein which the said trustee under said deed of trust is authorized to sell and convey.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third of the purchase price to be paid in cash on or before the 30th day of April, 1932, balance in two equal installments, payable on or before one and two years from date of sale, respectively, with interest thereon at the rate of six per centum per annum from day of sale, said interest payable semiannually, and to be secured by first deed of trust on the property sold; or all cash, at the option of the purchaser. The said trustee will receive no bid from anyone offering to bid who shall not at or before the hour of sale, or any adjournment thereof, deposit with said trustee as a pledge that such bidder will make good his bid in case of its acceptance, a deposit of $15,000, either in cash or certified check on a local bank or trust company, made or endorsed payable to the undersigned trustee, or in lieu thereof, bonds of the par value of $30,000 in form transferrable by delivery, secured by said deed of trust, said bonds to have all unpaid coupons attached thereto. The deposit of any unsuccessful bidder will be returned to him immediately after the sale. In case any successful bidder shall fail to complete his purchase by April 30, 1932, in accordance with the said terms of sale, said deposit may be forfeited at the option of the said trustee. Said trustee reserves the right to reject any and all bids and withdraw the property from sale.

Adjustments with respect to taxes, assessments, insurance, rentals, income from operation of property, interest, and all other adjustments shall be made as of the date of sale. The trustee, however, will continue to manage and operate said property and collect the income therefrom from date of sale to date of transfer upon existing terms as set forth in said deed of trust. After settlement of sale said trustee will not be responsible for any bills or expenses incurred in the management or operation of said property.

Terms of sale to be complied with on the 30th day of April, 1932; otherwise, the trustee reserves the right to resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser upon the foregoing terms after advertisement of such resale for three times per week for two successive weeks in two newspapers published in Washington, D. C.

AMERICAN SECURITY & TRUST CO., a corporation. By GORDON ROSS, President.

Substituted trustee under said deed of trust of New Amsterdam Company, appointed in Equity Cause No. 51386, Supreme Court, D. C.

Attest: (Seal.) A. H. SHILLINGTON, Assistant Secretary.

McKenney, Flannery & Craighill, Hibbs Building, Attorneys for Trustee.

Due to the inclement weather, the above sale is postponed until THURSDAY, THE SEVENTH DAY OF APRIL, 1932, AT FOUR O'CLOCK P. M., IN FRONT OF THE PREMISES.

BY ORDER OF THE TRUSTEE.

FRIDAY, APRIL 8, 1932—
THOS. J. OWEN & SON, Auctioneers, 1431 Eye Street Northwest.

TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE TWO-STORY BRICK DWELLING, BEING PREMISES NO. 4757 FOURTH STREET NORTHWEST.

By virtue of a certain deed of trust duly recorded in liber No. 6571, folio 504 et seq., of the land records of the District of Columbia, and at the request of the party secured thereby, the undersigned trustees will sell, at public auction within the office of Thos. J. Owen & Son, 1431 Eye street northwest, on FRIDAY, THE EIGHTH DAY OF APRIL, A. D. 1932, AT ONE O'CLOCK P. M., the following-described land and premises, situate in the District of Columbia, and designated as and being lot 31, in Morrit Cafritz' subdivision of lots in square 3305, as per plat recorded in the Office of the Surveyor for the District of Columbia in liber 81 at folio 196. Subject to covenants of record.

TERMS—Sold subject to a prior deed of trust for $5,200, further particulars of which will be announced at time of sale; the purchase price above said trust to be paid in cash. A deposit of $500 required. Conveyancing, recording, etc., at purchaser's cost. Terms to be complied with within ten days, otherwise deposit forfeited and the property may be advertised and resold at the discretion of the trustees. WM. H. STRYKER,
BURDETT A. WARDEN,
Trustees.

PROPOSALS

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF the Supervising Architect, Washington, D. C., April 2, 1932.—Sealed bids in duplicate, subject to the conditions contained herein, will be publicly opened in this office at 3 p. m., MAY 16, 1932, for furnishing all labor and materials and performing all work for the construction (except elevators, book truck lift and electric dumbwaiters) of the U. S. Department of Labor Building, Interstate Commerce Commission Building and connecting wing, Labor-Interstate Commerce Commission Buildings at Washington, D. C. The prevailing rate of wages shall be paid all laborers and mechanics employed on the project as provided in the Act of March 3, 1931 (Public No. 798). Not exceeding 6 sets of drawings and specifications will be furnished to the prospective bidders upon application therefor, when such application is accompanied by a deposit of $100 for each set, to insure its return. Checks offered as deposits must be made payable to the order of the Treasurer of the United States. Cash deposits will not be acceptable. Each bid must be accompanied by a statement of facts in detail of the business and technical organization of the bidder available for the contemplated work, including financial resources and building experience, and no consideration will be given to a bid which is not accompanied by said statement. The right is reserved to reject any bid where an investigation of the evidence submitted by such bidder does not satisfy the contracting officer that such bidder is qualified to carry out properly the terms of the contract. In awarding a contract, consideration will not be given to bidders who have not constructed within the last six years at least one building comparable with the project for which the bid is submitted. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a performance bond of at least 50 per cent of the contract price. JAS. A. WETMORE, Acting Supervising Architect. 6,8,11

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

A BRONZE "fiddle" SURMOUNTS THE TOMBSTONE OF JOSEPH BRUSILOFF, NOTED MUSICIAN...

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

IT happened in a railroad station in Stillwater, Okla. Two strangers were sitting side by side waiting for a train. One man took an apple from his handbag and began munching on it as only real apple munchers can.

"Smells like a North Carolina apple, friend," was the remark prompted by the other.

"So it is," said the apple muncher. "I brought it with me."

"I hail from your State," replied the Oklahoma man, naming a small mountain settlement in North Carolina.

"Say, that's my home," came the quick response. "What's your name?"

"McBride," said the Oklahoman. "What's yours?"

"McBride."

A few seconds later it developed that the aroma of a North Carolina apple had united two brothers who had not seen each other for 30 years.

TAXICAB COMPANIES SEEK REHEARING BY COURT ON METERS

Petition Declares Baltimore Found Similar System Disastrous to All.

PUBLIC UTILITIES RULE DEFENDED BY PATRICK

House Committee Will Hold Another Discussion of Order Today.

Taxicab companies opposing the forced installation of meters in their cabs yesterday served notice that they will fight the order by filing a petition in the District Supreme Court asking for a rehearing of their suit to restrain the Public Utilities Commission from putting the order into effect.

The petition was filed soon after Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, told the House District committee that the order is designed to enable drivers to make a living with reasonable hours of work.

The District Commissioners yesterday reported favorably on a new draft of the bill to require financial responsibility of owners and operators of motor vehicles for damages caused on the public highways and on the Public Utilities Commission measure to require taxi drivers to show financial responsibility.

Baltimore Experience Cited.

Only last week Justice Jesse C. Adkins ruled, after protracted hearings, that the order of the commission requiring meters on all cabs was proper and should be placed in operation.

Through Attorney Albert W. Jacobson, the City Cab Co., in its petition yesterday said the effect of installing meters on cabs in Baltimore had been disastrous. He said that almost 2,100 cabs had been driven from the streets of the Maryland city, leaving only 943. He said also that patronage on the street car lines had actually decreased in Batlimore, whereas the order had been expected to produce more car passengers.

Charts from Maryland State officials and from officers of Baltimore were attached to the petition to substantiate the claim that the meter order was destructive to employment.

Gen. Patrick's defense of the Public Utilities Commission's taxicab meter order, detailed yesterday in a letter to Representative Mary T. Norton (Democrat), New Jersey, will be aired this morning before her House District committee.

Additional Light Sought.

The order, which would require every cab to install meters by June 1, precipitated a lively debate at the last session of the committee. Mrs. Norton was directed to ask additional light on the subject, and Gen. Patrick's statement yesterday followed.

Representative Thomas L. Blanton (Democrat), Texas, who will move to strike appropriations for Gen. Patrick's salary if the order goes through, is taking no steps pending committee action on the Patrick letter. He expects to make a speech from the floor on the issue shortly.

Gen. Patrick, in reply to five questions put by the House District committee last week, admitted the order will probably drive about 700 operators out of business, but the majority of these, he said, hire their cars out only part time. These operators, he predicts, will not go to the expense of buying meters.

Gen. Patrick's letter to the House District committee reviews many of the contentions set forth in its findings issued at the time the order was promulgated. An attack is made on the rental system of operation on the basis of low pay and long hours which the commission contends results to the cab drivers.

Sworn statements obtained from drivers since February 1 in connection with the procurement of license tags reveal that of the 359 making statements 60 per cent on the day prior to the filing of an application worked 10 hours or longer, 17 per cent 13 hours or longer, 10 of them 16 hours, 4 of them 18 hours, and 1 of them 20 hours.

Long hours of operation, the letter states, are responsible for traffic accidents, and last year there were 1,750 accidents in which taxicabs were involved.

The "average fare" will be "somewhat higher than at present" after the meters are installed, Gen. Patrick admits, "but it must be understood distinctly that these rates are designed to permit the drivers to earn a living wage, which the great majority of them can not do at the present zone rates."

Insurance Bill Objects.

Used meters may be bought from $65 to $85, and new meters for from $110 to $150, the letter states, and purchases can be made on the installment plan "at an average expense of from 30 to 50 cents a day, depending on the kind purchased."

Copies of the decision of Justice Jesse C. Adkins upholding the order and of the findings of fact issued last fall by the commission accompany the letter.

The objects of the general financial responsibility bill, drafted by Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, are to require the revocation of a driver's permit and the registration of all of the motor vehicles owned by any one convicted of driving while drunk or leaving the scene of an acident in which personal injury occurs. The permit and registration card would not be restored until such a person had taken out an insurance policy or deposited $11,000 bond.

The Commissioners also submitted a favorable report on a bill to tighten the restrictions for practicing law in the District, with certain amendments suggested by Mr. Bride.

HOT WATER THROWN ON MAN IN DISPUTE

Workman Treated at Hospital After Ejection From Home; Blames Superior.

Painfully scalded and bruised about the head and chest when a pan of boiling water was thrown in his face during an altercation with another man in a house at 741 North Capitol street, Patrick Collins, 37 years old, of 1200 Massachusetts avenue northwest, was treated at Emergency Hospital last night and later released when physicians pronounced his injuries not serious.

Collins was questioned by police when he went to the apartment of a friend and summoned medical aid. According to information received by police of the First Precinct, Collins went to the North Capitol street address to talk with a companion with whom he worked for the National Construction Co.

The pair became engaged in an argument, it was learned, and after throwing a pan of scalding water in his face, the second man struck Collins several times with a mop handle. Collins then went to the home of Miss Mabel Swenson, 933 L street northwest, and called an ambulance.

Miss Swenson declared Collins told her the man who assaulted him was his superior in the firm for which they both worked. He went to the man's home on a friendly visit, Collins told Miss Swenson, and, after chatting for some time, they both walked into the kitchen.

Without any warning, Collins is quoted as saying, the man took a pan of boiling water from the stove and hurled it at him. He was then ejected from the building after being struck several times with a mop handle.

Collins told First Precinct police that he would obtain a warrant for his assailant's arrest.

Colored Churches Conference Starts

Delegates to Methodists' Sessions Welcomed to Washington.

The Washington Annual Conference, including all colored Methodist Episcopal churches of the District of Columbia, Virginia, Maryland and West Virginia, will formally open at the Asbury Church, Eleventh and K streets northwest, this morning at 9 o'clock, following a welcome to the city last night by Commissioner Luther H. Reichelderfer, and the Rev. W. H. Thomas, on behalf of African Methodist Episcopal congregations.

Others who made addresses of welcome last night included Dr. R. W. Brooks, on behalf of the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance; Dr. E. C. Smith, for the Baptist ministry; Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, for the Federation of Women's Clubs; Frank D. McKinney, for fraternal organizations; Garnet C. Wilkinson, for educational institutions, and Addison W. Chapman, on behalf of the local church. Thomas S. Tilden responded.

At the anniversary of the board of the Epworth League the address of welcome was made by J. W. H. Smallwood, president of the local chapter, to which B. H. Hull responded. Anniversary addresses were made by Dr. A. P. Shaw and Dr. N. E. Davis. District reports were made by T. N. Austin, Alexandria, Va.; J. H. Peters, Charleston, W. Va.; Bessie Phillips, North Baltimore; E. A. Love, South Baltimore; Mrs. Cora Doy and A. J. Mitchell.

NIGHT THEATRICALS IN SCHOOLS LEGAL

Bride So Informs Board; Teacher Reproved for Slapping Pupil.

The Board of Education is perfectly within the law in permitting children to take part in school theatrical activities at night, the board was informed yesterday by Corporation Counsel Bride.

At its last meeting, in discussing the stage labor law amendment to permit children to appear on the professional stage in Washington at night, members of the board raised the question of whether the board was violating the law in allowing children to take part at night in school dramatic activities. The corporation counsel pointed out that this could not be classed as a gainful occupation.

The board voiced formal disapproval of the action of a teacher at a junior high school in slapping a boy. Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, chairman of the personnel committee of the board, who made the report on the case, said the child had been found to have been "a disturbing element throughout his career in school," and had been repeatedly brought to the principal's office for discipline.

"This," the board decided, "does not relieve the teacher of obeying the laws of the board. Disapproval of the teacher's action will become a part of the record of the board."

The annual conference between the board and citizens on suggestion for the next budget estimates was set for Wednesday, April 13. The finance committee will meet to fix the policies of the budget tomorrow.

Held in $10,000 in Stabbing Case.

Nathan Keys, colored, was ordered held under a $10,000 bond yesterday when he was arraigned in Police Court on a charge of stabbing Harry Wood, colored, under the heart. Ward is not expected to live. Another man, Arthur Harvey, was also stabbed, it is charged, by Keys, but his condition is not serious. The case was ordered sent to the grand jury for a hearing.

NYE ATTACKS MAPES BILLS AS THREAT TO FUTURE OF CAPITAL

Senator Speaks at Banquet in Sherwood Hall to Two Groups.

BOWERMAN MAKES PLEA FOR FULL-TIME LIBRARY

"Mr. Citizen Takes a Hand" Staged and Other Talks Are Given.

"The so-called Mapes bills constitute one of the most dangerous threats that have ever been made against the future of Washington," Senator Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, a member of the Senate appropriations committee, told a joint banquet meeting of the Rhode Island Avenue Citizens Association and the Woodridge Garden Club last night at Sherwood Hall, Rhode Island avenue and Twenty-second street northeast.

Reiterating the opinion expressed in the Senate Monday by Senator Arthur R. Robinson, of Indiana, that the move to reduce Government expenditures is the result of propaganda by those who have amassed most of the wealth in the country, Senator Nye warned against the possibility that the reduction may strike at the heart of the Nation—the schools.

Community Spirit.

Senator Nye dwelt at length on the importance of community spirit, pointing out that nothing has ever been accomplished without the leadership of those with courage to carry out their objectives in the face of discouragement and ridicule.

Dr. George F. Bowerman, librarian of the District Public Library, said the success of the recently established part time sublibrary in the community warrants the establishment of a full time library in municipal building. In view of the needs of part time libraries in other sections of the city, he said, he does not see any immediate hope for such extension.

Others Make Talks.

Brief talks were made by W. H. Gannaway, president of the Woodridge Garden Club; Henry Gilligan, and Lieut. R. E. York, newly appointed assistant engineer commissioner. Gladys Cowsill, Gertrude Cowsill and Murel Cowsill entertained with orchestral selections. Quartet singing was given by Jeanette Bitner, Reber Will, Roswell Bryant, Eugene Kressin, and Kathrine Latimer. Mr. Kressin gave two vocal solos.

A violin solo was given by Marguerite T. Harbers, with Mrs. C. E. Channing, accompanying. A playlet entitled, "Mr. Citizen Takes a Hand," was presented by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Englebrecht, Harry Foss and Charles R. Allen. Mr. Allen, who is first vice president of the Rhode Island Avenue Association, presided in the absence of E. G. Sievers, who was prevented by illness from presiding.

North Cleveland Park Favors Amateur Boxing

The Hartley bill to allow amateur boxing bouts in the District of Columbia was unanimously approved last night in a resolution adopted by the North Cleveland Park Citizens Association. Another resolution opposed employment of children under 18 in any theatrical performance in the District where admission is charged.

Speakers were Charles I. Stengle, of the District of Columbia Bicentennial Commission, and Capt. E. N Chisholm, of the coordinating committee of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Young Bandits Get $25 by Holdup.

Two youthful bandits last night held up Benjamin Deckelbaum and escaped with $25 taken from the cash register of his grocery store at 401 Fourteenth street northeast.

They came in the store about 9:30 o'clock and asked for cigarettes. When Mr. Deckelbaum turned to get them, one produced a pistol while the other rifled the register. The pair fled south on Fourteenth street.

ADDITIONAL REVENUE HELD DISTRICT NEED IN SPITE OF U.S. AID

Bureau of Efficiency Expert Tells Senate Group Tax Must Produce More.

URGES MAPES PROGRAM WITH CERTAIN CHANGES

Auto and Gasoline Levies Taken Up; Payments Here Called Average.

Even with a $9,500,000 Federal lump sum appropriation, additional District revenues will have to be levied, Thomas F. Murphy, assistant chief of the Bureau of Efficiency, yesterday told the Senate District committee.

The needed funds will have to come either from an increased general property tax, or levies similar to those provided in the Mapes program, he said. The Mapes bills, with modifications, "will result in fairer apportionment of taxes," he testified.

The assistant bureau chief said he based his statement on the need for added revenues, partly on the exhausted District surplus, and the current $1,200,000 depletion of the District's operating capital.

Only four witnesses, Mr. Murphy, Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer and two attorneys for the local street railway companies, testified at yesterday's hearings on the auto weight tax. Chairman Arthur Capper ordered hearings continued at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Per Capita Tax Average.

Mr. Murphy asked the committee to take into consideration Washington's lack of taxpaying industries in mapping out its tax program. Citing studies made four years ago by the bureau, he said Washington's average per capita tax of $57 was about average for fourteen comparable cities studied by the bureau.

State taxes brought the average for other cities up to $70, he said, but when Federal property located in Washingtoan was assessed as taxable, Washington's per capita tax was increased to $73.

The assistant bureau chief mapped the changes recommended by bureau experts in the Mapes auto weight tax. Under his plan only pneumatic tired cars, 6,000 pounds and over, would be taxed, and solid-tired vehicles, 4,000 pounds and over. Owners of cars of lesser weight would pay only a $1 license fee. The plan, he said, would yield only $467,000 in revenue, compared with $2,000,000 in the Mapes bill, but this would be made up for by extension of the personal property tax, abolished under the Mapes program.

He voiced the bureau's view that funds collected for gasoline and automobile weight levies should go into a special highway fund and be used only for highway purposes.

Ask Repeal of Levy.

S. R. Bowen, attorney for the Washington Railway & Electric Co., and G. Thomas Dunlap, counsel for the Capital Traction Co., asked the committee to insert an amendment repealing the current 4 per cent levy on gross receipts, if the auto weight tax is to be imposed on buses.

They admitted the tax is imposed in lieu of property taxes, but insisted revenues from it were larger than under the property tax plan. Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, and W. W. Bride, corporation counsel, took exception to this assertion.

Traffic Director Van Duzer said he "didn't know the necessity for added revenues," but the auto weight tax "seemed as fair a tax as you could put on an automobile." A registration fee "pays for the privilege of driving" and a gasoline tax "is a road toll," he told the committee. As local motorists do much of their driving outside the District, the full benefit in revenues can not be derived from a gasoline tax, he said.

Eight Arrested in Raid at Alleged Gaming Place

Rushing an alleged race-betting establishment at 1424 Maryland avenue northeast yesterday afternoon, members of the special squad from headquarters arrested one man on charges of permitting gaming and held seven men under $100 bond as United States witnesses.

The policemen gained access to the place when a purported customer was being given exit. Vincent Oliveri, 46, of 618 Lamont street northwest, was charged with permitting gaming, and released on $500 bond.

Window Cleaner's Fall Results in Serious Hurts

Raymond Brown, 32 years old, window clainer, was in a serious condition at Emergency Hospital last night as the result of a fall from a third-story window at 1726 P street northwest, where he was washing windows.

The injured man was conveyed to the hospital in the Fire Department ambulance. He was said to have suffered a fractured pelvis, lacerations, severe shock and a possibly fractured back. He lives at 906 I street northwest.

Al Smith Club to Meet.

The Al Smith Club will meet tomorrow night in the Arlington Hotel. At the last meeting of the club it was decided to have all former members and new members of the club organize in suuport of whoever is nominated by the Democratic party.

All-Night Parking in Street Being Studied by Van Duzer

Traffic Director Tells Senate District Committee Practice Can Not Be Stopped at Once; Promises Solution Later in Year.

Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer is making a special study of all night parking conditions, and "might have something to offer" before the end of the year, he told the Senate District committee yesterday.

"You can't throw people off the streets overnight," he retorted to prods by Senator Hamilton F. Kean (Republican), New Jersey, who said "action, not study," was needed. The New Jersey senator charged Mr. Van Duzer with "not making a reasonable effort" to rid the streets of all night parkers.

"You need study to avoid wrong action," Director Van Duzer replied. "This is something that will have to come gradually. It will require a program of from five to ten years."

"You haven't begun the first year yet," said Senator Kean. "People have no right at law to park on the streets."

Thomas F. Murphy, assistant chief of the Bureau of Efficiency, said he favored "impounding" cars that park overtime.

"You wouldn't have to impound many a year before the situation would take care of itself," he said.

Senator Robert D. Carey (Republican), Wyoming, asked if a tax could not be imposed on day and night parking to encourage the building of garages, and Mr. Murphy replied he was not in favor of "renting" the streets.

Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, advised Traffic Director Van Duzer that "complaints" of speeding and "beating the lights" at intersections had been received by the committee from Senator Park Trammel (Democrat), Florida.

Mr. Van Duzer replied his office is trying to cope with this situation by abolishing the amber light between the red and green signals. He said 140 changes in line with this plan will be made before July 1 and are expected to discourage "light crashing."

NEW RESTRICTIONS ON PARKING ADOPTED

Number of Streets Affected by Commissioners' Action.

Further parking restrictions were adopted yesterday by the District Commissioners upon recommendation of Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer. Following are the streets on which parking regulations were made more stringent:

Bryant street, from First to Fourth streets, no parking on north side at any time because street is used largely by the District repair shop and water department.

Florida avenue, from Sixth to Ninth streets, parking on both sides limited to one hour except for 150 feet east and west of Seventh street, where parking is prohibited.

S street, betwen Connecticut avenue and Twentieth street, one-hour parking from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Massachusetts avenue, from North Capitol street to Union Station Plaza, no parking at any time to permit two lanes of traffic to move in each direction.

C and D streets and Maryland avenue, parking prohibited on north side at rush periods in morning and afternoon. These streets now form connecting link between Maryland avenue and Fourteenth street and carry heavy traffic.

Pleasant street, Thirtieth street to Nichols avenue, no parking on south side at any time.

Caroline street, Fifteenth to Sixteenth streets, for eastbound traffic only.

Pierce street, North Capitol street to New Jersey avenue, changed from one-way eastbound to westbound, to facilitate the use of Sibley Hospital ambulances.

Owens place, West Virginia avenue to Trinidad avenue, for eastbound traffic only.

An amendment restoring a regulation to make vehicles emerging from alleys, garages, driveways or places of business or storage stop before crossing a sidewalk was adopted.

Radio Play Stars Wed in New York

Miss Finette Walker Becomes Bride of Ted Bergman, Actor on Air.

Miss Finette Walker, 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron R. Walker, of 2424 Tunlaw road northwest, was married yesterday in New York City Hall, to Ted Bergman, radio actor, following a romance which began when the two met in the studios of the Columbia Broadcasting System there.

Miss Walker, once a student at George Washington University, began her artistic career on the stage, appearing in "My Maryland" and "New Yorker." At the Columbia studios, Miss Walker has been appearing in television playlets.

Mr. Bergman, who has been with C. B. S. for three years, has appeared before the microphone in more than 800 roles in radio dramas.

Six-Story Plunge Fatal to Lambert

Accidental Death Verdict Is Returned; Military Rites Tomorrow.

A certificate of accidental death was issued by Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald in the death of Olin Lambert, 30, early yesterday, following a six-story plunge Sunday from his apartment window at 7611 Georgia avenue northwest.

Dr. MacDonald said that the widow, Mrs. Isobel Lambert, was of the opinion that Lambert had fallen from the window while walking in his sleep.

A World War veteran, Lambert will be buried in Arlington Cemetery tomorrow with full military honors. Funeral services will be held previous to interment at the Tabler funeral home, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Lambert was office manager for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Film Co. here.

8-YEAR-OLD PUPIL IS KILLED BY TRUCK

Runs Into Path of Vehicle After Leaving Another; Inquest Today.

Eight-year-old Lars Clatterbuck, of 313 H street northeast, was fatally injured when he ran in the path of an oncoming truck after alighting from the rear of another truck bound in an opposite direction on G street northeast.

The accident occurred in front of 711 G street northeast and the child was on his way home for lunch at the noon school recess. Roland Hall, 34, 1790 East Capitol street, driver of the truck, was released after questioning by police, and will appear at an inquest at the District Morgue at 11:30 a. m. today.

The boy was taken to Casualty Hospital by a passing motorist, and was pronounced dead upon arrival. Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald was notified and ordered the inquest.

Earlier in the day a coroner's jury sitting in the death of Barbara Martin, killed when hit by a truck Monday afternoon, decided the child's death was accidental. Testimony of witnesses indicated the accident was unavoidable.

Death From Fall Held Accidental

Youth, 19, Dies in Hospital After Losing Balance on Porch at Home.

A certificate of accidental death was issued by Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald yesterday in the death of Leroy Gans, 19, as the result of injuries sustained in a fall from the porch of his home at 1270 Morse street northeast.

Gans was brought to Casualty Hospital Monday afternoon after he lost his balance and fell six feet to a concrete sidewalk. He died at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at Gans' home at 8:30 a. m. Requiem mass will be said at Holy Name Church at 9 a. m. and interment will follow in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

15,000 Visit Exhibit Of General Motors

Full Line of Company's Products Are Displayed at Auditorium.

More than 15,000 persons had, up to last night, visited the General Motors exhibit at the Washington Auditorium, which opened last Saturday afternoon and will continue until next Saturday night.

Not all of these visitors were sightseers as is proved by the fact that more than 50 orders for General Motors products on display, which include automobiles, trucks, Frigidaire and Delco appliances, have been taken.

Both floors of the building are being used and the display on each is duplicated with the exception of the commercial vehicles, which could not be taken through the doors on the Auditorium floor proper.

Each visitor is asked to fill out a blank with his or her name and address and drop it into a box conveniently placed on each floor. This filled-out blank, the stub of which the visitor retains, may be good for an automobile, a Frigidaire, a vacuum cleaner or a spark plug kit, to be awarded on Saturday night.

C. W. Zimmerman, general manager of the exhibit, announced yesterday that Wayne King and his orchestra will be the musical attraction today and tomorrow, with Herb Gordon for the remainder of the week.

VICE SQUAD DRIVER SUSPENDED AFTER TWO AUTOS COLLIDE

DAMAGE TO MOTORS ESTIMATED AT $300

Report Made After Crash Intimates Policeman Was Intoxicated.

A vice squad policeman was suspended yesterday afternoon after the Prohibition Bureau automobile he was driving crashed with another machine on McMillan Park driveway east, and caught fire.

The policeman, William McEwen, 28 years old, of the Clifton Terrace Apartments, and Charles Owens, colored, 30 years old, of 2131 Eighth street northwest, who was riding with McEwen, were treated at Freedman's Hospital for lacerations of the face.

McEwen is said to have sideswiped an automobile operated by Jerome Jackson, colored, 20 years old, of 438 I street northwest. Both cars burst into flames at the crash, and a local alarm brought out a fire truck.

$300 Damage Reported.

Property damage to the cars was estimated at about $300. The car the policeman was driving is listed to the prohibition unit of the Treasury Department.

Sergt. George M. Little, of the Headquarters Vice Squad, was sent to the scene of the accident after a telephone call from witnesses. He made a report to Inspector James F. Beckett, who ordered the policeman suspended, pending further investigation.

Formerly in Third Precinct.

Sergt. Little is understood to have reported that McEwen appeared to be under the influence of liquor. McEwen was formerly attached to the Third Precinct as precinct detective. He was detailed to duty with the vice squad only about a month ago. He recently figured in the shooting of a colored man who was allegedly escaping arrest on a burglary charge. The man died in Emergency Hospital a few days afterward.

30 Times Wounded in War, Cabman Yields to Gunmen

Eric Plainer, taxicab driver, told police yesterday that 30 Allied machine gun bullet wounds in his body made it imprudent for him to risk any more lead in his body and he therefore readily yielded to holdupmen the sum of $4.50, early yesterday.

The hacker said three men hired him in the downtown section to drive to North Capitol street and Michigan avenue. There one of the trio produced a gun and demanded his cash. They fled on foot, said the cabman, after throwing his ignition key in some bushes. This, he said, he found and went to the police station.

Plainer said he served with the German army during the World War, sustaining the 30 wounds. After the war he served for a while as a policeman in Berlin, he said. He lives at 2510 Twenty-second street northwest.

Toothbrush Missing, Girls Abandon Plan to Run Away

A forgotten toothbrush cut short the runaway adventure of two Central High School girls, they explained yesterday when they returned to their homes shortly after noon. Fay Epstein, 15 years old, of 1132 Seventh street northwest, and Adele Holober, 16, of 1116 Seventh street, started out Monday morning.

One of them told a maid she was running away, and the other left a note to her mother explaining that she was going to "seek her fortune."

Adele walked in on her family shortly before noon yesterday. She explained about the toothbrush she had forgotten and said she and Fay had decided to stay home for awhile.

She said they had spent the night at a hotel and intended starting for Florida yesterday, but discovered the missing toothbrush.
